Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Dec. 30. [To the Editor of The Times:] Well, the old year is leaving us flat, plenty flat. But in reality it's been our most beneficial year. It's took some of the conceit out of us. We had enjoyed special blessing over other nations and we couldn't see why they should not be permanent. We was a mighty cocky nation. We originated mass production and mass produced everybody out of a job with our boasted labor-saving machinery. It saved labor, the very thing we are now appropriating money to get a job for. They forgot that machinery don't eat, rent houses or buy clothes. We had begun to believe that height of civilization was a good road, bathtub, radio and automobile. I don't think Hoover, the Republicans or even Russia is responsible for this. I think the Lord just looked us over and decided to set us back where we belonged.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

SNAIL TRAIL GIVES CLEW TO OLD RACE

Southern Europe Groups Traced to Africa Through Shells of "Their Meat"

IOWA CITY (Iowa) Dec. 30. (AP) By the shells of snails, their principal diet, Prof. George P. Collie of Beloit College, declares he has traced the Southern European races back to the Africa of prehistoric times.

Collie told the convention of the American Archeological Association he has discovered evidence that ancestors of the present inhabitants of the Mediterranean's northern shores were driven out of Africa by the advancing sands of the Sahara Desert.

He found huge heaps of snail shells, he said, along old river beds in Northern Algeria. Snails are believed to have been the people's main diet. Among the shells were found fragments of skeletons closely resembling those of the Cro-Magnon man in Europe, Collie said.

CASH BONUS MOVE HIT

Administration Takes Hand

Gen. Hines Cites Large Sum Available for Loans During 1931

American Legion Forced to Begin New Survey of Veterans' Views

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (Exclusive)—The administration moved today to check the growing movement in Congress for the payment of an immediate cash bonus to World War veterans at a cost of approximately $3,000,000,000 to the Federal treasury.

Gen. Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, issued a statement announcing that $435,000,000 will be available for loans to ex-service men on their adjusted service certificates during 1931. He added that the Veterans' Bureau is prepared to make loans to more than 300,000 veterans during the month of January if they make application.

STATEMENT'S PURPOSE

Gen. Hines explained that he made the statement because "there appears to have developed considerable misunderstanding as to the existing situation." His purpose apparently was to demonstrate to Senators and Congressmen who are agitating for a cash bonus that there is plenty of money available to needy veterans under the law as it stands now.

At the same time there is an accumulation of evidence that it may be difficult to head off the drive for the cash bonus after Congress reassembles on January 5, next. During the past week or two reports have been coming into Washington from all parts of the country indicating widespread activity in behalf of the proposal among groups of ex-service men.

LEGION STIRRED

The official attitude of the American Legion is obscured in uncertainty. At its Boston convention the Legion maintained hostility toward the cash settlement. It develops now, however, that national officers of the Legion have been forced by pressure inside and outside the organization to inquire anew as to the sentiment of members on the subject. Ralph T. O'Neil, National Commander, has just sent a request to each State's representative on the national executive committee requesting information as to the present attitude of each State department.

Representative Hamilton Fish, New York, Republican, himself an ex-service man, today wrote National Commander O'Neil urging that he call a meeting of the national executive committee of the Legion together with the State commanders at Washington before January 15, next, in an effort to agree upon a program concerning the various measures now pending in Congress for a cash bonus.

STAND DEMANDED

"You will realize," wrote Representative Fish, "that time is the essence, owing to the fact that Congress will adjourn on March 4, 1931.

"It seems to me that the leadership of the Legion cannot afford to continue to assume a passive attitude or remain silent any longer on this important national question in which the members of the American Legion have a vital interest. With the nation in the midst of depression and unemployment there is a great tide of public sentiment rolling across the country in favor of granting veterans at least a partial cash payment on their adjusted certificates. While the national organization of the American Legion has had no part in this rising public sentiment the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veterans, and many of your own posts, including the department of the District of Columbia, which has already indorsed the bill introduced by me, have faced the issue squarely and are now carrying on the fight for this very necessary relief for the veterans."

Soviet Guards Slay Deportees

VILNA (Poland) Dec. 30. (AP)—Reports brought here today by Russian peasants who had crossed the soviet border, said they and a number of others confined to a concentration camp awaiting deportation to Siberia had been fired upon by soviet soldiers when they attempted to escape.

Forty prisoners were killed or wounded, they said. About sixty were in the group which came here. They had been sentenced to Siberia, they said, for resisting collectivization measures.

PATENT SUIT AGAINST FORD ASKS $1,000,000

ST. PAUL, Dec. 30. (AP)—A patent infringement suit involving a request for damages estimated as $1,000,000 against the Ford Motor Company was on file in United States District Court here today. Eli F. Colby of Lake Mill, Iowa, brought the suit, charging he invented a fan pulley used on all Ford cars from 1930 until the old Model T was abolished about two years ago.

SAN DIEGO AWAITS EINSTEIN

Hundreds of Flower-Laden Schoolgirls and Boys' Choir to Greet Scientist on Arrival Today

BY KENNETH O'HARA
"Times" Staff Representative

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 30. (Exclusive)—With lavish hand and hospitable heart this city has set the stage for a memorable reception tomorrow to Dr. Albert Einstein, world-famous scientist, on his arrival here aboard the Belgenland.

The Chamber of Commerce and the Advertising Club have joined forces in mapping out a program befitting the distinguished visitor's importance. No quiet, handshaking greeting in a hushed drawing-room will it be, but a lusty acclaim from a united community.

The Belgenland is due here at 8 a.m. and during the hour that she is being made fast to the pier 500 high-school girls uniformly attired in middle blouses will go aboard and distribute thousands of California poinsettias among the passengers—to give the immortal discoverer of the theory of relativity an inkling of what a California welcome is like. While this is going on a choir of seventy-five high-school boys will sing Christmas carols and the United States Naval Band will play the national anthems of five countries represented by the passengers on the around-the-world steamship.

WELCOME BY FLEMING

This mass formation aboard the vessel, however, will have been preceded by a more intimate greeting, as far as Dr. Einstein is concerned, for among those going down the bay on a pilot boat to escort the great liner in will be Arthur H. Fleming, representing the executive council of the California Institute of Technology of Pasadena, at whose invitation the scientist is making this, his second visit to America, and his first to California. Mr. Fleming will welcome the incoming savant.

Having debarked from the steamer, Dr. Einstein and his party will be escorted on an automobile tour of the city.

The tour, however, will conclude at Balboa Park at 11 a.m. in time for the official public greeting that has been planned. The scientist will hear himself welcomed by the mayors of fifteen California cities and Charles Cooke, official greeter of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Two thousand school children in drill formations on the lawn will participate in this welcome.

WILL GIVE RADIO TALK

Dr. Einstein will speak over the radio as part of a luncheon program of the San Diego Ad Club, his words being translated into English by his wife or one of his secretaries. The program is to be broadcast over the network of the National Broadcasting Company.

With San Diego's acclaim resounding in his ears, Dr. Einstein will start for Pasadena by motor.

SCIENTIST WILL TAKE SEQUESTERED HOME

Day's Horseback Riding Forces Prince to Forego Ball and Take It Easy

KING'S LYNN (Eng.) Dec. 30. (AP) Stiffness and soreness arising from his strenuous day horseback riding Saturday were supposed today to account for unexplained absence last night of the Prince of Wales from the annual ball of the West Norfolk hunt which he promised to attend.

More than 300 guests awaited arrival of the British heir, but at the last moment learned with disappointment that he was unable to be present, although no reason was assigned. His brother, the Duke of Gloucester, motored from Sandringham to take his place.

The Prince resumed his hunting last week after a long abstention and seems not yet to have overcome the tendency to muscle soreness which the unwonted cross-country riding produces.

He was four hours in the saddle following the hounds and when he dismounted, bespattered with mud, he walked without his usual springy step. He laughed and chatted in a lively manner with his friends, however, and had obviously enjoyed the day's sport.

It was assumed that he felt too stiff last night to enjoy the dance and preferred an easy chair.

State Police Denied Power

BOSTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Massachusetts State police have no authority under the Federal prohibition act to enforce its provisions, Atty.-Gen. Joseph E. Warner ruled today.

Neither have State police, as such, Warner said, the authority to arrest, without a warrant, a violator of the Federal Act, even though the violation is a felony under the so-called Jones Act.

PERFECTED AIR FLIVVER ANNOUNCED

Colorado Inventor Says Machine Without Wings or Propeller Success

PUEBLO (Colo.) Dec. 30. (AP)—Perfection of an "air flivver" that takes off and lands vertically like a helicopter but flies like an airplane was asserted today by Wilbur Nelson of Pueblo after tests.

Nelson said his ship can attain a speed of 100 miles an hour. It has no wings or propellers. Instead it has two sets of "rotating planes" working horizontally to raise the ship.

The aero car will accommodate two passengers. It weighs 400 pounds. Nelson said the craft can be constructed to sell for less than $500. The inventor said the ship uses a small high-speed motor and a gallon of gasoline lasts for fifty miles.

Nelson also contends the craft is fool proof and cannot go into a nose dive or fail spin. He said it operates in the air like an automobile and that if the motor stops in midair a vacuum above the rotating planes permits the plane to drop gently like a parachute.

The ship has been dismantled pending efforts to obtain patent protection. Nelson said he built the craft for a projected transcontinental flight.

Colleges Will Expand Building Plans in 1931

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (Exclusive)—First returns from 250 college presidents in all sections of the country asked by Col. Arthur Woods, chairman of the President's emergency committee for employment, as to building plans for the coming year show that the great increase in building in 1930 over 1929 will be still further expanded during the year ahead.

Reports from sixty-five colleges indicate that these institutions will undertake building programs during 1931 which will total approximately $62,500,000 in cost as compared to total expenditures for buildings of $32,000,000 during 1930 and $34,500,000 during 1929 by these same institutions.

China Bandits Wreck Train, Killing Eighty

SHANGHAI (China) Dec. 30. (AP) Eighty persons were killed and forty injured Saturday in the derailment of a train by bandits on a branch line of the Peiping-Mukden Railway in Southwest Manchuria.

The bandits removed fishplates on the ties. The bursting of a locomotive boiler started a fire which was fed by gasoline in one of the cars and several coaches were destroyed, burning many passengers to death. The bandits pillaged the train and removed twenty passengers whom they are holding for ransom.

EARTH'S ARC RECORDED

Camera Sees for 320 Miles

Airplane Picture Provides First Visual Study of Globe's Shape

CLEVELAND, Dec. 30. (AP)—Man's first visual evidence of the earth's curvature, a photo which "saw" 320 miles, was exhibited to the American Association for the advancement of science tonight.

The picture was taken recently from an airplane in South America, showing level pampas stretching ahead for nearly 300 miles ending in a long range of the Andes and behind them, 320 miles from the plane, the peak of the volcano Aconcagua.

HORIZON LINE BENDS

The distant horizon line of the pampas bent slightly downward at one end like a photo of the curving edge of the moon.

Tracing the just distinguishable curve with his finger, Dr. C. E. K. Mees, director of research of the Eastman Kodak Company, said there is a science in photography not yet realized even by most scientists.

The earth's curvature photo was made possible by development of photographic plates sensible to rays of light invisible to the eye. The picture was taken by Capt. A. W. Stevens, U.S.A., who pointed his camera in the direction of the mountains, although he could not see them.

One snap of the camera shutter of one-fiftieth of a second recorded a panorama of an area exceeding some States in size. Astronomical photography has developed a still newer type of photographic plates than the one used by Capt. Stevens. It requires so little light it has been placed in use already ahead of the astronomers, by photographers of night sporting events.

NIGHT PICTURES TAKEN

The first successful test was at a recent boxing match in New York as in the case of astronomy contributed to the fight games. The plates are about three times as sensitive to artificial light as former films.

Their use in astronomy is to photograph extremely dim objects, and some of the plates have been sent to Mt. Wilson Observatory.

Experiments showing human eyes are still ahead of photo-electric eyes for detecting light through a telescope were reported by Dr. Joel Stebbins of the University of Wisconsin. Because its disc is smaller, the human eye gets more good out of the magnification of a lens, and in a telescope sees objects five to six times fainter than the bigger photo-electric eye can detect.

GRAPE SECRET TOLD

A good way to get the most profitable malaga grape crop in California is to thin the leaves to a maximum of 32 for each cluster of fruit. This thinning produces better size and quality, said Dr. A. J. Winkler of the University of California. Still further thinning gives even larger grapes but reduces their number too much for usual commercial purposes.

Use of radium to give fleeting green and violet glows to certain heated minerals was described by Frances G. Wick of Vassar College. Prof. Wick said some natural crystals may have been colored in some such fashion in the earth by radium emanations under heat and pressure.

Joffre's Heart Yielding

Death Only Hours Away for Stricken Frenchman as Family Watches

Vatican Sends Message and Dawes Visits Marshal at Hospital

PARIS, Dec. 31. (Wednesday) (AP) The heart of Marshal Joffre, which has resisted so amazingly during his ten days' critical illness, showed signs of yielding early today and death seemed not far away.

Dr. Fontaine, one of the attending physicians, at 3:45 a.m. said the marshal was gradually growing weaker and that the heart was beginning to give way.

Indications of a critical turn came earlier when Gen. Issally, chief of staff to the marshal, was summoned to the hospital by telephone.

OTHERS AT BEDSIDE

Other members of the staff, all the attending officials and members of the marshal's family were at the bedside.

All day Tuesday the doctors waited momentarily for the end while the old soldier drew upon his tremendous reserve of strength and courage to outwit his last enemy. Monday night he took the first nourishment in many hours and when the surgeons dressed his leg, which was amputated above the knee Saturday, they saw the wound was healing—an extraordinary thing in so elderly a man who had gone through so long a fight with illness.

WIFE LEAVES BEDSIDE

Mme. Joffre left her husband's side yesterday morning for the first time in many days, taking a short automobile ride. Throughout the day many distinguished persons went to offer their sympathy, among them the Papal Nuncio Maglione, who took a telegram from the Holy See transmitting the Pope's special benediction.

The text of the message from the Vatican, as given out officially last night, read:

"Please transmit to Marshal Joffre the special benediction of the Holy Father who is invoking for him all celestial favors.

(Signed) "CARDINAL PARCELLI."

Ambassador Dawes, who visited Marshal Joffre yesterday and was admitted to the bedside, found his old war-time friend "fighting courageously," he said. He expressed warm admiration for the old warrior's fight against death.

Mr. Dawes came from his post in London with his family to attend the formal taking over yesterday of the American site at the French Colonial Exposition. Bascom Slemp, American commissioner to the exposition, arrived here some time ago for that purpose.

Students' Plea That 'Boys Will Be Boys' Fails

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)—A plea that boys will be boys failed today to free forty-seven City College sophomores arrested for "crashing" the Rivoli Theater and raiding a subway station as the climax of a class dinner.

"Perhaps youth must have its fling," said Magistrate Burke, after the youths pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct, "but there should be a limit to that fling." Then, before remanding them to jail for sentence tomorrow, he answered their expressions of regret:

"Yes, you are always sorry; you always apologize, but it doesn't mean anything. The collegiate student of today is too smart."

PAUL REVERE UNHORSED

Speedy? Why He Never Did Reach Concord That Night Says Harvard Professor

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Dec. 30. (Exclusive)—Paul Revere was not an important personage—the accident of a rhyme put him on history's pages. So declared Prof. Arthur Meier Schlesinger of Harvard today, commenting on a statement by the Washington Bicentennial Commission that the poet, Longfellow, was inaccurate in writing of Paul Revere, that:

"It was two by the village clock◆tory. Longfellow's poem put him on history's pages, probably because his name rhymed with 'hear.'

"If the poet's first line had ended with 'pause,' for instance, he might have written about Dawes, who was also a messenger boy like Paul Revere.

"When he came to the bridge in Concord town."

Agreeing with the commission, Prof. Schlesinger added that, even though inaccurate, it was the poem alone that sent the midnight cry of Paul Revere and the hoof beats of his "fearless steed" ringing down the ages.

"DIDN'T REACH CONCORD"

"It is undoubtedly true that Paul Revere never reached Concord but was captured by the British," said Prof. Schlesinger.

"Prescott, who had joined him, escaped and carried the message on to Concord. Thus Paul Revere accomplished his purpose that night in arousing Hancock and Adams and getting them out of the way before the British arrived.

"But at any rate Paul Revere was not an important personage in his-

MODERN WISE ONES WISER

"I don't think any modern textbooks even use Paul Revere's name. The old school books, written by people who didn't know much about history, didn't stick closely to historical facts.

"Of course, Longfellow was writing a poem and he didn't have to be historically accurate."

The Washington Bicentennial Commission's statement was made at Washington where historical data are being gathered in connection with the observance of the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington.

BRIGHT THINGS EXPECTED FOR WORLD DURING 1931

American Public Figures Hopes Range From Farmer Aid to Added Speed in Flying

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS]

American leaders and public figures vision bright things for the new year. They were asked: "What is your greatest hope for 1931?" They replied:

FRANK B. KELLOGG, World Court judge—My interests lie in the sphere of peace and prosperity in all the world. I think the greatest hope for the new year is the revival of business from the depression which exists all over the world. In Europe I found much unrest and agitation, such as exists elsewhere. I think this is due largely to the hard times.

MARY PICKFORD, motion-picture actress—It is my hope that film entertainment in 1931 will be of a type to help banish the world's unrest. A sense of humor is nature's balance. I hope motion pictures will be one of the mediums through which joyous laughter will be restored to the world.

FARM HELP DESIRED

SAM H. THOMPSON, president, American Farm Bureau Federation—That the income to agriculture should be substantially increased in 1931.

LORADO TAFT, sculptor—That more of us open our eyes to the beauty around us—the beauty of nature; that more young Americans become interested in art; that every talented school child be given opportunity to develop his special gift.

W. T. MANNING, Episcopal bishop of New York—It is my hope and belief we are about to see a great reawakening of that personal faith in Almighty God and reverence for his law upon which the sanctity of our homes, the quality of our citizenship, the future of our nation and the existence of all civilized life depend.

BRAINS' USE URGED

WALTER DILL SCOTT, president of Northwestern University—Economic depression is to be overcome by brains, not brawn. My hope for 1931 is that university-trained men may justify their training by their contributions to the restoration of prosperity. This prosperity is psychological, ethical, political and social quite as much as economic.

RUTH NICHOLS, transcontinental flyer—To see the general public made fundamentally confident in the safety and practicability of flight by removing the last danger—fog flying.

HENRY H. CURRAN of the Association Against Prohibition—That there will be willingness on the part of Congress to allow the American people to vote on retention or repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

GARNER'S AIM

JOHN N. GARNER, Democratic leader of the House of Representatives—My greatest hope is to see establishment of prosperity upon a normal basis; elimination of suffering and distress so far as is humanly possible and enactment of legislation that will tend to prevent recurrence of such conditions as people of this country are now experiencing.

GEORGE JEAN NATHAN, drama critic—My optimism with regard to the theater is based on three grounds: Increasing intelligence of audiences as indicated by the quality of successful plays; increasing intelligence of a number of producers as indicated by the quality of plays they are willing to gamble on; and increasing intelligence of a number of our newspaper reviewers as indicated by the plays they are more frequently singling out as the object of their esteem.

WRITERS' VIEWS

JOAN LOWELL, author—I hope I never write a masterpiece because a masterpiece sells only after you're dead. My paramount hope is that someone will discover in 1931 a true line of demarkation between fact and fiction so I can do the right thing by critics. If I were telling all the truth now I'd have to add my real hope that some guy falls in love with me in 1931.

HENRY M. ROBINSON, Los Angeles banker, member Dawes reparation and Hoover unemployment commissions—I hope that within the United States the fashion in thinking will change from the fear complex to that of courage, and that throughout the world quarrels and fighting will be lessened.

NEWTON D. BAKER, former Secretary of War—That we Americans may be able to find some way to adjust ourselves to the industrial civilization of which we are a part, which would prevent the tragedy of recurring depressions.

MORE SPEED WANTED

CAPT. FRANK HAWKS, speed flyer—I'd like to see all air transport and mail schedules speeded up to at least 150 miles an hour cruising speed.

GENE TUNNEY, retired heavyweight boxing champion—That solutions will be found for the economic and political problems confronting the world from the shores of the Adriatic through the Balkans to Germany, France and England; and that the Supreme Court will act wisely on the decision of Federal Judge Clark in New Jersey. Immediate removal of the Eighteenth Amendment, I believe, would bring about an immediate revival of trade.

JANE ADDAMS of Hull House, Chicago—Two projects I hope will materialize in 1931: In the realm of international affairs I hope the year will bring a more successful disarmament conference than has yet been held; and I hope the present depression will result in a satisfactory system of unemployment insurance.

MENCKEN SPEAKS

H. L. MENCKEN, editor and critic—That it will see a definite break in the politico-ecclesiastical tyranny that has oppressed and disgraced the United States since the war, and that the American people will demand once more the strict observance of the Bill of Rights.

BEN B. LINDSEY, former Denver Juvelle Court judge — I hope for the success of the campaign to abolish the divorce courts and substitute for them a commission of experts, two from the medical and one from the legal profession, to hear all domestic discords and, after an effort of reconciliation has failed, to grant an honest divorce by mutual consent.

GEORGE PALMER PUTNAM, publisher—That the public will buy and read more books and that the publishers will produce fewer and better books.

ANGEL PREDICTED

DR. S. PARKES CADMAN, preacher—My hope for the world is not founded upon unaided humanity. Man occupies a friendly universe, hence the stream of tendency runs toward intellectual enlightenment. So far as man is concerned the unseen forces of the cosmos dismiss the ape and predict the angel.

HUEY P. LONG, Senator-elect from Louisiana—That a way may be found to separate Wall street from Main street. Then, I believe, we will have a ready solution for economic depression.

DR. JULIUS KLEIN, assistant Secretary of Commerce—That American business men will continue their efforts to eliminate waste in marketing at home and extend our markets abroad.

WILLIAM GREEN, president of the American Federation of Labor—That which I most ardently desire is organization of wage earners into unions competent to keep progress for workers in line with social progress.

OTHER IDEAS

AMELIA EARHART, trans-Atlantic flyer—What will aid aviation most in 1931 is further perfection of instruments and aircraft toward increased reliability. Development of ability to fly scheduled service regularly even in bad weather will be a great step forward in air transport.

ALEXANDER LEGGE, chairman of the Federal Farm Board—That prices of farm products will increase. I believe this can be hastened by the farmers themselves if more of them will organize to act collectively in marketing and in adjusting the quantity and quality of their production more nearly to normal potential consumer requirement.

NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER, president of Columbia University—That convincing evidence may be shown by the highest and most responsible officers of our Federal and State governments that they possess the intellectual capacity, the administrative competence, the courage to deal promptly and effectively and constructively with the great national and international problems which confront the United States. Future judgment of the effectiveness of our form of government and the quality of our national character may well be determined by the measure in which this hope is fulfilled.

THE BEST WAY TO SAY "HAPPY NEW YEAR"

SWIMMER GOES 2300 MILES

From Minneapolis He Floats to New Orleans, Being on Way for Five Months

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 30. (AP)—Flag-pole and tree-sitting record holders stood aside today as back numbers should, while a man who said he swam the Mississippi—down, not across—monopolized the spotlight.

Fred Newton, 27 years of age, of Oklahoma, arrived here yesterday clad in axle grease after a journey of 2300 miles from Minneapolis that started last July. The swim was made in short stages with two companions alongside in a boat. They camped along the shore each night.

likan's new San Marino residence, it was reported.

Arthur H. Fleming, president of the California Institute of Technology's board of trustees and Dr. Einstein's official host during his sojourn here, plans to greet this country's distinguished visitor in San Diego and accompany him by automobile to Pasadena. Tentative arrangements call for an informal dinner in Riverside at the Mission Inn.

In the absence of Dr. and Mrs. Robert A. Millikan, who will not arrive here from the East until Sunday or Monday, the Millikan residence at the southern edge of this city in San Marino will be turned over to Dr. Einstein and his party for at least one night. When their baggage arrives on Thursday, the visitors, it is reported, will move into a sequestered residence the location of which remains a secret, due to the "Einstenian" objection to publicity.

BACTERIA RUN TINY BATTERY

Weak Electrical Current Described to Society

Johns Hopkins Scientist Tells of Experiment

Disease Germs Contained in Dust Reported

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Dec. 30. (AP) An electric battery made of living bacteria at Johns Hopkins University was described to the Society of American Bacteriologists today.

The battery was made by Dr. Barnett Cohen of the medical school to illustrate the existence and effects of self-produced electrical currents in the growth of bacteria.

Each cell of the battery is made of a little more than two teaspoonfuls (two cubic centimeters) of bacteria culture material coupled with a sterile control. Through 300 ohms of resistance this cell discharged about one one-hundred-thousandth of an ampere a minute.

MADE BATTERY

With such cells Dr. Cohen made a battery furnishing a current of about two-thousandths of an ampere at thirty-five volts.

To obtain electrical results of such magnitude the bacteria were first treated with certain chemicals. Their normal electrical output is less, but it exists and is connected with the energy production in growth.

"The bacterial culture during the process of energy conversion," said Dr. Cohen, "is in a sense a primary electrical half cell, and as such should conceivably be able to perform work. Its greatest deficiency lies, however, in the fact that its current output is ordinarily very low (a millionth of a ten-millionth of an ampere) and it is very quickly discharged."

CASE IN DOUBT

Experiments to learn whether perfectly dry bacteria can live indefinitely were reported by C. N. Stark and B. L. Herrington of Cornell University. Some scientists hold that life is impossible in complete absence of water.

"The facts probably never can be definitely determined," the Cornellians stated. "Those who believe really dry bacteria will live forever can always maintain that death occurred as a result of the method of drying the bacteria rather than from dryness itself. Similarly it can be held by others that failure of the bacteria to die was due to incomplete drying."

TESTS REPORTED

By special drying methods Stark and Herrington found that two-thirds of the streptococci originally present grew readily again after ninety seven days' dry existence. But only 2 or 3 per cent of certain other kinds of bacteria survived that long.

Widespread presence of disease germs in dust of homes, offices, hotels, hospitals, schools, apartments, shops and dormitories was established in a report by Murray P. Horwood of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The samples came mostly from metropolitan Boston with a few from New York, Philadelphia and Toledo.

DUST DEADLY

He found streptococci, which cause some of the serious types of infection, hemolytic types, which cause serious blood poisoning if they get into the blood, and staphylococci, which cause a different category of ills.

Tubercle bacilli were found, but when inoculated into guinea pigs failed to produce positive evidences of tuberculosis.

Some of the dust was less than three days old, but the remainder ranged from three to six weeks in age.

New York Seeks New Tax Source to Meet Budget

ALBANY (N. Y.) Dec. 30. (AP)—A new tax of 1 cent on every package of cigarettes and 1 cent on every ice cream soda or bottle of soft drinks sold, or a boost of the gasoline tax from 2 to 3 cents a gallon is being seriously considered by the State's financial experts as the means of enabling Gov. Roosevelt to present a balanced budget to the Legislature on January 15.

A new estimate of resources by State Comptroller Tremaine and another check-up of budget requests in the last week have done little to help the Governor out of his financial dilemma.

The budget requests are said to total $315,000,000, while the Comptroller has estimated the State's probable revenues at $290,000,000.

Gov. Young suggested to Frank G. Snook, chief of State Division of Motor Vehicles, that "1-X-1" would be an appropriate plate for a retiring chief executive, so Snook gave it to him.

Science, carries forward previously announced conclusions based on the finding of living organisms in the interior of anthracite coal from deep mines in Wales and Pennsylvania.

Dean Lipman's paper also gives the first detailed description of the laboratory tests which he believes prove that the micro-organisms he has been studying have been in the coal since the time it was formed and could not have penetrated into it in recent times or have come from outside contamination.

Belief of the California scientist that the organisms have been in the coal since it was formed from rotting vegetation of coal-age swamps is founded chiefly on unsuccessful attempts he made to force such organisms into the coal. He found the organisms too large to enter the pores of the coal.

ONION GIVES UP NEW SECRET TO SCIENCE

CLEVELAND, Dec. 30. (AP)—A certain type of radiation from onions has always been easily detected, but scientists now can photograph a new type.

Photographs of the new radiation, made at the physical laboratory of the Cleveland clinic as part of Dr. George Washington Crile's researchies into the fundamentals of living tissue, were shown members of the American Physical Society at the convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science here today.

The radiation is called mitogenetic, which scientists are inclined to believe is ultra-violet light, having the wave length of the ultra-violet used in the curing of rickets and giving sun tans.

Unknown River Perils Workmen

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)—Discovery of an unknown river flowing under Brooklyn today nearly cost the lives of several workmen.

OIL CONSERVING CASE APPEALED

California Woman's Suit in Supreme Court

Appeals Tribunal Upheld Hooper Policy

Review of Ruling Now Asked by Highest Authority

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP)—Those seeking to overthrow the Hoover oil conservation policy ending prospecting for oil and gas on public lands brought their case today to the Supreme Court. Attorneys for Ethel McLennan of California asked the Supreme Court to review the decision of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals upholding the Interior Secretary's action in withdrawing the lands.

They advanced arguments heard in the lower courts that Secretary Wilbur had set aside an act of Congress and the withdrawal was not authorized by statements given by President Hoover to the press announcing the policy.

The statement was made in March, 1929, and the order withdrawing the lands was issued immediately. Mrs. McLennan was the successful applicant for permission to search for oil and gas on a tract not far from Sacramento but this permission was canceled.

The case was first heard in the District of Columbus Supreme Court in April, 1930, Justice Siddons decided the Secretary had exceeded his authority and directed that he reinstate Mrs. McLennan's application. Shortly afterward, the government lost two similar cases by a decision of Justice Jennings Bailey, also of the District Supreme Court.

The three cases were considered together in the Court of Appeals, which ruled on the 1st inst. the withdrawal was legal.

OLYMPIC THREATS RECEIVED

European Socialists Call for Mooney's Freeing or "We Will Bar Athletes"

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30. (AP)—Union labor and Socialist organizations in Europe, in letters to California Socialist leaders, have threatened to stop European athletic groups from participating in the Olympic Games in Los Angeles in 1932 as long as Thomas J. Mooney is kept in prison, William W. Busick, State chairman of the Socialist party, said here today.

Busick, who also is editor of the New Era, Los Angeles union labor paper, issued a formal statement following a visit to Mooney at San Quentin prison. Mooney is serving a life sentence for conviction of bombing a Preparedness Day parade here in 1916. Warren K. Billings, also convicted, is serving a life sentence in Folsom.

The editor said Mooney's visitors are made to wait longer than persons who visit other prisoners; that Mooney's visitors are not allowed to show him any writing or printed matter and no newspapers are allowed to reach him.

CHARGES DENIED BY WARDEN HOLOHAN

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Charges made in San Francisco by William W. Busick that obstacles are thrown in the way of persons who visit Thomas Mooney, an inmate here, were denied today by Warden Holohan. He said Mooney is being treated like any other prisoner under prison rules.

"Any delay in seeing Mooney is Mooney's fault and not the prison's," the warden said. "Mooney must dress to meet visitors. He often desires to bathe and shave. Sometimes he is asleep."

With reference to newspapers the warden said there are many things that can't be delivered to prisoners, but Mooney is not singled out for enforcement of rules.

KIN OF PRESIDENTS LEAD DANCE

Hoover's Son Honors Adams's Relative

Allan Hoover and Fanny Homans

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—The son of the thirtieth President tonight led the great-great-great-grand - daughter of the second through the measures of the first dance at a party given by President and Mrs. Hoover for their son Allan.

The girl is Fanny Homans, niece of Secretary Adams, and the dance took place in the East Room, where, tradition has it, her great-great-great-grandmother hung out the Presidential wash on rainy days.

President John Adams was the first Chief Executive to occupy the White House.

More than 200 guests, mostly the sons and daughters of friends of the President and Mrs. Hoover, were invited. The Chief Executive's military and naval aides, both senior and junior, were present in uniform, as were officials connected with the White House and the executive officers.

Tonight's party was the second given by Mr. and Mrs. Hoover for their son since they have been residents in the White House. A similar function was held last year during the Christmas vacation.

A jazz band from the ballroom of one of Washington's exclusive hotels furnished the music.

Dancing began at 10 o'clock and ended at midnight. Then supper was served in the State dining-room.

Tradition entered the picture again at the end of the supper. Miss Homans was presented the first piece of cake from the first cake plate ever used in the White House. It is part of the set used by John Adams and is now a prized exhibit in the china room of the executive mansion.

DRYS "SOLID AS ROCK" AS 1930 CLOSES

Anti-Saloon League Sees No Chance for Wet Bills Within Next Two Years

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (Exclusive)—Reviewing prohibition developments of 1930 and looking ahead through the new year, the Anti-Saloon League in a statement today declared "the Eighteenth Amendment stands solid as a rock as 1930 ends."

The statement predicted that the next year will bring no material changes in the wet-dry situation "except in improved enforcement and the enactment of such legislation as may be needed to achieve it."

The House in the next Congress will be two-thirds dry, the League declared, and in the Senate the wet ratio will be less than one to four. Therefore no wet legislation will be enacted for at least two years after March 4, next.

The assurance was given that dry organizations will be "more aggressive" during 1931 than at any time since the Eighteenth Amendment was adopted.

TUNNEL PLANS APPROVED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—The War Department today approved application by the Board of Transportation of New York City to construct twin vehicle tunnels at a cost of $50,000,000 in the East River.

GANGSTER GETS HEAVY PENALTY

Guzik, Capone Aide, Given Five Years in Prison

Fine of $17,500 Also Meted Out by Federal Judge

Sentence Sets Record for Income Tax Cases

CHICAGO, Dec. 30. (AP) — The heaviest penalty yet imposed in the government's war on gangsters was meted out to Jack Guzik, Capone business manager. For evading taxes on an asserted income of $1,000,000 during 1927, 1928 and 1929 Guzik was sentenced to five years in Leavenworth penitentiary and fined $17,500.

Guzik was the third of the higher-ups in the Capone liquor and gambling syndicate to be sentenced, but his penalty was greater than either of the others.

OTHERS CONVICTED

Ralph Capone, brother of the leader, "Scarface Al," drew three years and a $10,000 fine for evading payment of $300,000 in a five-year period. Frank Nitti, treasurer of the organization, recently pleaded guilty to the failure to list an income of $842,887.81 for a three-year period, and was sentenced to eighteen months and fined $10,000. Both are out on bond.

Defense attorneys, in asking the court not to pass a sentence that would be "out of tune" with previous cases, pointed out Ralph Capone's asserted income was larger than Guzik's and that Nitti's wealth came from illicit alcohol, while Guzik's was derived from gambling houses.

CASE HERE MENTIONED

Guzik's attorneys said the largest sentence ever passed in the United States on an income tax case was in the California case of a woman who had advised numerous motion-picture stars how to evade payments. Her sentence was five years.

Guzik was found guilty November 19, last, after the jury had deliberated seven hours. The government presented witnesses who told of the earnings of the Capone-Guzik gambling houses and charged that his income during the three years exceeded $1,000,000. He filed returns for only $18,000 in 1927; $24,000 in 1928, and $18,000 in 1929.

The amount which the government claims—$220,000—and the fine must be paid by the end of the prison term unless a pauper's petition is filed.

DECISION ASKED ON PROHIBITION

New Jersey Judge's Opinion Will Be Tested

Government Takes Battle Up to Supreme Court

Ruling at Early Date Held Possible Outcome

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—The Justice Department today filed in the Supreme Court a motion to advance for early hearing the case presented by Judge Clark of New Jersey in ruling the Eighteenth Amendment invalid. The department also filed a brief attacking the decision.

The government's brief requested that Judge Clark's decision be reversed on the grounds that Article V of the Constitution is "entirely free from ambiguity and that there is no room for the construction" upon which Judge Clark ruled the prohibition amendment invalid.

SETTLED BEFORE

The brief argues further "substantially the present argument was presented to this court in the national prohibition cases where this court determined that the Eighteenth Amendment 'by lawful proposal and ratification has become a part of the Constitution.'"

The brief attacked the argument of Judge Clark that the language of the Constitution concerning the ratification of amendments could be modified by "principles of political science."

In its motion to advance the case for hearing at an early date convenient to the court, the government said:

"The decision has received wide publicity and has produced uncertainty regarding the validity of the prohibition laws which unless properly settled by this court is likely to encourage disregard for those laws and will hamper the government in their enforcement."

READY ANY TIME

Solicitor-General Thacher, who submitted the motion, asserted the government is ready "to argue the case at the earliest convenience of the court."

The Supreme Court will convene January 5 and may set a date for hearing the case at its next opinion day, January 11.

The government's brief declares Judge Clark erred both in quashing the indictment against the two defendants and in holding the Eighteenth Amendment invalid because it was not ratified by State conventions rather than State Legislatures.

ERNST & ERNST
ACCOUNTANTS AND AUDITORS
SYSTEM SERVICE
LOS ANGELES

December 26, 1930.

The Board of Directors, Stockholders and Depositors,
United Building and Loan Association,
Los Angeles, California.

Gentlemen:

We have examined the books of account and record pertaining to the assets and liabilities of UNITED BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION - LOS ANGELES, BEVERLY HILLS, SANTA MONICA and GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, as of the close of business December 17, 1930. The Balance Sheet presented herewith and the following comments are abstracted from our audit report issued under date of December 29, 1930.

Loans on real estate, on investment certificates and on member shares, and unpaid balances on real estate sales contracts aggregated $2,168,391.06 at December 17, 1930. We examined all mortgages, trust deeds, title guarantees, insurance policies, collateral and other documents in connection with these loans and all real estate contracts and found same to be in order. We also corresponded directly with a representative portion of the borrowers selected by us at random and noted that replies received were in agreement with Association's records or reconcilable therewith. Liberty bonds and certificates of other associations, reflected in the accompanying Balance Sheet at cost, were inspected by us.

The Association holds title to seven parcels of improved real estate located in Los Angeles County and with the exception of a property obligation of $404.53, these properties are free and clear of mortgages and trust deeds. These properties are carried at cost which, according to 1930 appraisals, appears to represent realizable values. Cash funds were fully accounted for.

Provision has been made in the accompanying Balance Sheet for all ascertained liabilities of the Association as of December 17, 1930. Depositors' accounts totaled $2,027,439.90 including accrued interest. A representative portion of these depositors were also circularized by us and the replies received indicate the correctness of these accounts.

Due to the increase in deposits and branch expansion it has become necessary to increase the capital of the Association. Permission has been recently granted by the Commissioner of Building and Loan Associations for this increase in capital in an amount sufficient to reestablish the required ratio between capital and deposits.

It is our opinion, based on the records examined and information obtained, that the accompanying Balance Sheet sets forth correctly the position of the Association at December 17, 1930.

Yours very truly,

DEENSE HINTED IN BOULDER SUIT

Solicitor-General Expected to Seek Dismissal

Answer to Arizona Action Due January 12

Merits of Complaint in Water Row to Be Challenged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Solicitor-General Thacher is expected to move that the suit of Arizona against Secretary Wilbur and six Colorado Basin States be dismissed when he files his brief before the Supreme Court January 12, answering Arizona's opposition to the $165,000,000 Boulder Canyon project.

The move will challenge the merits of Arizona's complaint and contend the United States, as the indirect target of the suit, cannot be attacked through Secretary Wilbur or the six States that signed the Colorado River compact.

Secretary Wilbur asserted today the rights of each State entering the compact will be fully protected by the government in dividing the 30,500,000 acre feet of water to be stored at the Boulder Dam and that the government's whole policy for the project is based on the six-State Colorado compact.

The Secretary was replying to the declaration of Atty.-Gen. Parker, of Utah and others that the States would not join the government in defending the suit brought by Arizona unless the terms of the compact are observed.

ACTOR ASKS FOR ARREST TO ESCAPE WIFE'S IRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)—Edward Brink showed the boys at the West Forty-seventh-street police station that persistency gets you there, even if your goal is the jug.

Attired in a snappy camel's hair coat he burst upon the startled view of Desk Lieutenant Edward Moran today and proclaimed:

"I want to be arrested."

"What have you done?" Moran demanded.

"Nothing," said Brink, "I want to stay here to get away from her."

And he waved a finger at a fashionably attired young woman he said is his wife.

"He can't stay here, boys," said Lieut. Moran, "he's done nothing. Throw him out."

But Brink wasn't discouraged. He got a strangle hold on the railing about the lieutenant's desk and held on while three policemen tried to pull him away. Then he let go suddenly and transferred his grasp to a patsolman's knees.

So they decided to grant his wish.

He said he is an actor and explained he wanted to get away from his wife's "nagging."

HUMBOLDT PROSECUTOR INDICTED

Eleven Other Officials Also Accused of Plot Against Dry Laws

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 30. (AP)—Indictments charging conspiracy to violate the National Prohibition Act were returned by the Federal Grand Jury here today against Dist.-Atty. Stephen E. Metzler and eleven other Humboldt county men.

Metzler surrendered to Federal authorities, posted $5000 bail and was informed he is to appear in court here for arraignment on or shortly after January 12.

The indictments followed a long investigation by the Federal grand jury of charges of corruption in Humboldt county.

Others named in the indictments are J. J. Lennon, detective for Metzler's office; Roy Wherry, former under-cover agent for Metzler; Guido Evangelisti, Luserne B. Updike, Fred Goderre, E. L. Kelsey and August Wahl, who were arrested on liquor charges; Irving Kline, Charles Carroll, C. Pinoli and Joseph Adorni. They were indicted for conspiring to violate the law "through the manufacture, transportation, possession or selling of alcohol, whisky, wine and beer."

Carr is a present member of the commission and in order to accept the full-term appointment it will be necessary for him to resign his present commission, which expires on December 31, 1932.

Fred G. Stevenot of Sacramento and Lyman M. King of Redlands, directors of Natural Resources and Finance, are being considered for the short-term appointment to succeed Carr.

Single Term for Governor Urged

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 30. "STICKS" PLACE FOR STOCK MART

Newcomb Carlton Favors Moving Wall Street

Would Take Temptation Out of "Little Fellow's" Way

Western Union Head Gloomy in Business Forecast

(Copyright, 1930, by the New York World)

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 30. (Exclusive)—A suggestion that the Stock Exchange be moved to Chicago, or, better still, to Kokomo, Ind., to make it less accessible to the "little fellow" was made here today by Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union Telegraph Company, who is in Mexico City on a short business visit.

Compulsory voting and general adoption of a policy of paying higher wages were also advocated by Carlton as two means of bringing about economic and political betterment in the United States.

NOT AN OPTIMIST

The telegraph company executive forecast that 1931 will be a more disappointing year for business than this year, at the same time expressing the hope that he will be discredited as a prophet.

"I suppose they'll accuse me of being a radical," Carlton said, "but that's the way I see the situation.

"We have the best form of government that has ever been devised but, after all, democracy is still an experiment. So is Russia.

"America was financially drunk for eight or ten years and we can't expect to get over the headache in a week or a month. One of our greatest difficulties is that we have not yet found a way to make speculation safe for democracy.

MAKE IT DIFFICULT

"It's all right to tell the small speculator after a stock market crash that he shouldn't have been in the market, but the real remedy is to make it more difficult for him to get in. That's why I suggest moving the stock market to some place less accessible than Wall street."

After voicing a warning that some remedy for unemployment must be found rapidly to avert further industrial crises, Mr. Carlton said:

"We're letting the $150 a month man take up the slack of unemployment. We're letting him pay for all this overspeculation and overcapitalization. We may be sure of one thing and that is that he won't stand for it much longer. Those of us who haven't yet felt the pinch of poverty had better give him serious thought. Wait until the leader classes become jobless. Liquidation of fly-by-night enterprises is not finished yet. That's why I look for worse conditions in 1931 than in 1930."

PRESIDENT OVERWORKED

Carlton expressed a belief that the President of the United States is overworked and should not be made the goat for the present depression. He followed this up with a statement that he would like to vote for Senator Dwight Morrow for President.

Overland Trains Will Cut Time

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30. (AP)—A reduction in running time of two overland Western Pacific passenger trains and establishment of a new train between San Francisco and Reno was announced here today by B. K. Smith, passenger traffic manager. The changes will become effective January 4.

The reduction in time between San Francisco and Chicago in connection with the Denver and Rio Grande Western and the Burlington route via Denver will be eleven and one-quarter hours, Smith said. Running time between San Francisco and Chicago will be seventy-nine hours and forty-five minutes, compared to the former ninety-one hours.

Actor Invoices Child's Clothes

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)—Mary Hay Barthelmess arrived in New York from Hollywood with the dignity of her eight years and enough clothes to last her for a six months' visit with her mother, Mary Hay, dancer, divorced wife of Richard Barthelmess, film actor.

With her came a letter from Barthelmess itemizing each garment in the child's wardrobe and declaring he expected every article to be returned with the child, whether worn out or not.

NEW VERBAL DARTS SHOT BY LUCAS

Thomas J. Walsh Added to Norris and Nye as Chairman's Targets

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican National Committee, took another fling at two of the Senate's independent Republicans tonight and sent a shaft, as well, in the direction of Senator Walsh of Montana, a Democrat.

"It is not at all surprising that Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, a Democrat, would come to the aid of his fellow-Democrat, Senator George W. Norris, as he did in a statement last night at Miami Beach, Fla., concerning the Nye 'investigation' of the recent Senatorial contest in Nebraska," Lucas said.

"I venture to say Senator Walsh has not read the literature which I personally at my own expense furnished to the anti-Norris Republicans of Nebraska in the last campaign. As I have repeatedly stated this literature made no reference to any religious question nor was it calculated even by inference to arouse prejudice of any kind.

"In thrusting himself into this controversy Senator Walsh, intentionally or unintentionally, has placed himself in the position of coming to the rescue of Senator Nye in the situation in which the North Dakota Senator finds himself as a result of his reckless charge of a Republican 'slush fund' in the last campaign—a charge which he has had to confess publicly was made without even an attempt to get the facts."

R. B. Creager, Republican National Committeeman for Texas, today sent Lucas a telegram supporting him in his opposition to Norris, saying the latter "belongs either in the Democratic party or in some third party with whose policies his views will be in accord."

Cheered by friends and admirers of his fruitless attempt to establish a republic in Spain, the trans-Atlantic aviator and his one-time mechanic, Pablo Rada, arrived here aboard the steamer Thysville from Lisbon, their first haven after the flight three weeks ago from Spain.

BANK ROBBED AT STRATHMORE

Security-First National's Branch Loses $7000

Two Armed, Unmasked Band Hold Up Two Officials

After Forcing Opening of Vault, Escape Made

STRATHMORE, Dec. 30. (Exclusive)—Two bold, unmasked stick-up men, at the point of guns, held up the Strathmore branch of the Security-First National Bank at 2:20 this afternoon, escaping with about $7000 in currency and silver in a tan Chevrolet coupe, believed a 1930 or 1929 model.

The two men entered the bank, approaching the manager, Charles Edge, at the counter as if about to cash a check. The larger, a man about five feet eight inches in height, wearing a dark overcoat and hat, poked a gun in Edge's ribs, while the smaller chap, about five feet six inches in height, wearing a dark gray sweater and cap, covered Assistant Manager Kenneth Kisick with a revolver, and stepped behind the counter and forced him to open the vault. He then gathered up the currency, paying little attention to the silver, and both highwaymen, with their guns still trained on Edge and Kisick, walked backward to the door, climbed into their car and drove away.

Edge and Kisick were alone in the bank at the time. Just as the bandits started their machine, Edge sounded the burglar alarm.

WHY 4%

DEPOSITORS are in a sense investors. It makes a vital difference to them what the institution of their choice does with their funds; for, after all, their principal is of more moment than the interest received.

Funds deposited with us are invested in three ways:

1. In a proper and sufficient cash reserve.
2. In bonds returning us from four to six per cent.
3. In amply secured loans to customers which pay us six, six-and-a-half or seven per cent, dependent upon conditions.

We purchase these low-yield bonds because they are the safest and most desirable and can be sold quickly; and we prefer to lend at these reasonable rates because the most dependable borrowers do not expect to pay more.

The above facts preclude our offering rates of interest on deposits that could only be justified by higher charges for our loans, and by our investing in less desirable securities.

Applications for first mortgage loans on improved Real Estate are invited.

HEADACHE HORDE ASPIRIN'

Forty-two Seek Hospital Job, but Most of Them Have Plain Alcoholic Pain, Not Migraine

CHICAGO, Dec. 30. (Exclusive)—Forty-two persons applied in person today for a job at the Research and Educational Hospital of the University of Illinois, the only requisite for which is a genuine splitting headache of a variety known as migraine. Forty-nine others applied by telephone and one by letter. Each applicant accepted will receive $50 a month and board.

"I've questioned all of them, with the result that I have such a headache myself I can't think," said Mrs. John Milliken, laboratory technician at the hospital, where a subject is wanted to do research regarding the cause and possible cure for migraine.

The first onslaught of applicants consisted of men who were so eager for the job that they answered "yes" to all questions, some of which should be answered "no." The breath of many of them, Mrs. Milliken declared, convinced her that their headaches, while perhaps, legitimate, were not caused by migraine.

Another onslaught consisted altogether of unemployment headaches, said Mrs. Milliken.

Those applicants lucky enough to have what she considered a rattling good case of migraine, submitted to blood tests and X-rays to determine if they had any other diseases, as the subject of the experimentation must have migraine and migraine only.

She then outlined what the job will hold.

They will have evenings and Sundays off, but must eat their meals at the hospital, submit to several blood and skin and other tests weekly and produce a good migraine headache at least once a month.

BRITISH BATTLE SAVAGE REBELS

Many Die in Desperate Fight in Burma Jungle

Between Fifty and Hundred Crazed Tribesmen Slain

Whites Mow Them Down With Machine-Gun Fire

RANGOON (Burma) Dec. 30. (AP) Savage rebels of the rice swamps and jungle met British soldiers in a fierce battle through the Tharawaddy forest today, melting into the woods under a withering machine-gun fire, but fighting on in the crazed bravery of desperation.

Fragmentary reports from the jungle fastnesses where the men of the jungle, clad in picturesque uniforms which look like blue pajamas, had barricaded themselves indicated that the insurgents had lost between fifty and 100 men, with many more wounded. No casualties were reported by the government forces.

The British are said to have surrounded the rebels in a wild, hilly region where there is little food and less water. Presumably the enemy was making its last stand under the mysterious "master mind" who is believed to have directed the raids which have terrorized the countryside for two weeks.

As though to show that their spirit still was unconquered despite their increasingly precarious position, the native forces accomplished a brilliant sortie last night, burning down one village on the edge of the jungle after its inhabitants had fled in panic.

RAIL GROUPING PLAN AGREED ON

Hoover Approves Decision of Carriers' Executives

Stimulation of Business in General Hoped For

in order to maintain broader competition, more adequate service, simplification of rate structure, lower operating costs and in the long run lower rates to the public.

"During the past ten years a possible grouping of the roads so as to carry out the law has been under constant discussion. The Interstate Commerce Commission has no power to compel such consolidations. They can only be effected upon initiation of the carriers.

"During this period a number of negotiations have been undertaken in respect to these railways, with view to carrying out the wishes of Congress, but they have proved abortive.

"A year ago the Interstate Commerce Commission issued a suggested plan for consolidating these roads into five systems. This plan, like others, has met with objections which apparently made it an unsolvable basis.

PROJECTS RETARDED

"These uncertainties and delays over nearly ten years have seriously retarded development of the railways and have prevented a desirable growth in many directions, and have diminished their ability to compete with other forms of transportation. Such questions as electrification, linking up of different railroads, development of terminals and many other major improvements have been retarded because of uncertainty with respect to the position which particular roads are to occupy in the permanent grouping.

"It is my understanding that the plan provides for the protection of the interests of the employees and full consideration of the interests of the various communities and carries out the requirements of the law in protection of public interest generally. The presidents of the major systems have agreed upon the many details of the plan with the exception of a minor point, which is left to arbitration.

"The plan, of course, must be submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission, who have the independent duty to determine if it meets with every requirement of public interest."

COMMISSIONERS SILENT

The fate of the plan when it reaches the Interstate Commerce Commission is something none would guess at today. The commissioners declined to comment.

The plan as unofficially outlined in railroad circles today runs counter in several instances to orders issued by the commission under the Clayton Antitrust Act.

Transfer of the Lehigh Valley by the Pennsylvania to the Nickel Plate, described as one of the proposed changes, is understood in effect to meet the commission's order that the Pennsylvania Company, an investment corporation, divest itself of control of the line. It does not, however, affect the Wabash, which the Pennsylvania also was ordered to release.

Another proposal to allow the Nickel Plate to keep the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad is in direct contravention to orders of the commission. The stock of the Wheeling is owned by the Nickel Plate, which in turn is controlled by M. J. and O. P. Van Sweringen of Cleveland.

HELD BY TRUSTEE

The commission several months ago ordered the Van Sweringens to dispose of the Wheeling stock and pending final disposition it is in the hands of the governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland as trustee.

Not only does the unofficial outline contravene some commission orders, but it wrecks the fifth-system proposal outlined by the commission in its own consolidation plan.

The Lehigh and Wheeling roads are important units in the proposed Wabash-Seaboard system and their inclusion in the Nickel Plate would leave a gap which, in railroad circles, it was stated, probably could not be filled.

Signs of opposition immediately arose on Capitol Hill. Senator Howell, Nebraska, said the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee undoubtedly will consider the plan fully. He expressed the personal view there is "little economy" in the proposal.

Senator Wheeler, Montana, said if it is similar to the proposed merger of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific, he will oppose it.

Senator Cousens, Michigan, author of a resolution barring railroad consolidations until after March 4, next, said if the plan does not appear to be in the public interest he will press for House action on his measure which already has passed the Senate. He called at the White House shortly before the President made his announcement.

THIRTY YEARS OF FAITHFUL SERVICE TO INVESTORS

HYDE STUNG BY CARAWAY

Secretary, Assailed for Mailing Christmas Cards Under Frank, Hits Back at Senator

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Secretary Hyde and Senator Caraway of Arkansas had words today about Christmas cards.

The Senator said he has been informed the Secretary sent his greetings under the free mailing privilege given Cabinet members for official business.

Hyde to pay postage on some personal greeting cards.

The Secretary replied that they were not personal cards, but the official holiday greetings customarily sent by the department to the various officials of organizations and agencies that co-operate with the department.

Caraway opined that: "He was opposed to using government money to succor starving babies in drought-ridden States, but I understand he used it to send out Christmas cards."

Hyde felt that: "Sufficient proof of the fact that they are official and not personal can be adduced from the fact that Senator Caraway received one. The number of these cards sent out this year was about 900. The postage would have been about $18.

"It is hard to see how the payment of $18 to the Postoffice Department by this department would have changed the status of any babies—whether starving or otherwise. The Senator's interest in such babies is, I am inclined to believe, both academic and political."

Caraway said he understands the Postoffice Department required

FORMER BANKER IN ROAD CAMP

Jay O. Walker Sentenced in Riverside Superior Court

Two Years' Term Imposed in Worthless Check Case

Probation Officer Saves Him From Penitentiary

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 30.—Once an influential banker and an outstanding business man, known throughout Nebraska, Jay O. Walker, 38 years of age, was escorted from Superior Court today by deputy sheriffs, penniless and under sentence of two years in the county road camp for passing worthless checks. The defendant smiled wanly when sentenced. He had been saved from a penitentiary term by Probation Officer C. W. Mathews's report.

Probation was granted by Superior Judge G. R. Freeman on condition Walker serve two years in the road camp, pay the county's cost of prosecution, and repay persons to whom he gave the worthless checks. The county, under terms of the judgment, will receive $281, and complaining witnesses will be paid $500.

Walker, according to Probation Officer Mathews, will be able to make restitution. He has pawned his diamond ring and other personal belongings to be able to live up to the terms of his probation.

According to the probation officer's report, Walker comes from a well-known and highly respected Lincoln (Neb.) family. Seven years ago he was an influential character in banking circles of the Middle West State, had a wide acquaintance among business men and was active in political affairs.

Walker married and was divorced. He married again, according to Mathews, this time to a theatrical girl. In 1928 he was arrested on a charge of forgery. It was subsequently proven that the asserted forgery was not a forgery and that the signatures in doubt were true signatures of another person. Walker was freed.

Again he was arrested on a charge of passing worthless checks. A bank in which he had deposited money had failed and could not honor his checks. The indictment was quashed.

"Walker, at this point," according to the report, "seemed to lose his grip on himself." Friends failed him, his business wavered. He came to California. Here he visited old friends and wrote several checks on banks in which, he asserts, he had money. The checks came back unpaid and Walker declared, according to the report, that his second wife had drawn out the money. He mailed each person to whom he gave the checks his personal note for the full amount, but was unable to meet the notes.

Gov. Tejada declared that he would be pleased to have an opportunity to meet California's new executive, and was profuse in his courtesies to the committee of Americans.

San Bernardino Gets Series of Bogus Checks

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 30.—A series of bad checks returning to merchants of the city, indicating that forgers did considerable Christmas shopping, was revealed today by A. M. Nye, secretary-manager of the San Bernardino Business Men's Association.

One forger victimized two business establishments here, passing a worthless check for $74 on one store and following his action by stealing a book of 300 blank checks bearing the name of a San Bernardino poultry market. On that book of blanks alone, Nye said, the forger wrote $378 worth of bad checks in Santa Barbara in a single day, all of which came back to San Bernardino for collection.

"There was more deliberate forgery this year than ever before, I believe," he commented, although he declared that the quantity of bad checks passed in 1930 Christmas buying was not considerably larger than in any previous holiday season.

Man Held for Burglary Trial

HUNTINGTON PARK, Dec. 30.—Robert Cousins of East Fifty-sixth street, Maywood, charged with burglary, was held to answer to Superior Court yesterday at his preliminary hearing before Judge Edward H. Miller, bail being placed at $1000. A few days ago, Cousins was arrested in Maywood when police found him in an intoxicated condition, it is stated. When taken to the City Jail, several articles were assertedly found in his possession which had been stolen from the home of Gordon Geiger, in Huntington Park, according to police reports.

Maywood officers notified the Huntington Park Police Department, and officers went to Maywood police headquarters, taking Cousins into custody. He was brought to the local jail and a burglary charge preferred against him.

Entrance to the Geiger home was made through a window, the articles stolen being valued at $30, according to Geiger, who is said to have identified some of the stolen loot.

Ontario Battery Station Robbed

ONTARIO, Dec. 30.—Fifteen dollars was taken by thieves who broke into the C. W. Illingworth battery station at A street and Palm avenue shortly after midnight. Illingworth told police he wasn't sure if he left his safe open or whether the robbers had opened it. Nevertheless, when he walked into his place of business in the morning the door stood wide open and the drawers were empty. The cash register had defied all efforts to open it.

A window was smashed in the rear to gain access to the safe.

TREE YIELDS HARVEST OF CHRISTMAS APPLES

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 30. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burroughs have an apple tree of the Delicious variety in their yard at 12036 Saticoy street, from which they are harvesting a crop. This is the second harvest for the year, the last crop being picked in July. The tree also bore two crops last year, according to Mrs. Burroughs, who says the second crop last year ripened in November. The tree is at the edge of the Burroughs lawn and receives more than an ordinary amount of watering, which may be the reason for its extra productiveness, she says. All the apples are rosy-cheeked and of fine flavor, and have served decoratively during the present Christmas and New Year season.

WOMAN MADE LIVING TORCH

Miss Louise G. Fenda's Clothes Ignited by Heater; Miss Ida Ostrander Burned in Aiding Friend

PASADENA, Dec. 30.—Transformed into a living torch when her nightgown caught fire from a gas heater which she had just lighted, Miss Louise G. Fenda, 72 years of age, of 395 Lincoln avenue, today incurred burns over her entire body which physicians at the Pasadena Hospital declared would probably prove fatal. Her lifelong friend, Miss Ida Ostrander, was seriously burned when she attempted to extinguish the flames with her bare hands.

Miss Ostrander, who lives with her friend, heard the latter scream, and, rushing in to see what was wrong, found Miss Fenda rolling in agony, her nightgown a mass of flames.

Heroically tearing the cloth away with no thought for her own safety, Miss Ostrander finally smothered the fire, but not until her friend had been probably fatally burned.

Both women were taken to the Pasadena Hospital where efforts are being made to save Miss Fenda's life and Miss Ostrander is being treated for burns on her hands, arms and face.

Two Held After Ontario Crash

ONTARIO, Dec. 30.—Two youths sought by State traffic officers following an automobile crash on Colton Road near Etiwanda avenue, were arrested by State Motor Officers Kronmeyer and Carpenter, and are held for investigation. The youths are Edward Slagle and Ray Smith, both of Ontario.

They disappeared from the scene following the collision, according to Kronmeyer. Slagle was cut about the face with flying glass, and N. L. Christensen of Colton, driver of the second automobile, was also cut and injured.

Douglas Weaver of this city driver of the car in which Slagle and Smith were passengers, was arrested on a charge of reckless driving. Weaver's car struck the rear of Christensen's, according to the arresting officers. Christensen's car was then catapulted into a truck rolling along ahead of his machine. J. A. Barr, Los Angeles, was driver of the truck.

RESIGNATION OF RICCARDI ANNOUNCED

Pasadena Police Court Judge to Quit Bench to Give Time to Practice

PASADENA, Dec. 30.—Resignation of Judge Leonard Riccardi to take effect not later than January 31, 1931, was today accepted with regret by the Board of City Directors.

Judge Riccardi, who was appointed police judge two and one-half years ago after serving ten years as City Prosecutor, gave as the reason for his resignation a desire to devote his entire time to private practice. Both Judge Riccardi and Chief of Police Charles H. Kelley denied any connection between the resignation and their recent altercation over the outcome of the Royal Wilke case.

At that time it was charged that the police department had made a serious blunder when Wilke, a deputy Los Angeles City Attorney, who was arrested on a drunk-driving charge, was not given a sobriety test.

"I feel that my duty to my family and myself," Judge Riccardi said in his letter of resignation, "requires me to devote all my time to private practice, which I am now not able to do because of the unusual amount of time necessary to properly conduct the police court."

Although the Board of City Directors declined to give any intimation as to who Riccardi's successor might be, persons in close touch with city affairs expressed the belief that Judge George M. Krone of Tujunga would be appointed to the post.

Judge Krone recently gained considerable prominence locally when he fearlessly exposed asserted corruption in the Tujunga police department. Following Judge Krone's investigation, the Chief of Police and a motorcycle officer were dismissed.

COYOTE SYMPHONY MINUS TENOR

Resident of Chevy Chase Section of Glendale Traps Member of Nocturnal Chorus Whose Ululations Had Made Night Hideous in Neighborhood

GLENDALE, Dec. 20.—The coyote symphony of Chevy Chase today is shy one of its most accomplished tenors and the chickens in that part of the city are recovering from the fears that oppressed them as they sat huddled on their roosts and listened to the nightly ululations from the adjacent hills and the soft pad, pad, of feet around their coops.

Since the cold snap started several days ago, the Chevy Chase section has had its peace shattered nightly by the shrill yipping and yapping of the coyote chorus. Judging from the volume of sound, there were a score of coyotes in the pack, but experienced trappers declare that two coyotes could make the uninitiated believe that a whole drove of the animals were camped together singing to the moon.

The noise became so bad that Dr. Ludwig Gossman, 2236 North Chevy Chase Drive, set a trap on his property, and when he went out in the morning to run his line of traps he found a large and very angry coyote held firmly by the foot. Any soo that wants to add to its collection may have the coyote for the asking.

Instances have been known where deer have come down to drink at a brook in Verdugo Woodlands; there are spots where quail run whistling through the lawns of hillside homes, and bird lovers find scores of varieties of California birds in the various tree-clad regions of the city. But Dr. Gossman's coyote is said to be the first of its kind that has strayed into the city so persistently that it eventually landed in captivity.

PIONEER WOMAN ENDS TRAIL

Aged Inglewood Resident Passes

Mrs. Anna Britta Lindburg at Her Loom

Beloved Inglewood resident, mother of a number of prominent leaders there, dies at age of 96 years, just a few days after her last birthday. The photograph shows her at her loom, which she learned to operate at her girlhood home in her native land of Sweden.

INGLEWOOD, Dec. 30.—Mrs. Anna B. Lindburg, 96 years of age, one of the oldest pioneer residents of the Centinela Valley, died at her home in this city Sunday afternoon. Her passing was peaceful and marked the close of a long and useful life, made beautiful in recent years by the love and veneration of hundreds of local residents.

On the 10th inst. she celebrated her last natal anniversary, an event which has been for the past decade an occasion for much rejoicing among her many relatives and friends.

Mrs. Lindburg leaves three sons and four daughters, John Lindburg, Albert Lindburg, Mrs. W. C. Kelley, Mrs. Carl Matson, Mrs. W. B. Radcliffe, all of this city; Carl Lindburg of Hollywood and Mrs. Anna Skoog of Springfield, Ill. Twenty-two grandchildren and twelve great-grandchildren further represent her progeny.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete pending information from relatives in the East. Remains are at the Beaver Matson mortuary.

Mrs. Lindburg was born in Sweden December 10, 1834. In 1859 she married Olaf Lindburg. With her husband and family the deceased came to America in 1865, settling in Kewanee, Ill., where they lived until the spring of 1905, when they came here. One of the first houses in this city was built by Olaf Lindburg and in this house Mrs. Lindburg has made her home during all the years she has lived here. Olaf Lindburg died in 1917.

TRUCK HITS GIRL RIDER; MAN HELD

Miss Doris Jacobsen in Anaheim Hospital; Horse Killed by Impact

FULLERTON, Dec. 30.—Miss Doris Jacobsen, 17-year-old Fullerton high school student, was seriously hurt last night when the horse she was riding was struck by a truck. The girl, who lives at Olinda, is at Anaheim Clinic suffering from a broken shoulder and possible internal injuries. As an aftermath of the accident Ben Evans, 44 years of age, of 2029 Cedar street, Santa Ana, was lodged in Orange County Jail on suspicion of hit-and-run driving. Evans was asserted to have been the driver of a bakery truck that struck down the girl.

Evans, according to police, said he felt an impact, got out of the truck and walked back on the road to determine whether or not he had struck anything. He asserted he found nothing and drove back to Santa Ana. The truck driven by Evans is owned by the Weber Baking Company. Traffic Officers Dan Adams and Ole Buer who investigated the accident, said the horse was thrown thirty feet by the force of the collision and was apparently killed instantly.

Bedridden Man Escapes Fire

VENTURA, Dec. 30.—Fears of the safety of William Steele, who has been bedridden for two years with a broken hip, were held for some time last night when fire broke out in a tool shed on the Steele ranch on the banks of the Santa Clara River south of Ivy Lawn Cemetery. The Ventura county fire department, however, arrived on the scene in time to save the Steele home, where Steele was confined and other near-by structures from destruction.

Damage to the tool-shed, a saw and piles of cord wood was placed at $300. The fire, which broke out at about 9:30 p.m., resulted soon after in the explosion of a 100-gallon drum of gasoline.

Football Game Brings Plaint to Detectives

PASADENA, Dec. 30.—A football game in which, it is asserted, vandalism and fighting evidently played a more important role than the game itself, was staged on the Pasadena Junior College athletic field last Sunday by teams from the Jovial Athletic Club of Los Angeles and the Antlers Club of Alhambra, after the players had been run off the Tournament Park field, according to a complaint made to Pasadena detectives today.

Earl Smith, attendance officer for Pasadena city schools, charged that approximately thirty lockers were broken into and $250 damage done.

The teams were ordered away from Tournament Park after numerous fights had assertedly taken place.

Newsboys Save Man From Fire

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 30.—Newsboys on their early morning rounds saved the life today of Albert Covian, a cobbler, whose shop, at 1330 Santa Monica Boulevard, was destroyed in a fire.

The newsboys remained unnamed heroes, for after dragging Covian from his bed in the building, where he was asleep, they turned in a fire alarm and then failed to make their identities known.

Police believe Covian had gone to sleep with a cigarette in his mouth, starting the blaze, and an investigation was being made today.

The loss was about $330, and the owner of the building is M. Rice, 833 Mansfield avenue, Los Angeles.

ONTARIO, Dec. 30.—Another factory is to be added to the community's fast-growing industrial district, it was announced today by H. B. Dean, local resident, who plans to launch a factory for manufacture of his "Never-leak" piston ring.

Production of the piston ring is to start early in January in the factory building acquired at Bon View avenue and California Boulevard. Ed Bremers holds the patent jointly with Dean.

The piston-ring factory is the second new factory to be announced for Ontario within one week. According to Dean he has orders ahead sufficient to keep a force of men busy one year.

Dean has lived here for sixteen years. He declared his invention has withstood severe tests for many months of experiments and is not an untried device.

'Race Track Specials' Ready

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 30.—From now on, the "Race Track Specials" is the manner in which the Ruth Alexander and Emma Alexander, Admiral liners, will be designated on their week-end runs from Los Angeles to this city. Special arrangements as to schedules and accommodations on these two vessels have been made by R. B. Schutten, assistant general passenger agent, with racing fans from Los Angeles specially in mind.

One of these steamers will sail from Wilmington each Saturday night at 10 o'clock, arriving here the following morning, and making direct connections to the Agua Caliente track. At 10 o'clock each Sunday evening the ships sail from San Diego, reaching Los Angeles Harbor in the early morning. Travelers make their headquarters on the boats, eliminating the necessity of seeking hotel accommodations.

Christmas Card in Purse Only Clew to Identity

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 30.—The body of a woman, about 40 years of age, was found floating in the ocean 100 yards offshore from La Jolla cove today. Lack of external marks of violence, save one bruise on the head, which may have been caused by rocks, police and Deputy Coroner Ray Gruey to believe that the woman died by drowning.

After the body had been washed ashore by Charley and Lloyd Stanton, 7847 Ivanhoe street, La Jolla, the woman's night gown and a pair of woman's shoes washed ashore on a rock near where the body was discovered, police believe, in addition of Lieut. Mike Healy to the woman's coat, believed to have been worn by the victim. The only clew to the identity of the woman was found in the pocket of the coat, a Christmas card with the names of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jolley, Pasadena, Cal. The name was written on the margin of the card and below were underscored lines as if the card had been sent or received by the man and woman whose names appeared upon it.

Capt. R. L. Ware, United States Army, who lives at 1326 Ivanhoe street, discovered the body. Captain Ware told police he saw an object floating in the water from the window of his house. He went out to determine what it was, but almost dismissed it from his mind when he decided to go down to the water and take one more look at it. When he got closer, he said, he could object out as a human body.

Police said all laundry marks had been removed from the clothing and coat which were found, and other marks of identification were not visible.

Woman Thought Crazed Taken Shot at Officers

VENICE, Dec. 30.—A bullet crashing through a door from a revolver held by a woman believed to be insane, almost ended the life early this morning of Police Sergeant Gruey, of the Venice police force, according to a report made today. A woman believed to be Jessie Candler was taken to the Psychopathic Hospital for investigation of her sanity after the police had fired for a time repeatedly at the home of Officers Stebbins, Potter and Framm.

The shot followed a charge made against Officer Stebbins when he went to a room at 224 Market street, Venice, on summons of a neighbor. He heard a woman moving around the room, and when the door was opened to enter, Stebbins and the other officers. An officer went to enter the door was followed by the shot.

The landlord of the building had talked with the woman, Mrs. Candler, Sunday her to let the room. She is about 40 years of age, according to police, and is known of her landlord as Verne Candler, on the night of the room, but to the woman as Jane Doe Candler.

The Grand View Gardens, Chinese Cafe, located in the heart of Chinatown, has planned the biggest and best New Year's Eve celebration in its history, according to the management.

Many who remember Coffee Dan's alley, Sixth and Hill streets, at New Year's time and other occasions, may be interested in knowing that A. Freed has reopened the cafe. It is called Swagger Inn. A great time is in order for tonight at which time there will be dining, dancing and entertainment from 8 p.m. till ? There is no cover charge.

HIGH DIVER TO PERFORM

Otto Tagliebar, high diver, has been engaged to give seven exhibitions on the Ocean Park Pier as a free open-air holiday attraction. Tagliebar, who falls from a platform at the top of a ladder 100 feet high into a narrow tank containing five feet of water, plunges through the 100 feet of space in two and one-half seconds.

And he's just beginning to gain real speed when he hits the water. His first dive will be made at 9 o'clock this evening and subsequent performances are scheduled for 2:30 and 9 p.m. Tomorrow at 9 p.m., Friday and Saturday at 2:30 and 9 p.m. Sunday. This evening will also see the annual mardi gras and carnival on the Ocean Park Pier in the Egyptian Ballroom and throughout the amusement zone, Manager Jeff W. Asher announces.

AT MORA'S NEW PALACE

Various cafes in the "Miracle Mile," better known, perhaps, as the Wilshire-LaBrea district, plan special holiday menus tomorrow. Mora's Grill, which recently opened its doors in this district, will serve a specially prepared $1 turkey dinner from 11 a.m. till 10 p.m., and according to Mrs. Angela Mora, a capacity attendance of holiday diners is anticipated.

OAKS TAVERN

Edith Burnham and her nine Dixie Aces are featured at the Oaks Tavern Cafe, Fourth and Hill streets, in tonight's gala New Year's Eve celebration. Two dance floors and two orchestras are now available. Dancing, favors, entertainment and a big revue will provide fun for the many who joyfully usher in the New Year.

ROOSEVELT TO CELEBRATE

With a capacity crowd indicated by the many reservations on hand, everything is in readiness for this evening's "night of nights" in celebration of the advent of the New Year in the Blossom Room of the Roosevelt.

Scheduled to lend gayety to the affair is a special program, favors, souvenirs, special surprises for feminine guests and other features, with Hale (Pee Wee) Byers and his Roosevelt Hotel Orchestra playing the newest dance rhythms and offering unusual musical entertainment. It is anticipated that tonight's celebration will be one of the most elaborate and joyous ever staged in the Roosevelt's supper room.

AT TICK TOCK TEA ROOM

Helen Hennen, who formerly had cafe interests in Minneapolis, has recently opened the Tick Tock Tea Room on Beverly Boulevard at New Hampshire. Many of her friends and former patrons from the Midwest city are said to be again taking advantage of her culinary reputation. A regular evening dinner is served daily, including Sunday from 4:30 to 8 p.m. Tomorrow a special holiday menu has been planned. The time is from 12 to 8 p.m.

AT HOTEL VIRGINIA

What promises to be one of the most enjoyable New Year's Eve celebrations ever held in Southern California, is planned for the Hotel Virginia at Long Beach, according to M. E. (Don) Olsen, manager of this world-famous hostelry. The program of the evening calls for two parties. The first will feature a special dinner from 6 to 7:30 o'clock followed by dancing in the ballroom.

At 9 o'clock the second party will get under way, featuring a supper supreme and special entertainment with dance music by the famous Hotel Virginia Orchestra. There will be favors and souvenirs for everyone. Both halls have been specially decorated for the occasion and everything is in readiness to assure to all a most pleasurable evening.

NAVAJO CAFE'S DINNER

A New Year's Eve dinner prepared by Mme. Glazier, owner of the Navajo Cafe, unique cafe in Hollywood, is announced for tonight from 4:30 to 8 o'clock. The cafe will be closed all day tomorrow. On last Monday evening a golf caddies' dinner was held for the youngsters wintering in Los Angeles with the various professional golfers here for the tournaments. A total of ninety enjoyed a bountiful repast.

SPECIAL SOLOMON FEATURES

Dance lovers of Los Angeles are making final preparations to celebrate the coming of 1931 at a mammoth New Year's Eve ball tonight to be followed by a gala New Year's Day terpsichorean frolic tomorrow night at Solomon's Penny Dance de Luxe. Plans have been completed by Fred H. Solomon to introduce novel electric effects and other gala features appropriate to the closing of the old year and the coming of the new at the parties.

The huge ballroom at Ninth and Grand avenue recently has been elaborately redecorated and refurnished in anticipation of the festive New Year's events. Tom Moore and his Dublin orchestra have rehearsed novel programs of new and old dance melodies for the two grand balls.

CLIFF DWELLERS TO GATHER

A New Year's Eve pow-wow, a looked-forward-to event by many every year at this time, once more will be held at the Cliff Dwellers Cafe tonight, 3591 Beverly Boulevard, and according to Cort Fox, owner, will be bigger and better than ever. Fun, favors and snappy entertainment are scheduled together with a specially prepared dinner. A unique feature will be the serving of a New Year's breakfast from 1 a.m. till dawn.

Joe Seltzer, identified with the cafe business in the Southland for many years, having opened the Mission Beach Casino Cafe in San Diego and managed the Golden Pheasant of the same city, is now steward and dining-room manager at the Fatted Calf on Beverly Boulevard near La Brea.

Fresh-killed young tom turkey is again featured at dinner tomorrow. Much comment was made of the Christmas Day dinner last week, at which time the popular dining establishment ran somewhat short of turkey. However, Mr. J. R. Flaherty promises never to let such a thing happen again.

AT ITALIAN VILLAGE

"The best ever," is the way the management of the Italian Village characterized plans for the gala New Year's Eve to be held at the popular cafe tonight. Souvenirs, favors, dancing, dining and entertainment should provide enough variation for all. A turkey dinner tomorrow with all the trimmings that go with it is served from noon till night.

CAMP BALDY CELEBRATION

Camp Baldy is planning a great celebration for New Year's Eve tonight in the new and attractive Forty-niner room, which has recently been added to its dining-room, according to reports received from Foster Curry, resort manager. Mrs. Curry has resumed management of the dining-room, and C. P. Hoffman, the new chef, is said to be a very popular addition to the dining-room staff. Special turkey, trout and steak dinners will be served New Year's Day and New Year's Eve, and there will be a dance into the wee hours of New Year's Eve.

Last year Mr. Curry entertained a capacity crowd over New Year's, and according to reservations so far received it is expected there will be a larger crowd than last year. Several new cabins have been constructed and others improved upon, and fireplaces added to some. There will probably be snow at Camp Baldy for New Year's, Mr. Curry reports. Mr. C. R. Chapman is building a 1000-foot toboggan slide adjoining the north end of the Camp Baldy holdings that is expected to be finished for the next snowfall.

CHICAGO GRAIN PIT MAY CLOSE

Federal Interference Puts Damper on Trading

Significant Utterance Made by Vice-President

Fight Suggested Against Farm Board Policy

CHICAGO, Dec. 30. (AP)—Further Federal restrictions on grain speculation may cause the Chicago Board of Trade to close its doors, an eventuality which, according to Peter B. Carey, a vice-president, the board of directors has contemplated.

"We might as well; few traders are doing any business; the government agencies are doing most of the trading," Carey observed today. Outside his door had died the day's tumult and uproar of the "pit," unchecked in three-quarters of a century.

During the World War free trading was suspended but the pit operated to acquire wheat for beleaguered Europe. The Board of Trade determined to close its doors during the depression of 1873 but Marshall Field and Levi S. Leiter dramatically shouted against it from the trading floor and the doors remained open.

SPOILING FOR FIGHT

The present home of the Board of Trade, a $12,000,000 peak of forty-four stories, crowned with a gigantic statue of Ceres rising 606 feet above La Salle street, has been open only a year.

"It's time we fought back at those who have tried to make the Board of Trade the goat in this farm relief business," Carey said.

"We've gone along with the Farm Board; given them our support and kept still when Secretary of Agriculture Hyde introduced his Russian 'menace' and Chairman Legge of the Farm Board found so much fault with our practices. I don't think we ought to keep still any longer; nor do most of the traders."

CALLS IT BENEFIT

His utterances were significant because the Board of Trade has refused to be drawn into any controversy over Farm Board policies. While Minneapolis, Kansas City and lesser boards of trade criticised stabilization and other Farm Board practices, Chicago board officials remained silent.

"Now they talk about further restrictions on grain tradings, virtually turning the business over to the Secretary of Agriculture," said Carey. "As if restrictions will help the farmer. He is better off when trading is unrestricted. The more active the bidding for his grain the better the market for him."

GAMBLING IN GRAIN CHARGED TO BOARD

DALLAS (Tex.) Dec. 30. (AP)—Charges that the Federal Farm Board had "gambled" in farm products on a large scale were made in resolutions adopted by a mass meeting of farmers today sponsored by the Farmers' Marketing Association of America and the Farmers' Union of Texas.

The declaration said the Farm Board had engaged in "collective selling" instead of "co-operative marketing," and demanded that cotton purchased by the Farm Board not be sold on call, but be stored in warehouses "where it actually can be seen."

"The board and its allies have entered the futures markets and speculated and gambled in farm products on a large scale, calling it co-operative marketing," the resolution said.

W. B. Yeary of Dallas, secretary-treasurer of the Farmers' Marketing Association of America, charged the Farm Board purposely had held down prices on farm products.

"Farmers have the same right to fix the price of cotton as the government has to fix rates on public utilities," Yeary told the meeting.

A solution proposed was that the Farm Board buy two of every three bales of cotton produced by the farmer at a fixed price of 18 cents per pound, permitting the farmer to hold or sell at his option the third bale at whatever price the market would bring.

LEGGE GRATIFIED BY CAREY'S CRITICISM

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Chairman Legge of the Farm Board expressed pleasure tonight that Peter B. Carey, a vice-president of the Chicago Board of Trade, had "come out in the open" against the Farm Board, and recommended further Federal restriction of grain trading.

Only a little more opposition from men in Carey's position, the chairman said, was required to "insure the much needed Congressional attention."

Officially Dead, Man Too Lively

CHICAGO, Dec. 30. (AP)—As a corpse James Williams was entirely too lively, authorities here said.

Officially declared dead in 1928 when a forfeited bond was ordered returned to its owner, Williams has since been roaming around the country. Assistant State's Attorney De Witt said, being arrested here and there, usually on larceny charges.

San Francisco and Louisville are among places where he was arrested. He was finally caught in St. Louis.

Passing the $100,000,000 Milestone

A story of growth and public confidence of interest to all January investors

AN investment should be judged by the "company" it keeps. Under present financial conditions it is exceedingly important for the investor to consider critically the origin, purpose, safeguards and sponsorship of the securities he contemplates buying.

Sponsorship is particularly important, and, it is in this connection that we present the following information.

Enduring Strength

Founded approximately seventeen years ago, the business of the Mortgage Guarantee Company has grown steadily and consistently to its present magnitude and strength without the aid of mergers, consolidations or acquisitions of any nature.

Size alone means little, but when size has been attained solely through natural, healthy growth in the service of the public, it means much.

So, now, in the passing of the once distant milestone on the Road of Resources, namely the $100,000,000 mark, it is with a sense of profound gratification that we have closed another year of progress despite the unfavorable conditions prevailing—an achievement made possible by the sound and constructive principles and policies upon which the institution was founded and to which it has steadfastly adhered, and will continue to adhere, through the ever-changing tides of business.

Now, as never before, it is important to differentiate between sound and unsound securities. Holders of the latter, whose annual losses—even in normal times—aggregate hundreds of millions of dollars, include inexperienced investors, deliberate speculators, and those whose craving for quick profits nullifies their better judgment.

On the other hand, the holders of sound securities include the most intelligent, the most experienced, and the most successful types of investors. It is significant, therefore, that the outstanding guaranties of the Mortgage Guarantee Company are apportioned among the following classes of investors in the amounts indicated:

	Number	Amount
Individual Holders	5155	$30,659,306.00
Insurance Companies	23	41,378,366.50
National and State Banks, Trust Companies and Title Companies	80	10,965,965.00
Trustees	508	3,581,323.72
Corporations	55	2,419,100.00
Institutions (Hospitals, Churches, Lodges, Charities, etc.)	74	1,228,350.00
TOTAL	5895	$90,232,411.22

These holders are located throughout the United States and in a number of foreign countries.

Origin of Insured Certificates

In the early days of the Mortgage Guarantee Company it was determined to provide a form of investment that would meet the very highest requirements of both institutions and individuals; an investment that would combine (a) the soundest form of underlying security, (b) a guarantee of unquestionable strength, and (c) the highest form of moral responsibility. The result was Insured First Mortgage Certificates issued under the Mortgage Insurance Act of California and insured by this institution as to both principal and interest.

Back of this insurance is the entire strength of the Company, as indicated by its capital, surplus and undivided profits of more than $9,000,000, as well as its sound, conservative and unvarying policies of management which have been characteristic of its operations from the inception of the business. These policies stand as a constant safeguard of the investments issued by this institution, and insure their continued pre-eminence in the field of mortgage obligations.

Underlying Securities

Loans made by this Company are secured by first liens on select real estate in the growing communities of California. These liens are grouped and placed in trust, and against them are issued Insured First Mortgage Certificates. The Certificates issued cannot exceed 50% of the appraised value of the real estate, and all Certificates must be registered by the trustee.

Certificates are never issued against single pieces of property or even against a small group of properties. They are issued only in substantial aggregate against a large number of liens on properties in different localities, thus adding the factor of territorial diversification to the various other safeguards.

Most important is the extremely conservative appraisal system which provides for every possible contingency and insures a wide margin of sound security for all loans. Moreover, a high percentage of the loans are amortized and thus are being constantly reduced. Safety is the first factor in the Company's entire plan of operation.

Moral Responsibility

For exacting investors, figures alone are not sufficient. The record of the sponsoring Company and the character of men back of it are highly important factors. Size is significant, but not conclusive. The standing of the Company, its financial structure, and its personnel are matters worthy of careful consideration.

In this connection the Board of Directors of this Company alone is, perhaps, sufficient evidence of "moral responsibility" in the highest sense of the term. These men are leaders in business as well as in community affairs—and they are all interested in this business in a vital way.

Under the Company's by-laws a very substantial investment is required in order to qualify as a member of the Board. Hence, a large proportion of the outstanding stock is owned by the officers and directors, thus further strengthening the ties of responsible sponsorship.

Other Features

The insured First Mortgage Certificates of this Company are issued in denominations of $100 and multiples in order that purchasers may keep their funds closely invested.

Interest is payable either quarterly or semi-annually as the investor may prefer, and payments are made on designated dates by check, thus obviating the clipping of coupons and avoiding possible interest losses through failure to cash coupons when due.

Certificates are registered in the names of the owners and are therefore subject to replacement if lost or destroyed.

Arrangement may be made, if desired, for the immediate reinvestment of funds on maturity dates at the then current interest rate.

We recommend these Certificates to all institutions and private investors, large or small, who seek safety of principal, certainty of income, convenience, and freedom from market fluctuations, as well as to merchants and manufacturers who wish to establish sound business reserves. Certificates are obtainable in maturities of two, three, four or five years, and the yield is

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

TARZAN AND THE GOLDEN LION

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Under the flickering light of the cresset, Tarzan of the Apes saw tier after tier of shelves upon which were stacked small sacks made of skins. Opening one, the old man spilled a portion of the contents into the palm of one hand. "Diamonds!" he said. "The Bolgani have been accumulating them for countless ages. In their legends is the prediction that some day the Atlantians will return and barter for them. A king's ransom reposes in each of these sacks!"

Giving one bag to La, another to Tarzan and keeping one for himself, the old man remarked: "Just for luck, in case we leave this valley alive!" From the diamond vault he led them up a primitive ladder to the floor above and quickly to the main entrance of the tower. Two heavy, bolted doors now lay between them and the terrace. Beyond that, only a short distance, was the east gate which Tarzan had left open. But this time the last of the Gomangani had ascended the ladder.

Carefully the ape-man explained to them they were to run for the gate as the bolted doors swung open. Then, turning to the old man he said: "Now!" The bolt slipped back, the doors swung open and the entire party swarmed out. The Bolgani, unaware that their victims had eluded them, did not discover the fact until Tarzan, bringing up the rear with the golden lion, was passing through the gates. Then several hundred gorilla-men started on a mad run in pursuit.

"Now for it!" cried Tarzan to the others. "Run straight down the valley toward Opar." "I shall not stir a step without you, Tarzan," said La. "As you wish," he said with a shrug, "here they come." Fifty of the Gomangani rallied to his call and with these the ape-man stood in the gateway toward which the Bolgani were now charging. As the first of the hairy monsters snarled within a few paces of them, La glanced down the jungle trail. "Look! Look!" she cried.

TIRE TRADE ENTERED BY OIL LEADER

Standard of California Forms Service Station Subsidiary for Sales

Standard Oil Company of California announced yesterday it would enter the tire business on the first of the year with the retail distribution from all its service stations of both passenger car and commercial tires. This will be the first time in the history of the company that anything other than petroleum products has been sold in its retail outlets.

The tires are to be sold through Standard Stations, Inc., a recently organized company which is operating the service stations owned by the Standard Oil Company. The tires will be known as Atlas tires and will be guaranteed by the Standard Oil Company, the passenger-car tires for twelve months and the commercial tires for six months.

The Atlas tire will be a nationally distributed product and a feature of the guarantee is that adjustments can be made at any station where the tires are sold no matter where the point of original purchase might be. The guarantee covers blowouts, rim-cuts, bruises, misalignments or any similar mishaps that may shorten the life of the tire.

"The marketing by the Standard Oil Company of California of products other than those derived from petroleum," a statement from the company said, "is an interesting departure from practices long established, yet this is a most natural and logical development of the function of a service station, which can so readily become a mart for all of the requirements of the motorists—fuel, oil, tires, batteries and accessories."

The new price is 67 cents a barrel.

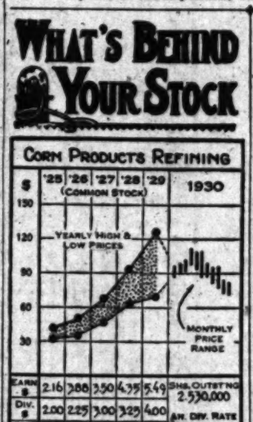
OUTSIDE DEPOSIT RATE CUT

Interest Paid by Los Angeles Banks on Balances Kept Here by Correspondents Now 2 Per Cent

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Following the trend in other large banking centers the Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association, through its president, Andrew M. Chaffey, yesterday announced a reduction from 2½ to 2 per cent in the interest rate on deposits of correspondent banks.



New York, Chicago, St. Louis, San Francisco and other clearinghouse associations have taken similar action recently in conformance with the downward trend of interest rates. The reductions mean a considerable annual saving to the banks in interest payments, amounting in the instance of the Los Angeles banks to approximately $250,000.

TOTAL LARGE

More than $50,000,000 of outside bank balances is maintained in the banks belonging to the Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association, according to Mr. Chaffey's estimates. Banks in virtually every large city in the country are depositors here as a matter of convenience to their customers having business connections in this territory. This practice serves to expedite the completion of business transactions between different parts of the country.

Besides becoming a large center for the carrying of balances by outside domestic markets, this city has also risen in recent years to a position of importance in foreign banking relations. The growth of trade relations between this city and European, Far Eastern and South American countries has impelled the establishment of large balances here by banks in these countries, the Latin-American countries especially ranking as depositors.

Increase in trade relations between the west coast of Mexico and Southern California is also reflected in deposits in Los Angeles by banks in Mexico. Much of the vegetable shipments from the west coast are consigned to this city, while Los Angeles merchants do a respectable volume of business with the west coast cities.

OTHER RATES HOLD

The reduction in the interest rate on correspondent deposits will not extend, it is understood, to other classes of deposits. The 4 per cent rate on savings in Los Angeles compares with 4 1-4 per cent in many other cities, notably New York, where a movement is under way to make the 4 per cent rate uniform.

While the New York Federal Reserve Bank has recently lowered its rediscount rate to 2 per cent, the rate in effect in the Twelfth Federal Reserve District still stands at 3 1-2 per cent. Some of the other districts are reported to have considered reductions to 3 or 2 1-2 per cent, and it is possible that such steps along this line will be announced soon in this district.

All of these downward revisions in interest rates by banking institutions corroborates the belief that easy money conditions will prevail throughout the country for some time to come.

Steel Trade Anticipates Improvement

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)—The weekly steel trade reviews, published today, report the industry is looking forward optimistically toward 1931, although they expect improvement will be gradual rather than precipitate.

"Steel business now definitely in sight," says Iron Age, "points to an average ingot output of 50 per cent before the end of January. Improvement in operations is expected to continue well into the second quarter, although at this juncture few will venture a prophecy of the extent of the gain."

The reviews call attention to the volume of public and utility projects approaching the contracting stage, as well as to the placement of delayed railroad orders and the promise of substantial improvement in tin-plate output.

Iron Age says current production is highly irregular because of the holiday interruptions and estimates activity this week at about 30 per cent of capacity against 35 per cent last week.

Steel ingot output for 1930 is estimated by Iron Age at 40,000,000 tons, or 27 per cent lower than in 1929.

The average rate of production, 63 per cent, was the lowest since 1921.

Tire Companies May Cut Prices

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Since the sharp reduction in tire prices announced by mail order houses in their midwinter "flyer" catalogues, the tire companies have been discussing the advisability of reducing retail tire prices and it is probable that leading tire manufacturers will announce a retail price reduction on tires in the next few days.

Although considerable difference of opinion exists in the trade as to the advisability of attempting to meet fully the mail-order reduction, the general consensus is that some reduction is necessary. The average weighted reduction made by Sears, Roebuck and Montgomery Ward was approximately 12 per cent.

Bank Rate Cut Spread Sighted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (Exclusive)—The easy credit policy of the Federal Reserve System which already has resulted in lowering of the New York and Cleveland Reserve banks' rediscount rates, is likely to be extended to at least one other Federal reserve bank.

State of Kentucky is almost equally divided between two Federal Reserve districts. One part is in the Cleveland district and the other in the St. Louis district. Observers here believe that the St. Louis Reserve Bank will follow action taken by the Cleveland bank within a short time. Directors of St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank meet on January 7, next, and it is considered possible here that some action will be taken on the rate at that time.

Smith Company Shows Increase in Pipe Output

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—During the first five months of its fiscal year, A. O. Smith Corporation shipped 216,000 tons of electrically welded pipe, a gain of 71.4 per cent over shipments of 126,000 tons in the like period of the previous fiscal year. Shipments amounted to 9720 carloads, against 8698 carloads in the preceding like period.

During 1930 the company shipped 472,000 tons of pipe, compared with 425,000 tons in 1929. The 1930 shipments, according to C. C. Joys, manager of pipe sales, consisted of about 3000 miles, or 24,272 carloads. The mileage was nearly the same in 1929, but carloads in that year were 30,474, indicating a trend in 1930 toward construction of pipe lines of larger diameter pipe.

"The year 1931 should be another good year in the pipe line business," said Mr. Joys. "And I think that it will not be affected by stock market conditions for the reason that the projected pipe lines are on a sound economic basis and the enterprises are in the hands of large companies which will not have to do any public financing. As a matter of fact, the amount of pipe line construction next year ought to equal or exceed that in 1930."

BETHLEHEM NEXT TO MOVE

Effect of Eaton Victory in Fight for Youngstown Sheet and Tube Intriguing Question

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance)

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Now comes the question—what will be the effect of Judge Jenkins's injunction against the proposed billion-dollar merger of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube?

The quiet, determined Cyrus S. Eaton of Cleveland, former Baptist preacher, emerges as the victor in the most bitterly contested legal battle of a decade and he spent money fully to win his case. Perhaps he finds comfort in knowing that the Bethlehem Steel group, including such well-known men as Eugene Grace, James M. Campbell, veteran president of Sheet and Tube, Henry G. Dalton, a director in both, and Charles M. Schwab, spent more than he did.

Mr. Eaton, organizer of the $350,000,000 Republic Steel Company, contended that the merger would be disastrous to the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company because that company had better earnings, more profitable products, and better markets and plants than the Bethlehem company and that, if merged, the city of Youngstown would be just another city, dominated and controlled by Wall street.

The Eaton attorneys brought out much hitherto confidential information, including the details of the Bethlehem company's bonus system and showing that in 1929 its bonuses were over $3,000,000, of which Mr. Grace received more than half.

In a larger sense, the future of steel is involved in this titanic struggle. The decision, undoubtedly, will be taken to a higher court by Newton Baker, chief of counsel for the Bethlehem company. From the public point of view, the Bethlehem side was not so well handled as the Eaton side. This was evident from the way the bonus system of Bethlehem was brought out, and from the reluctance of that company's officials to give testimony on the subject. Apparently, the real struggle has only begun.

Shades of William Jennings Bryan! The Irving Trust Company, one of New York's conservative banking institutions, wants silver to continue as the standard of monetary value for the eastern countries—China and India, particularly.

The bank's suggestion for the solution of the silver problem, is to cease "foisting" the gold standard upon nations like India, which are unready for it, and to have the various governments buy a few million ounces of the metal each year so that silver coins shall not be debased money in the principal occidental countries.

Today silver is just a commodity. It is cheap—almost a drug on the market, going down in value every month. Yet it remains, primarily, a money in the Far East, where half the people of the earth live.

"In the minds of half the human race, silver still remains money first, and a commodity second," says the Irving Trust Company. "To forget this, would be a serious psychological and political blunder. But mere altruism need not be the motive for trying to better the present silver situation. In helping our eastern neighbors, we would be helping ourselves."

It was William Jennings Bryan who urged sixteen ounces of silver for one ounce of gold as the basis for the monetary standard of the United States. It shocked the sensibilities and good judgment of the bankers of America.

Now, comes one of the large banks of America with the statement that "by broadening the monetary use of silver here and in Europe, will insure relative stability and permanence."

In other words, instead of having a pointed gold base—one leg—this bank would have the world stand on two legs—one of silver and one of gold.

November Rail Group Net Off

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—November net operating income of all Class 1 railroads, based on earnings statements issued to date, amounted to approximately $63,750,000, against $86,669,467, in November, 1929, a decrease of 26.4 per cent, and compared with $113,555,731 in 1928, a drop of 43.8 per cent.

November gross revenues of the Class 1 roads is estimated at $399,500,000, against $490,210,862 last year, decline of 19.9 per cent, and compared with $532,085,264 two years ago, a decrease of 24.9 per cent.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)—Trading in cotton was quiet today and fluctuations reflected the effect of comparatively small orders either way.

An opening decline promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables was followed by advances on some covering and trade buying which sent the price of March up from 9.85 to 10.07. Offerings increased slightly on this bulge, however, and there were reactions later under scattered selling which appeared to come partly from the South. At 3 o'clock March was ruling around 10.01 and active months generally were holding within a point or two of Yesterday's closing quotations.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (Exclusive)—Cottonseed oil was dull and irregular today, closing 5 points higher to 10 lower; weakness in lard on account of the heavy deliveries on December contracts induced some local selling, but offerings were well taken by refiners and some of the commission houses. SHARP RALLY OF RAILS FEATURES

News of Consolidation Pact Factor in Upturn

Brighter Outlook for Steel Industry Also Aids

Substantial Gains Shown in Other Listed Groups

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)—Although this was railroad day in the security markets, the carrier equities and liens unselfishly shared the legacy of good cheer made in their favor by the consolidation agreement, and stocks and bonds generally improved.

On the share market, the net advances of 1 to nearly 6 points—the average rise for ninety issues, 2.7 points—was the best since the big upturn the 17th inst. It was also the most active session since that date, for sales totaled 3,431,115 shares.

Reports that yesterday's conference of the eastern railroad executives had been conclusive seemed sufficiently convincing to rally the market almost from the opening, so President Hoover's formal announcement only added impetus to the upward movement. Rails soared 2 to 8 points and were joined, with more modest advances, by the industrials and utilities. Profit-taking cut down the maximum gains, but prices closed strong.

News from the steel industry was cheerful, too. Iron Age said each week of December had added to confidence toward the 1931 outlook and by the end of January ingot production should be about 50 per cent of capacity against the estimate of 30 per cent made for this week. Hopes are based on the appearance of delayed railroad orders, a pick-up in the tin-plate activity and the prospect that contracts for large construction projects soon will be let.

Steel output in 1930 amounted to about 40,000,000 tons, a drop of 27 per cent from the 1929 volume. Production averaged 63 per cent of rated capacity, the lowest since the 37 per cent average of 1921, when, however, capacities were smaller.

Other developments were less stimulating, although none was particularly gloomy. Bar silver went to another new low here.

Eastern railroad lines, directly involved in the consolidation plans, were most buoyant and extreme gains of 5 points or more developed in New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio and Reading. New Haven closed 6 3-4 higher, while Delaware and Hudson, Lackawanna, Wa-

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)—A broad advance in railroad convertible and mortgage issues following announcement of an agreement for consolidation of eastern carriers featured trading in the bond market today.

Prices threw off the lethargy that has marked their movements recently and resumed their upward trend in the largest turnover in four months. Sales exceeded $15,000,000.

The buoyancy of the carrier group pompered inversely with the advances of ten days ago when they made an abrupt reversal from the low levels of the year. As reflected in the average for ten rails, the day's improvement amounted to 1.3 points, and the advance of thirty domestic bonds, in the averages, was ½ point.

Obligation of the Baltimore and Ohio, the Van Sweringen group, and Pennsylvania, three of the four systems involved in the merger plans, were conspicuous in the advance. New York Central was less affected.

United States governments were very active and about steady.

Foreign dollar bonds found the line of least resistance was toward lower levels.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

Corn Futures Lead Upturn on Grain Markets

CHICAGO, Dec. 30. (AP)—Fresh evidence which enlarged use of corn by industries gave to higher prices today for all grains. Commission purchasing of corn future deliveries broadened out to a notable degree, with additional stimulus coming from the fact that at Chicago and other main markets corn receipts had been suddenly reduced. A brake for wheat resulted from reports of moisture dearth in domestic winter territory, both winter and spring.

Closing unsettled, 1¼@2 cents a bushel higher than yesterday, wheat irregular at 4 shade decline to ¾ net gain, corn, ¾@1¾ cents up, and provisions from 30 cents setback to a rise of 7 cents.

Failure to put firmness into the wheat market in view of the news of 15,536,000 bushels increase for the world's wheat available supplies, during dwarfing of receipts was a good ingredient for the situation being helpful to corn and oats, than was true relative to wheat. Primary arrivals of corn were but 439,000 bushels against 1,000,000 a week ago and 2,288,000 a year ago.

Wheat averaged lower, influenced by weakness of late December compared with 14,000,000 pounds this El Capitan, Hollywood Blvd. at Highland—"Hold Her Great," Joe E. Brown's monkeyshines in this Ring Lardner farce score a second hit.

Hollywood Playhouse, Vine near Hollywood Boulevard—"Sleeping Sisters." A revival farce that doesn't quite come off. Sounds mostly. With Mary Astor.

Returning from a trip to the Orient in company with two granddaughters, Viscountess Cowdray, mother of Viscount Cowdray, British publisher and sportsman, is in Los Angeles, stopping at the Biltmore.

The visitor said that this is her first visit to Los Angeles since 1922 and that she is much impressed with the growth of the city, as well as with its beauty. The visitors were entertained by Mrs. E. L. Doheny.

From Los Angeles, the visitors will journey to Washington, D. C., and then to Ottawa, Can., visiting friends at the latter place.

Viscount Cowdray was here some months ago after bringing the British polo team to this country for the international match.

COST MAP APPROVED

The assessment district map for the improvement of streets in the Lankershim Boulevard and Chandler Boulevard district was approved yesterday by the City Council.

OLYMPIC SCENE IN ROSE PARADE

Glendale's Float to Typify Grecian Stadium

Entry Elaborate Beyond All Former Showings

Last Orders on Tournament Issued by Marshal

In preparation for the heavy traffic expected New Year's Day from Los Angeles to the Pasadena Tournament of Roses, the Pacific Electric Railway Company yesterday obtained permission from the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation to reroute certain cars on San Pedro and Main streets.

For the one day Pasadena cars will be allowed to load passengers all along Main street in order to avoid congestion at the Sixth-and-Main-street depot.

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Dec. 30.—Symbolic of the increasing concentration of art and science in Southern California, the city of Glendale's 1931 Tournament of Roses entry, a gigantic floral representation of the ancient Olympic Stadium in Greece, promises to be the most spectacular float ever entered in the New Year's Day parade.

The float, decorated with more than 100,000 natural blooms, depicts the historical features of the Olympic Games, which will be held in Los Angeles in 1932.

GLENDALE'S ENTRY

Almost an entire city block will be filled by the entry, although the float itself measures fifty-five feet long, twenty feet wide and fifteen feet high. Three trumpeters and scores of costumed athletes will form an advance guard and between them and the float will come two chariots drawn by four white and four black horses. The entry was designed by Mrs. L. W. Chobe and required the assistance of 100 Glendale residents to construct. The float required 15,000 hours of labor.

Orders were issued today by Maj.-Gen. Charles S. Farnsworth, parade grand marshal and retired chief of United States Army Infantry, that the entries must be in their designated places in the line of march by 9:30 a.m., when the starting signal will be given. It is not anticipated, however, that the head of the procession will reach the intersection of Orange Grove avenue and West Colorado street, the official designated starting point, until 10 a.m.

The line of march, as last year, will be east on Colorado street to Meredith avenue, north on Meredith to Walnut street and west on Walnut street to the disbanding area, just west of Lake avenue.

MILLION SPECTATORS

More than 1,000,000 spectators, it is estimated, will view the great pageant which will require between an hour and a half and two hours to pass. The procession, composed of 300 units, including sixty major floats and twenty bands, will extend for almost two miles along the parade route of approximately three miles.

Those who plan to witness the East-West football game between Washington State College and Alabama in the Rose Bowl following the parade are urged by Chief of Police Kelley to arrive in this city early enough to park their machines on the north side of Colorado street, the city's principal business thoroughfare. If motorists will park their machines with a view to making it unnecessary to cross and recross Colorado street the traffic congestion will be reduced to a minimum, according to Capt. Harrison of the local police traffic bureau.

WARNING GIVEN

The worst place from which to attempt to view the pageant, according to local officials, is at points in proximity to street car terminals. Spectators who do not wish to pay for choice automobile park privileges or for reserved seats in the temporary grand stands will have to take possession of vantage seats near the street curbings by 7:30 a.m. In past years

TWINS WIN CHRISTMAS PRIZES

Display Artistry in Tree Decorating

RUTH and Roberta Fischer, twins, decorated twin Christmas trees and won twin prizes in a contest conducted by the Parks and Recreation Commission of Glendale.

The two girls, the 17-year-old daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Fischer, 428 West California street, Glendale, are commonly known by their fellow-students at the Glendale High School as the twins.

Both are enrolled in art courses at the high school and they had their first opportunity to use their artistic ability in the decorating contest.

The two living trees are dressed in silver tinsel, green, red and white-colored glass figures, and have numerous small electric light bulbs entwined in the branches. They may be seen in the front yard of the Fischer home.

HEARING SET ON PLAN FOR VIGILANTES

Police Board Calls Public Conference for Monday to Consider Arming Citizens

To obtain all suggestions in regard to a police reserve force of citizens experienced in the use of firearms, as a temporary measure to aid the police department pending an increase in personnel, the Police Commission yesterday decided to conduct a public hearing in its assembly room at 10 a.m. next Monday.

The action was taken after the reading of communications from the Hollywood City Club urging a junior police reserve force to curb juvenile delinquency, and from Albert H. Haines of 820 Chester Williams Building, urging a reserve force of citizens like that in New York City.

John A. Miller, publisher of a number of newspapers and a war veteran, declared that something must be done to curb crime in the city as soon as possible. He said he does not think enough pressure has been brought to bear on the City Council to get it to provide 500 or 1000 additional men needed in the police department.

He declared the Council has certain funds stuck away in pigeon holes and that each Councilman seems to find funds for use in his own district.

INCENDIARY FIRES SET ON MT. WILSON

Fast Work of Foresters Alone Prevents Disaster; One Suspect Quizzed

Fast work on the part of the United States Forest Service saved the Mt. Wilson area from a disastrous blaze yesterday when a brush fire, apparently of incendiary origin, was brought under control after burning over about six acres.

The fire, which rapidly got under way and threatened to sweep over the whole mountain side, was one of seven blazes touched off in Little Santa Anita Canyon about four miles back of Sierra Madre on the trail leading from that town to Mt. Wilson. The authorities questioned a man near the scene of the fire but he was released. His name has not been revealed.

The first fire, according to Chief Dispatcher Davis of the Federal forestry office in Pasadena, was discovered about 11 a.m. The others were seen shortly after, all within a distance of about one mile along the trail. Firefighting crews were rushed to the fire from Pasadena, Sierra Madre and Arcadia under W. T. Murphy, junior forester. A crew of men was sent out also by County Forester Turner.

Owing to the low humidity the fire did not make as much progress as would have been the case under different atmospheric conditions. Had it gotten away, forestry officials declare, it probably would have roared through a very heavy brush area up Mt. Wilson.

MISSION INN DAMAGED BY GAS BLAST

Sidewalk in Front of Riverside City Hall Torn Up by Explosion

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 30. (Exclusive) An investigation was ordered to determine the source of gas in a pipe tunnel which exploded at 9:30 o'clock this morning, tearing up a section of sidewalk in front of the City Hall and damaging three suites of rooms in the southeast wing of the famous Mission Inn. No one was injured.

The explosion, which was heard for blocks around, occurred when Earl Herman, a plumber, went into the tunnel with a lighted candle for inspection work. The tunnel carries steam pipes from the plant of the Mission Inn to the City Hall and several other near-by buildings. It is thought that illuminating gas or sewer gas had collected in the tunnel and was ignited by the flame of the candle.

The force of the explosion spent itself in two directions. First, it blew up a twenty-foot section of the sidewalk in front of the City Hall. Secondly, it lifted the floor about eighteen inches in three suites on the ground floor of the inn across the street from the City Hall. Furniture was thrown about the rooms, windows were blown out and doors broken. The rooms were not occupied at the time of the explosion.

The tunnel was built some years ago under a contract by which the inn furnished heat to the near-by buildings from its central plant.

Traffic District Signs Approved

A request by Traffic Engineer Dorsey for the erection of sixty-one signs to define the boundaries of the central traffic district for the information of autoists was approved by the Police Commission yesterday. It authorized the expenditure of $122 for the signs from department funds.

The boundaries of the central traffic zone are to be defined as the result of a suggestion from the All-Year Club, which reported that visiting autoists become confused over the area in which right-hand turns against traffic signals are permitted, and which are prohibited in the central zone.

COLD WEATHER DUE TO DEPART

Observers Forecast Change Beginning Today

Moisture in Air and Wind Shift Responsible

Growers Warned Against Danger Last Night

A break in the protracted frost threat that has hovered over the Southern California citrus belt for the longest period in many years was predicted last night by F. D. Young, chief of the Federal frost observers, at Pomona, who believed the early hours of this morning will be the last of the present nippy weather.

Young, however, directed the growers to be on the lookout last night after observations indicated that the final temperatures in the frost siege would range broadly between 31 and 24 deg., and scattered smudging necessary.

WINDS SHIFT

The Federal observer explained that the expected break is due to increasing moisture in the air and a shift in the winds from the chilly north and northeast to the balmier south and southwest breezes. Cloudiness that will accompany the wind shift, he said, also will aid in reducing the frostiness.

E. S. Ellison, the observer at Santa Paula, also announced the welcome news to growers of his district of the more favorable weather, but he warned them of general light frosts last night over Santa Clara Valley with temperatures ranging from 30 to 32 deg., and possible drops to 27 deg. in colder localities.

Rialto, Bloomington and Colton were scheduled for 22 to 25 deg. temperatures last night by Observer Harry N. Weirauch at Redlands, who suggested the twelfth consecutive night of firing for the district. The mercury at the Redlands key station stood at 29 deg., he said.

FAIR IN CITY

Some smudging was started after midnight by Observer Leland Johnson at Corona. He said the Corona-High Grove area would have temperatures ranging from 24 to 27 deg., and that the Riverside-Arlington section would find the mercury at about 26 deg.

Locally, Col. H. B. Hersey, official weather forecaster, predicted fair weather for today, starting with light frosts this morning. Tomorrow, however, is expected by the observer to be cloudy with rising temperatures and gentle changeable winds offshore. The temperatures yesterday ranged between 67 and 47 deg.

SMUDGING BLAMED FOR TRAIN CRASH

Behind a pall of dense smudge smoke, arising from orchards and groves in the citrus belt in the protracted campaign against the frost threat, a Southern Pacific train was in a rear-end collision near Pomona, schools were dismissed for lack of attendance, and a movement was started toward regulating the smudging that has darkened the sky with smoke for days.

Crawling through the dark curtain of smoke a Southern Pacific extra freight crashed into the rear end of a local freight near Pomona, smashing the caboose, driving the wheels under a freight car ahead and causing a derailment.

FIRE DESTROYS CABOOSE

The crash occurred at 7:05 a.m. The crew was out of the train, at breakfast. Had the trainmen been aboard several might have perished for the caboose was almost immediately enveloped in flames and was destroyed. Pomona firemen succeeded in preventing the spread of the flames to other cars.

Train officials blamed the dense fog of black smoke from orchard heaters for the collision, declaring that the pall was so thick that the trainmen could not see ahead more than a few feet.

LIMITED FLAGGED

The Gold Coast Limited, due immediately after the accident, was flagged in the emergency and a quick stop damaged a wheel on one of the Pullmans, where many passengers were still asleep. All were shaken up.

Due to the unusual heavy smoke in the intensive orchard heating all Pomona city schools were dismissed at 9:30 a.m. Superintendent of Schools Clark announced that classes

PETROLEUM EXPERT IN WEST FOR SURVEY

Dr. Joseph E. Pogue

ILLS OF OIL DIAGNOSED BY DOCTOR

Dr. J. E. Pogue, Leading Economist, Prescribes Diet of Reducing Nature

Regarded as the ranking petroleum economist in the United States, Dr. Joseph E. Pogue of New York City yesterday emphasized the need of greater curtailment in drilling operations, the immediate reduction of gasoline stocks by lessening refinery runs, and the advantages of the unitization plan of developing oil fields as a step to control individual fields from the standpoint of meeting market demands.

Dr. Pogue's opinions on the ills of the oil industry are considered important not only because of his wide knowledge of the business but also because he is regarded as a "doctor" and is being consulted by leading oil officials who are looking forward to a betterment of their business all over the country. Dr. Pogue was acting chairman of the oil economics committee, called last October at the request of Secretary of the Interior Wilbur. This committee outlined a program for the oil industry for 1931 at the annual convention of the American Petroleum Institute in Chicago. H. Paul Grimm, oil umpire here, served with Dr. Pogue on the committee.

WILL STUDY TEMBLOR'S ZONE

Dr. Pogue's real purpose here on this visit is not confined to doctoring the ills of the oil industry, but to determine the potentialities of the Temblor zone, now recognized as a very prolific one, especially in the Kettleman Hills and Belridge oil fields. This survey which Dr. Pogue has undertaken will require a few days here and much of this time will be utilized in conferences with leading officials of the industry and visiting the various districts that are considered important.

The present low price structure for crude in this country is considered bullish by Dr. Pogue. He explained that the oil industry may be restored to a sound economic basis by further decline in price structure to the point where additional capital will not flow into the industry. This, he said, would automatically reduce drilling and permit oil in storage to decline and the potential would drop nearer market demands.

DRILLING COULD HALT

"But this is not what the industry as a whole wants," Dr. Pogue made clear. "We do not want to wreck the producers. There is much capital invested in the business and the possibilities that capital would no longer flow into the industry would be a disastrous thing in itself. In my opinion, within five or six months, reduction of gasoline stocks by curtailment of refinery runs may be accomplished. Then bring about a greater decline in drilling operations. With the present amount of oil in storage, drilling of new wells could be halted for at least three years and still the industry could meet market demands. It would take at least a withdrawal of 100,000 barrels of oil

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

THERE is one day I dread—one night.

That horn-tooting rampage of nitwits on New Year's Eve.

I don't see why people can't have a good time without losing their dignity. It gives me gooseflesh to see grown-up men and women trying to do the most difficult thing in the world—which is to "clown."

There are, perhaps, twenty people in the world who are successful clowns. The chances, therefore, are 50,000,000 to 1 that you are not one of them. So don't try something you don't know how to do.

NOISE

The instinct to make meaningless noises is a certain symptom of a soul trying to drown out its knowledge of inferiority.

GRADED FOR SIZE

Prof. McDonald of U.S.C. opines that the Boston accent and the Iowa twang are being dumped into the melting pot by the talkies. Within a few years everyone will make the same noises.

This is true, and the mournful part is that this is only an echo of another fact. We are becoming standardised in every other way. Last spring in the old town of Culiacan on the edge of the jungles of Sinaloa I saw the women bathing at the age-old river crossing. But they came out to put on fashionable Hollywood clothes and shake the water out of Gloria Swanson boyish bobs.

LIKE GRANDPA

The most interesting part of the story was left out of the Washington dispatch telling of the gift to the Smithsonian of relics of Prof. T. S. C. Lowe, America's first flyer.

It is that his grand-daughter, Mrs. Florence Lowe Barnes of Pasadena, has picked up her heritage of adventure and has become one of the daredevil women aviators of breathless achievement.

DEAD WARRIORS

Skeletons of more than 100 giant Indians, presumably killed in battle, have been discovered in an ancient burial ground near Huntington Beach.

California Indians were not much on fighting. They had very few real battles. The country around Huntington Beach, however, was a part of the Las Bolsas Rancho. I have heard Dona Magdalena Murillo say that as a small child she remembers naked wild Indians coming onto the ranch on raids—killing and running off stock. She thinks they were Camulilas. This burial place may have marked one of those forays.

TOUGH ON CROOKS

If the Police Commission continues to let the Chief of Police alone this will become an uncomfortable town for thugs. Not a day passes without the capture of a wholesale criminal.

California is going to face a serious problem in finding a place to lock up all these life-termers. Most of them come from other places, but it will be for us to feed them for the rest of their worthless lives.

PROTEST HEARING DELAYED

The City Council yesterday deferred until January 28, the hearing of protests against the opening and widening of Albers street between Fulton avenue and Sunnyslope avenue and until February 10 the hearing of protests against the opening and widening of Broadway between Ninety-third street and One Hundred Twentieth street. Negotiations with the Los Angeles Railway, it was announced, may result in the saying of $250,000 to the city in the acquisition of the Broadway right of way.

LAWS MORATORIUM URGED

Hays Counsels Legislators Not to Enact Measures That Will Hamper Recovery

Belief that the State legislatures, soon to meet, should declare a moratorium for the next four months on all legislation which will add specific or general burdens on business was voiced by Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, when he arrived in Los Angeles yesterday for his usual midwinter visit to Hollywood.

Hays was accompanied by his bride, the former Mrs. Jessie Stutesman, to whom he was married on November 27, last.

"The legislatures can make their major purpose the efficiency and economy of their own State governments and see to it that industry is not handicapped by hindering laws," the film czar declared.

He declared that despite the business depression the industry still is making progress and that it looks forward to 1931 with confidence.

"Greatest promise of further development lies in the problems which the industry is called upon to solve," he said. "Because we represent something that is living and vital we will have problems next year and more the year after. This is wholesome. The sad thing would be if motion pictures found no more real difficulties to overcome.

"It would be absurd to underrate the difficulties and distress of the deflation period through which we are passing, but it would be equally absurd to give way to unfounded pessimism," he said. "I again assert that American prosperity will return strong and vigorous and without the demoralization of doles and confiscatory taxation.

TROLLEY-AUTO CRASH COSTS LIVES OF TRIO

Struck by a two-car limited at the Garey-avenue crossing of the Pacific Electric Railway in Pomona yesterday afternoon Eldridge R. Burley, 72 years of age, of 1212 North Sweetzer avenue, Hollywood, and two women companions were killed and the automobile in which the trio were riding was demolished.

The bodies of the two women were partially identified as those of Mrs. Burley and a nurse. One woman was about 70, and the other about 50, it was stated at the Todd & Reeves mortuary, Pomona.

All three victims were unconscious when removed from the wreckage and expired in Pomona Community Hospital.

The automobile was struck with such force that it was hurled into an electric power pole bordering the track, snapping the pole in two. The train was not damaged.

An effort was being made last night by the Coroner to make positive identification of the woman victims.

BEESEMYER BLIGHT WIDENS

United States Building and Loan Association in Receivership With No Loss Likely

The blighting shadow of Gilbert H. Beesemyer's embezzlement fell yesterday upon the United States Building and Loan Association, which he founded. With depositors of nearly half of its money calling for their cash the institution found itself unable to turn its assets into cash fast enough and went into a receivership yesterday.

United States District Judge James appointed Walter H. Comstock receiver and fixed bond at $250,000. Comstock accepted and is on his way from Yosemite Valley, where he was on business, to take charge of the association. He is expected to arrive today, file bond and assume control. Comstock until recently had been vice-president of Citizens' National Trust and Savings Bank since 1924 for which he handled mortgages and loans. Before that he was for many years vice-president and general manager of the Los Angeles-Salt Lake Railroad. He once was with Santa Fe Railroad in an important position.

WALTER H. COMSTOCK

The move for receivership was made by the Thomson Corporation, a $5000 creditor, through Attorney David R. Faries, who at the time was accompanied by Attorney Philip G. Smith for officers of the association who consented to the move.

At the same time most of those officers in the association who were officers also in the Guaranty Building and Loan Association, which Beesemyer confessed plundering to the extent of $8,000,000, resigned from the United States association, leaving it officered principally by persons not connected with the oth-

Bandit, Routed by Dog in Bank Hold-up, Identified as City Official

ROBBER TAKEN AFTER FLIGHT

Outlaw Shot While Pet of Patron Harries Him

Prisoner Found Paymaster of Public Works Board

The amazing revelation of a trusted paymaster in Los Angeles' service as a desperate bank bandit was effected yesterday partly through the dauntless courage of a 2-year-old police dog who, hearing the revolver fire of a hold-up at the Huntington Drive branch of the Bank of California, leaped at the criminal and with bared fangs managed to badger and harry him until the assistant manager of the bank was able to get in an effective shot.

The shot did not at once succeed in stopping the bandit, who had taken $1500 from the bank, but it did lead to his capture and identification as Robert H. Andrews, 45 years of age, who for the last four and a half years had been paymaster in the construction department of the Board of Public Works—a post at which he had busied himself up to within a half-hour of the time when, revolver in hand, he made a dramatic effort to rob the bank.

DOG TWICE HERO

Jerry, property of A. L. Hudson, operator of a service station at 4760 Huntington Drive, is the courageous police dog through whose assistance the suspect was brought to earth. Less than six months ago Jerry had dared the bullets of a bandit who had attempted to hold up the service station.

Yesterday he gladly accompanied his master when the latter went to the bank to make a deposit. Hudson, with Jerry at his heels, had finished his business at the bank and had just passed through the door on the return to the service station when a shot was fired inside the bank. Hudson whirled as other shots followed, one bullet grazing his head, but Jerry did more. Dashing back into the bank, he leaped, without instructions, at the man who later proved to be Andrews, and kept leaping at him despite the fact that the man fired one shot at the dog from a distance of less than two feet. Fortunately it missed.

RUNS TO CAR

Meanwhile F. T. Wallace assistant manager, who had already wounded the bandit in the hand, continued firing until one shot struck Andrews in the chest, causing him to give up the battle and run away unsteadily to where his car waited at the curb.

It was 12:30 p.m. when Andrews entered the bank, according to Captain of Detectives McCaleb, who later identified him as paymaster in the city's employ. Miss Elva Ball and Wallace, the assistant manager, were alone in the bank. Andrews approached Wallace and asked to have a bill changed.

REVOLVER DRAWN

Suddenly he drew a revolver from his coat pocket, leveled it at Wallace and demanded "all the currency in sight." For a moment, Wallace later declared, he hesitated, then quietly handed the bandit $1500 in currency. Andrews then cautiously backed toward the street door and as he whirled to rush through, Wallace snatched up a revolver and fired.

Andrews staggered as the bullet shattered his left hand, then lurched about and returned the assistant manager's fire.

It wa sat this point Jerry dashed in. Snarling, and with bristling fur, he leaped at the man, who fired at him point blank and kept stepping away to avoid the dog's fangs.

Wallace, taking advantage of the opportunity, took careful aim, and this time his bullet lodged in the bandit's chest.

DRIVES TO ROOM

Wallace managed to dash through the door notwithstanding his wound and staggered a half-block to his parked car, and drove to his room on La Mar street. There he staggered up to his landlady, Mrs. James Purdy.

"Get me a drink, quick," he gasped, according to her account to Detective Lieutenants McBride and Eaton. "A Mexican and a Negro held me up and I've been shot."

RUSHED TO HOSPITAL

Mrs. Purdy assisted the wounded man to a couch and then hastily telephoned police. An ambulance from the Pasadena-avenue Receiving Hospital rushed to the address. Andrews was nearly unconscious, the ambulance surgeon stated, when he and the driver placed him in the machine. A quick trip to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital and the paymaster was hurried on to an operating table.

A few moments later, when questioned by Capt. McCaleb, Andrews was able only to mumble his name. With the name and the registration in his car detectives shortly after identified him as a paymaster in the construction department of the Board of Public Works.

Meanwhile, McBride and Eaton, searching Andrews's room, reported finding the revolver with one shell discharged and the $1500 in currency in a bureau drawer.

HOUNDED BY COLLECTORS

Charles O. Brittain, superintendent of the bureau of construction of the Department of Public Works, where Andrews had been employed as a clerk in the pay roll department for five years, yesterday said that the wounded clerk-bandit had been harassed by bill collectors and attorneys for the past two years. Brittain said that Andrews had been estranged from his wife and had been given custody of their 6-year-old daughter.

"Andrews apparently was under a very great strain from the continual visits of bill collectors," Brittain continued, "and I know that this morning one of them threatened to garnishee his wages. He was paying the fees of attorneys who handled his divorce suit and in addition was paying $35 a month for the support of his little girl."

SOBS OVER DAUGHTER

A tragic scene was enacted last night at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where Andrews was lying in a supposed dying condition, when his daughter was brought to his bedside. The wounded man, unable to control himself, sobbed with his arms about his daughter. The girl was allowed to stay with her father for half an hour. Andrews then was given an additional sedative to lessen his pain.

He told hospital attaches that he hoped some provision could be made for the care of his daughter in the event of his death. "And even if I live," he added, "I am a ruined man and I suppose I will never see her again."

THROATS CUT OVER BOLOGNA

Two in Hospital After Three Men Quarrel Over Way to Eat Sausages

A three-cornered argument which was said to have centered about the merits of bologna as an item of food and the way it should be eaten ended with two of the disputants having their throats cut yesterday. They are Tony Melendes of 2636 Lancaster avenue and Alexander Orthelap of 1207 Ricardo street, who blame Jose Ayale of 3256 Malabar street with cutting them.

Ayale is sought by the police and the two others are in Georgia-street Hospital. They are expected to recover.

BANDIT VICTIMS NAME SUSPECTS

Dewey Gang Identified at Show-up as Robbers

Woman Warned of Death in Mystery Phone Call

Mexican Attackers Pointed Out as Hold-ups

In the glare of brilliant lights at Central Station last night robbery victims laid an accusing finger on all but one man of James Dewey's gang of asserted diamond thieves—revealing a series of violent crimes ranging from stripping jewels from women's fingers to posing as police officers in the Palos Verdes Hills and threatening to attack so-called petting-party victims if they failed to submit to being robbed.

To Dewey one crime in particular was attributed last night—that of entering an apartment with two of his confederates, Clarence Bickel and James S. Martin, and under threat of death stripping the fingers of Mrs. Jane Wilbraham, 2034 North Argyle avenue, of rings valued at $10,000.

WARNED OF DEATH

Mrs. Wilbraham, just before she left home last night to attend the bandit-suspect show-up, was warned by a telephone call "not to put your finger on anybody you might see down there or you will be found dead in an alley." The woman appeared at Central Station and unhesitatingly pointed out the three men as the asserted robbers.

Besides being identified with the diamond theft, Martin was pointed out by two other victims as the man who forced them at gun point to hand over their valuables.

Martin's brother, Henry R. Martin, was tabbed by a woman as the man who has created a reign of terror in the Palos Verdes district in an automobile equipped with red police spotlights and held responsible for a number of daring hold-ups during the last few weeks. The Martin brothers said they reside in Pasadena.

MEXICANS IDENTIFIED

The other two members of the Dewey gang, C. W. Bickel and Jerry L. (alias Robert) Murphy, were picked out by citizens as having robbed them. The only member of the gang not identified by any of the 500 persons who crowded night court and the show-up box last night was Victor Myers.

Dewey and his crew, including Maxine King and Lucille Meyers, were arrested Monday night in a raid on an exclusive Hollywood apartment-house. Dewey wrecked a police car on the way to Central Station in a desperate but unsuccessful effort to escape.

Three robberies were laid to Thomas Roach by citizens, while Olle H. Lewis was spotted as the perpetrator of one hold-up.

Viewed in the inner show-up box, Jesus Orosco and Salome Morales, Mexican confessed attackers of two Glendale girls Christmas Eve during a robbery, were identified by a Hollywood lunch-room operator as the men who robbed him a short time ago.

Dist.-Atty. Fitts and Chief Steckel appeared at last night's show-up, one that was considered as the most important conducted under direction of Capt. McCaleb in the new drive to rid the city of gunmen and thugs. Detective Lieutenants Weaver, Herhardt, Luquet and Conners were in charge of last night's show-up of a total of thirty-five suspects.

LYNCH THREAT ON PAIR FOILED

Accused Attackers of Girls Given Special Guards

Mexicans Will Make Pleas Friday Afternoon

Police Link Cafe Hold-up by Orozco Fingerprints

Jesus Orosco, 26 years of age, and Salome Morales, 24, charged with brutally assaulting two young Glendale girls and robbing them and their escort, yesterday were arraigned on the charges in Superior Judge Wood's court. Their pleas will be heard on Friday at 2 p.m.

The two men appeared to be nervous as they stood in the crowded courtroom, despite the fact that ten deputy sheriffs had been dispersed throughout the crowd to guard against violence. The special guard was provided hastily when the Sheriff's office received word from confidential sources that an attempt to lynch the two men was being planned.

DEFENDER APPOINTED

The indictments against Orosco and Morales were read by Harold Jones, deputy District Attorney. Both defendants announced that they had no money or property with which they might employ an attorney and Judge Wood appointed the public defender to give them legal advice.

The defendants are charged with holding up Miss Maxine Ungeheuer, 20, and her sister, Thelma, 19, of 420 East Lexington street, Glendale; and their escort, Rowland Oakley near Griffith Park on Christmas Eve, last. After robbing the trio, officers charge, the Mexicans criminally attacked the two girls.

LINKED TO HOLD-UP

Judge Wood also granted permission for police to remove Orosco and Morales from the County Jail whenever necessary to continue their investigation of other crimes attributed to them.

Checking Orosco's fingerprints with scores of others obtained by police in the investigation of numerous recent robberies and burglaries, Fingerprint Expert Barlow announced he had definitely connected the accused bandit attacker with the hold up and robbery of J. E. Odette and two waiters in Odette's cafe at 2433 Pletcher Drive, June 1, last.

Just after he had locked up the cafe and was getting into his automobile in front, Odette and his employees were held up by a lone bandit. The cafe man was robbed of $115. During the robbery the bandit touched one of his hands to the highly polished surface of the rumble seat of the car. A latent print taken from this impression, according to Barlow, compares exactly with Orosco's.

Orosco and Morales were expected to be identified in numerous other robberies and, possibly another attack, when included in a general public show-up at Central Police Station last night.

POLICE COMMISSION COMMENDS OFFICERS

Called before the Police Commission by Chief of Police Steckel for their untiring efforts and successful work in effecting the arrest and obtaining confessions from Jesus Orosco and Salome Morales, Acting Captain N. R. Hoff and Acting Detective-Lieutenant E. W. Kelm, D. V. Curry and O. N. Kriewald were publicly commended by President Drake yesterday.

Officer Eddie Romero, a fifth member of the group which effected the capture, was not present due to attendance in court, but also came in for complimentary remarks.

Chief Steckel pointed out that the five officers kept on the trail of the men without rest or sleep and did not quit until they had them indicted.

President Drake thanked the officers in behalf of the commission for their splendid work and its successful conclusion, commending them for their unselfish adherence to their duty regardless of long hours and lack of sleep and for the fact that they brought in their men.

per day to cut our present stocks by one-half.

"One of the biggest lessons learned by the oil men is that the reservoir from which oil is produced is the best storage, and I believe that storing of oil will cease in the future."

Production costs are expected to be reduced, Dr. Pogue said, through the unitization plan of developing oil pools. This method of control, he said, eliminates competitive drilling. The present system of competitive drilling brought about an overcapitalization of the oil industry and as a result there is an effort to get it out of its frozen state in the belief that it is an obstacle to all plans toward restoring the industry to a sound financial basis, Dr. Pogue declared.

Cash From Seal Sales Needed

An appeal to all residents of the city who have received a letter containing Christmas health seals from the Los Angeles Tuberculosis Association to remit at once was made yesterday by Mrs. R. D. Shepherd, member of the board of the association. Funds raised through the seal sale are the association's sole source of revenue which enables it to maintain numerous activities designed to prevent the spread of tuberculosis.

Mrs. Shepherd said one of the most important of the activities maintained by the association, is the San Gabriel Preventorium, an open air health camp for under-par boys, which has been conducted since 1916. One hundred boys are cared for at the present time.

Argentina Names Olympic Delegate

Appointment of Henry C. Niese, Argentine Consul, as official delegate from his country to the 1932 Olympic Games in Los Angeles was announced yesterday. The appointment was offered Mr. Niese by the committee of the tenth Olympiad of Argentina, and became effective when he was authorized by his government to accept.

COUNCIL GETS WOMEN'S PLEA

The Business Women's Legislative Council yesterday protested to the City Council against any proposed legislation discriminating against married women or interfering with the Constitutional rights of women to gain their livelihood. The Council referred the communication to the Efficiency and Personnel Committee.

thousands of visitors have arrived before dawn to assure themselves of a "newspaper" seat in the front row of curb spectators.

Forty-one municipalities and groups representing four Pacific Coast States will participate in the parade. More than fifteen special trains from the East will arrive here tomorrow bearing thousands of spectators. The Pacific Electric Railway plans to use 600 cars in transporting 75,000 residents of other Southern California communities to the Rose Tournament.

horizon for the motion-picture industry, but there is promise of the continuance of profitable employment for those associated with the business and the continuance of legitimate and sustained profits for those producers and exhibitors who serve the common cause of better entertainment and of good taste and good judgment in sensing the soundest elements of public appeal."

You can "Eat Your Cake and have it ...too"

MONEY HAS NO VALUE unless it works. Its worth is represented only in what it can be exchanged for.

Today . . . your money can be made to purchase a return of prosperity. And you don't have to spend it, either.

The money you save works just as hard for better times as the money you spend. In other words, "you can eat your cake and have it too." You can have the better times your money will buy . . . without spending it.

When you invest with STATE MUTUAL Building and Loan Association, your savings do not lie dormant. They finance homes. That puts people to work . . . lumbermen, contractors, plasterers, electricians, plumbers and so on.

Every man given employment has increased purchasing power. That makes more business. Better business reflects in better times for you.

But if you put your savings in a safe deposit box or an old stocking, they are useless as a mummy in a museum. If your money is afraid to work . . . men are denied employment. And that misfortune comes home to roost . . . because hard times effect you as well as the fellow out of a job.

STATE MUTUAL Building and Loan Association has been built on confidence . . . through forty-one years of service to three generations of California savers. For details of our strong financial position . . . our January first financial statement will be published within a few days. Our conservative management is evidenced in the personnel of our Directorate as listed below.

Funds placed with STATE MUTUAL up to and including January Tenth will earn interest from January First.

YOUR INSURANCE PROTECTION MUST NOT LAG

MODERN business is restless with ambition. Never still, never satisfied, it constantly seeks new methods, new appliances, new uses. A ceaseless reshaping of practices, readjustment of facilities.

Not only has modern business required new forms of indemnity, but new manufacturing processes and new buildings of undreamed proportions have brought new fire hazards.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE

has not only met the insurance requirements, but by research, engineering and laboratory tests has discounted the new hazards to such an extent that its average cost has constantly declined for more than twenty years.

Under the system of establishing fire insurance rates, Stock Fire Insurance company engineers have surveyed practically every commercial building in the United States, whether insured or not, and have on file minute details of construction, occupancy, protection, exposure and other information relating to fire hazards.

Stock Fire Insurance surveys buildings and their contents—studies neighborhood and community conditions—often advice — makes recommendations — points out hazards—establishes facts by which risks are measured.

To this end it maintains Underwriters' Laboratories, where thousands of materials and devices are tested for safety purposes, and, when approved, are so labelled.

In many other ways it contributes to commercial stability by providing standards of safety.

Today's Bible Text

Now is come salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of His Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast down, which accused them before our God day and night. And they overcame him by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony; and they loved not their lives unto the death.—Rev. xii:10.

BACKER

Headlines say that George Bernard Shaw backs up Sinclair Lewis in his diatribes against Americana. He would. He wrote up the delinquencies of his own father not long ago.

BADLY BATTERED

The British Parliament has adjourned for a holiday, but Premier MacDonald has little rest coming. He must repair his fortifications if he expects to withstand the Lloyd George assault, now emboldened by near-success.

A SEASON FOR HEAVYWEIGHTS

Fashions in the East are taking a sensible trend. Wool, all doiled up, is replacing silk for intimate undergarments. And, if history repeats itself, the new styles will be adopted in California, even if they are not needed.

TALK CHEAP? HUH!

In ten years from 1920 to 1930 the population of the United States increased about 15 per cent. But the number of telephone calls increased 110 per cent. We talked about 83,000,000 times a day. And we paid more than $1,000,000,000 a year to do it.

REIGN OF TERROR?

Details are coming to light of the cruel vengeance displayed by the soviet against the Czar and his family. The Chinese atrocities are also soviet inspired. And it makes us wonder what would happen to the world if the Communists could get a foothold in other countries.

"SEE AMERICA THIRST"

"See America Thirst" may be a humorous take-off of a west coast slogan; but poking fun at prohibition will hardly secure the sympathy of a vast number of movie patrons who respect the Constitution. It is difficult for folks who are dead in earnest to see the joke. There are other things to caricature.

OLD WOMAN IN SHOE

Mussolini in a country shaped like a boot acts the part of the old woman in the shoe. He has so many children he doesn't know what to do—41,000,000 to be exact. The shoe is getting tighter and the children are increasing at an alarming rate. They need a bigger and better boot. This accounts for the war rumblings—just the pinch of the shoe.

ON IDEAL HUSBANDS

It has been quite popular in the past for young unmarried women to advance the characteristics of an ideal husband. Just as some young bachelors know all about the qualifications of a perfect wife! But now comes a college professor who forsakes his logarithms and other things with which he is familiar to tell the women how to pick a husband.

The rare bird must be ambitious and industrious. He must hitch up to a big job and not loaf.

Then he must have a good disposition. As if any individual with ambition and industry could have a sweet disposition! Geniuses are noted for their rotten tempers. Even movie stars without other assets than a pretty face and figure are supposed to fly into fits of temperament. As for tact, the man of affairs usually leaves that to his wife—or the buffer in the outer office.

The perfect husband must also be healthy. Ambitious and industrious enough to twist all day on his revolving chair in the dim light and foul air of his office, he must be healthy enough to come home to roost with a glow on his cheek and verve in his action. He must arise in the morning after a night of wrestling alone with his business problems and be able to leap into the plunge for twenty-five yards in thirty seconds.

Finally he must allow his wife to audit his accounts, tell him when to invest and choose his secretary.

Professor, you may understand relativity, but you don't know husbands. As a husband picker, you are a fine fumigator of curricula.

THE COMING OF EINSTEIN

Dr. Albert Einstein, probably the world's best-known mathematical physicist, reaches San Diego today and is due in Pasadena this evening. His coming is a compliment of high order to Southern California, to Pasadena, and to the group of scientists congregated about the California Institute of Technology and the Carnegie Solar Observatory at Mt. Wilson. Southern California can best show its appreciation of the honor by giving him the sort of reception he most desires—to be left alone to distribute his own time and pick his own associates.

In keeping with his expressed wish there will be avoidance of all ostentation or parade during his Pasadena stay, and his place of residence is being kept a carefully guarded secret. No public appearances are planned for him and it is expected he will remain in relative seclusion during his entire visit. Any effort on the part of the general public to penetrate that seclusion would be annoying and discourteous. The occasion calls for a restraint that will prove that Southern California's hospitality is matched by its ability to be polite.

The theories for which Dr. Einstein is famous are a good deal of a mystery to most people, and probably will continue to be so, since only eight or nine persons in all the world are said to be capable of understanding all the implications of his generalised theory of relativity. While this theory, involving new concepts of time and space, is by no means universally accepted by scientists, evidence which appears to support it in important particulars is said to have been assembled in the past few years.

It is a commentary on the standing of California Institute of Technology that two of the men deemed capable of comprehending the Einstein theory are associated with it—Dr. R. A. Millikan and Dr. Albert A. Michelson. In fact, it was experimental data gathered by Dr. Michelson from which Dr. Einstein started. It is the presence of Dr. Millikan and Dr. Michelson here that is the magnet which draws Dr. Einstein. So that, during Dr. Einstein's stay, one-third of the top-ranking men in mathematical physics will be assembled in a single small spot on the globe's surface, and that spot will be in Southern California. It is a unique distinction.

What the Einstein theory, if it is eventually sustained by proof, may mean in terms of bread and butter, dollars and cents, is something that is as complete a mystery as the theory itself. Practically every discovery ever made in pure science, however, has found practical applications sooner or later, and if there is no evidence that the Einstein equations are useful, there is equally no reason for believing that they will not be. The world waited many years before putting to work the findings of Ohm, Faraday and Ampere, which today are the basis of a tremendous industry. Edison's sole contribution to pure science, neglected by himself, kicked around as a scientific curiosity for a generation until Fleming and DeForest turned it to use in new kinds of communication and control. The apparently useless discoveries of one generation have so frequently been found supremely important by the next, that decrying pure research as time-wasting has definitely gone out of fashion, at least with the informed.

So Dr. Einstein is entitled to his distinction and to the kind of a welcome he wants, even if his theory may some time be destroyed by criticism and found to have been based on mistaken premises. At the very minimum Einstein's accomplishment has stimulated an intense interest in a somewhat neglected field, in tilling which no one can estimate what treasures may be turned up. Its maximum is incalculable.

TEMPEST IN AN INKPOT

If by his weirdly worded attack upon the American Academy of Arts and Letters and upon our literature in general Sinclair Lewis thought to stir up the literary animals he certainly has had his wish. Judging by the interviews with leading writers and artists published in the eastern press, however, the repercussions amount to little more than a tempest in an inkpot. Few of those interviewed agree with Mr. Lewis and most of them return his satire with interest.

In his speech of acceptance of the Nobel prize the author of "Babbitt" said of the American Academy: "While most of our giants are excluded, the academy does, however, include three extraordinarily bad poets, two melodramatic and insignificant playwrights . . . and several gentlemen of whom, I sadly confess, I never heard."

Mr. Lewis is worrying because Theodore Dreiser, Henry L. Mencken, Vachel Lindsay, Edgar Lee Masters and a few other picturesque literary characters are not included in the academy. It is largely because of these very omissions that most judges of good literature in this country think well of the academy and they do not hesitate to say so in their interviews. At the same time they highly praise most of the writers who have been included. Among those who did not care to enter the arena either for or against Lewis were Sherwood Anderson, who referred to his attack as "unimportant," and Robert Underwood Johnson, who said the academy "is not expected to be infallible in the choice of members."

All the same, it would seem that if the academy persists in its practice of naming new members without the knowledge and consent of Mr. Lewis it is going to incur his further and perhaps permanent disapproval, which is terrible to contemplate.

THE DOUGHNUT HOLE

The trouble has been finally located. It is the hole of the doughnut.

One party sees the hole and the other the dough. Neither knows how the other half lives and society is rent into hemispheres.

Considerable discussion is rife over the size of the hole. Some say it should be smaller; there would be less hunger. There seems to be truth in the contention; for too many able-bodied citizens are devoting themselves to the hole. It has resolved itself into a lot of hot air entirely surrounded by mouth.

Then the other bloc refuses to divide up its substance with those who see nothing but the hole. The dough is the meat of the institution. Without it there would not be much of an institution. The dough says that if those who are eternally looking through the hole as a minifying lens would turn their attention to increasing the dough of the world, we should not be in the present straits. And there you are.

However, great good may come out of the stringency. All the gabble against the machine age is gratuitous. The holes are being driven into skilled employment. One answer is to learn to run the machine.

The world is no longer in much need of those who make nothing but holes. Almost any hobo can take a section of nothing and saw it off into a lot of holes. Selling holes by the job lot is poor business.

CITIES CLIMB

Cities now hold 56.2 per cent of all the population of the country. According to the 1930 census 68,995,521 folks live in town and 53,918,525 people dwell in rural sections. The total population is 122,775,046.

In 1920 the city population was 51.4 per cent, or nearly half and half between city and country.

California shows a greater disparity still. In 1930 we have a total population of 5,677,251. Of this 4,160,596 live in the city and 1,516,655 in the country. Or 70 per cent of the population of the Golden State is urban and but 30 per cent rural. And this in a State that has plenty of land! Ten years ago 68 per cent lived in the city.

The evident trend is toward the town. Several reasons may be assigned. The machine age has brought overproduction on the ranch. As a result the supply having exceeded the demand has lowered wages and lessened the cry for help. Then, too, the growth of population has automatically lifted former rural areas into the urban class without any actual migration.

And it is not so hopeless. While there may be temptations in the city not found in the country, there are also opportunities. It is normal for youth to go where things are moving. And events do move faster in the city than in the country.

Possibly in the future many may live in the country and have contact with the city by airplane. Other forms of rapid transit will shorten the distances from the wide open spaces to the congested centers. Radio, telephones and motor cars are making the hidden-away beauty spots in the hills more livable.

The balance will be preserved despite the scowling prophets. But with these statistics released, we may expect a flock of gloomy Jeremiahs.

OUT OF A JOB

Thief-detecting society disbands because there is nothing to do in the wide, open spaces. The pickings in the cities are too good.

The LEE SIDE o' LA
BY Lee Shippey

ALAS, this job of keeping up with the neighbors!

Being Scotch, we rather encouraged our children to make a playmate of poor little Mickey, reasoning that it wouldn't be so hard for them to keep up with him. But we just didn't know Southern California.

Thanksgiving morning Mickey was around at our house, all dressed up in nifty new clothes. We imagine the County Charities supplied them, but they were quite resplendent as compared to those our youngsters wore—not flashy, but thoroughly good, and spick and span with newness. As he looked at the turkey our helpspend was slipping into the stove he exclaimed:

"Gee! What a little turkey. You oughta see the swell big turkey we got."

And when Christmas came! Boy, you should have seen what was showered on Mickey Christmas Day. Half a dozen organizations had discovered Mickey, and before Christmas was over he was writhing in agony from his polite efforts to eat a little of all the good things thrust upon him. Poor little Mickey!

And don't dream that there is any snobbishness among the children of Ourville. All the children in town want to go over to Mickey's to play—because Mickey has the most and the nicest toys of any of them.

But yesterday poor little Mickey came around to our house again, and he was pleading for a dinner.

"Can I come over an' eat New Year's dinner with youse?" he asked, imploringly. "We're gonna have turkey again—an' a feller can stand just so much. I told mom yestiddy that I couldn't keep eatin' an' eatin' just to satisfy the folks that gives us stuff, an' she said the only way to get away from turkey an' mince pie was to go have dinner with some of the white-collar families, because the rich an' the unfortunate was bound to have more'n they could eat."

Hoofs and Horns

Frank King has gone to Tucson, Ariz., and we breathe easier, because Frank was threatening to shoot us on sight. Frank is one of the most picturesque figures in the West—part Cherokee Indian, a man who has had to do some quick shooting and whose career would make several books. But though he has had to make a few people cry he has made many thousands laugh, for he has a quaint and original gift of humor, and every reader of the Western Livestock Journal knows him as one who knows his stuff and can write it in the whimsical vernacular of the cow country. He is so well known around the Los Angeles Union Stockyards that when we wrote a piece about a man who happened to be part Cherokee scores of his acquaintances joked Frank about it, which was why he was promising to shoot us.

Frank has gone over there to become editor and owner of a paper, Hoofs and Horns, and we'll bet it will be a good paper. (Remember this when you think of shooting us, Frank.) It will be a live-stock journal edited by a man who has been a cowboy and a ranch owner and who knows the Southwest as only an Indian tracker could.

Golf in the Desert

We don't play golf, but if we did we'd like to play at a new golf course in Palm Springs. Because that is one golf course to which even the owner's daughter can't get a pass, and all the profits go to organizations which aid children, such as the Los Angeles Orthopedic Hospital-School, the Children's Home Society of the State of California, the Children's Hospital, the Salvation Army and the Halcyon Club.

Prescott T. Stevens created that golf course in the desert, on 160 acres of land he owned. It would have been easier to plant grapefruit trees there and bring them into bearing than to make grass grow. But Stevens thought the town needed a golf course, while he didn't need the 160 acres, anyway. Where trees are needed in the course, grapefruit trees are to be raised and the proceeds of their crops, too, will go to the children.

Almost this persuadeth us to be a golfer.

Joshua Little Says

Tender farewell to 1930: Well, thank heaven, that's over!

Personal interest warps judgment on everything. Ten noble horses may contend for a $50,000 purse, but it's the one you bet $2 on that you want to see win.

It isn't because I want to appear rich that I sometimes give the waitress a quarter tip. It's because I'm afraid that if I only give her a dime she will think I'm John D. Rockefeller.

Roger Babson says 1931 will be a year of vast opportunities. He's so wonderfully smart he knows that when a pendulum has gone as far as it can one way it has only one way to go.

Two men kidnaped a Chicago girl in her own yard. That may make a few more girls want to stay home once in a while.

ONE INDIAN

Ralph Farnum, well-known theatrical agent, has been found with the Piute Indians at the north end of Death Valley. Richard Dix, movie star, has been made a member of Vice-President Curtis's tribe, the Kaws. Thus we revert from time to time—or possibly ascend!

IS THERE ONE?

What Chicago needs in the way of a candidate for Mayor is a two-fisted man who can promise real administration of the office without fear of Caponeism. But the people must give such a Mayor a legislative body with plenty of good American "guts" to back him up.

CAN BELIEVE IT

Einstein says it is all a matter of relativity. After listening in on Los Angeles divorce court a few sessions and hearing the pestiferous testimony of relatives, it is not difficult to accept the German mathematician's theory.

MALCONTENTS
By James J. Montague

The poets envy sailors
Who plow the raging sea,
And butterflies that dip and rise
Across the lovely lea.
They envy soaring eagles,
With strong and outstretched wings,
That sweep the blue the long day through;
They're always envying things.

They wish that they were skylarks—
Sweet-voiced and light of heart,
Which get their fun from strains of unpremeditated art.
They wish, instead of poets,
That they were slender fauns,
And piped soft tunes to silver moons
On soft and grassy lawns.

They'd like to be swift reindeer
And race across the snow,
Where, keen and cold through wood and wold,
The winds of winter blow,
Or ducking, diving dolphins,
Which love to slip and slide,
While breakers comb in curls of foam
Upon the tossing tide.

They never are contented,
These folk of feet and rhyme,
With any lot they may have got;
They're envying all the time.
I often think that poets
Should have more self-restraint,
And not complain that they would fain
Be something that they ain't.

HIGH LIGHTS OF 1930

BY BAILEY MILLARD

Look back with me upon the faded scenes
Of nineteeen-thirty. Carp, you scornful deans
And lyrical smart Alecks—not for you
I bump the rhythmic bumps in rhymed review,
But for the real people of the land
Who'll bear with me, I know, and understand.

The year began with merriment and glee
Despite stock market doldrums, for you see
They cannot put this hopeful nation down,
Much less the folk of our proud white-spot town.
We lend no ear to noisy frogs that croak
And set up cries, "The whole blamed country's broke!"
What, broke, with wheat bins heaped, with oil-filled tanks
And fifty billion dollars in the banks?

The Chinese lords renewed their old-time scrap,
Chasing each other up and down the map.
And after they fixed up a sort of truce
The bandits and Red Communists broke loose,
And up to date still play the very deuce.

Bright Bobby Jones within the spotlight spun,
And then the Lindbergh baby had a run
As front-page feature, following Planet X,
To view which men of science strained their necks
And peepers, rubbering at starry specks.

I shall not sing of local grafting rings,
Of Julian messes or such rotten things.
The wet-and-dry fight? Kipling's muse might do it,
But I confess that mine's not equal to it.

In spite of all the world-peace resolutions
It was a banner year for revolutions.
Bolivia fought it out in that arena,
So did Brazil, Peru and Argentina.
They tried it on in Cuba, but in vain,
And lately they've been cutting up in Spain,
While India's giving John Bull quite a pain.

The gangster's game became so very hot
They even put a press man on the spot.
Capone flew the coop and wasn't tried.
It would have been a crime, but who'd have cried
Had that sleek chap been taken for a ride?

The summer was a hot one, and the drought
Caused many Midwest farmers to lose out.
Despite the dryness granaries were filled.
But market for the wheat was nearly killed.
In Congress farm-relief talk caused a schism;
Sometimes the speeches smacked of Coueism,
Containing much of silly syllogism.
At last they settled on a buying plan;
How 'twill work out please tell me if you can.
Andree and Byrd at home did both arrive,
The one quite dead, the other much alive.

Tom Lipton tried again the cup to lift,
But his new Shamrock didn't sail as swift
As our boat. Still the good old sport, so game,
Deserved a cup and got one, just the same,
Thanks to Will Rogers, he of movie fame.

The world-wide broadcasts were a dream,
A miracle, so marvelous they seem.
But that bright beaming radio star, Bob Shuler,
Blazed forth so hot they put him in the cooler.

We had tree-sitting, the endurance dance,
And Willie Hearst was kicked clear out of France.
Ben Lindsey, too, was swatted in the pants
When he in Manning's church took up his stance.

Disaster! Flooded cities, wrecks and quakes
And all the frightful toll the motor takes;
Scourges of flame and of the cyclone's lash;
And then that awful British airship crash!
We had enough of horrors for one year
Without those crime waves sweeping far and near.
But we were glad that bird girl in her plight
On southern seas came out of it all right.

The census gave L. A. a stunning score,
Twelve hundred thirty thousand souls and more.
And things here locally were going fine
When Aimee got back home from Palestine.
Then conversations of the carpers shifted
To rude remarks on "souls and faces lifted."

Dwight Morrow left his job in Mexico,
For to the Senate he had thought to go;
That selfsame thought did J. Ham Lewis think,
He of the flaming tie and whiskers pink.
Each made the grade, but Ruth McCormick stalled;
She wasn't to the august Senate called.
California by an unexpected whim
For Governor elected Sunny Jim.

For some whiles pee-wee golf was all the rage,
But lately it has failed to hold the stage.
It may return though in another age.

Nobel award to Lewis for his "Babbitt"!
I rarely swear, but 'twill become my habit
If more good prizes go to such a rabbit.

S. C. made hash of football foemen from
The north, but it was hashed in turn by Notre Dom.

A frenzied financier of Hollywood
Held out eight millions and could not make good
The graft. That's more than I shall ever fall for,
Believe me, friends, or ever go to jail for.

When Einstein came New York turned out to greet him;
He was so shy he'd hardly let them meet him.
When he comes here shall we know to treat him?

In Congress they were trying to undo
The economic work of Hoover who
These jobless people would relieve. By Gobs!
If he'd relieve those bloc men of their jobs
He'd rid us of some legislative slobs.
Let's all take hold and help him lay the wraith
Of gloom, and face the new year full of faith.
Our car of late's been playing ugly tricks,
But soon it will be hitting on all six.

WHERE CAN I LEARN
Sheet Metal?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

Sheet-metal layout practice on actual jobs is offered to all students in the sheet-metal class at the Vernon Trade Extension Center, corner of Vernon and Santa Fe avenues, Vernon City, on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, 7 to 9. There is no expense to the student except $1 for enrolling, as this class is supported by the State. Men of all ages are welcome.

Beginners may enter and also men of several years' experience in this trade. The work is all individual and the journeyman teacher goes from one worker to another, showing short-cut methods and giving advice about securing jobs and making good on them.

There will be study of methods in outside jobbing, architectural work, skylight, marquee, metal windows, ventilators, building trim, exhaust and blow piping, indirect heating and ventilating, advance triangulation and mathematics relative to the sheet-metal trade for general estimating and business practice.

Flowers Aid Swiss Paving

Flowers are being used by l'Etivaz, Switzerland, to raise funds for paving the main highway which runs through the little village. Tourists passing through on pleasant Sunday morning are greeted at the outskirts by signs, decorated with flowers and invited to notice the well-paved street, which is new and kept constantly clean. At the village square girls in national costumes sell small bouquets of mountain flowers to the visitors, the proceeds going to the road-building fund of the village.

A NEW YEAR

Everything will be all right when this old year's out of sight, and the new one comes along, vibrant, beautiful and strong. Now the old year's gone, is lost, we admit it was a frost. It was hoodooed from the start with a panic in the mart before it had its birth, with depression round the earth. Countless men had lost their jobs and had trouble in their nobs. "We are ruined now," they cry, "and the tall goes with the hide." Talk of trouble filled the air, grief was rampant everywhere, so this old year started in with but little chance to win. Now we welcome 1931 and expect all kinds of fun; we leave our fears behind, we are in the frame of mind to resume the old-time gait, and keep our smiles on straight. When we are resolved to smile over troubles pink or vile, when we are resolved to spurn those woes will multiply, turn contagious, like the flu, and make the country blue, we are resolved to show that we can't be bluffed by woe, that we do not care a hang for sorrow and his gang, such a spirit also finds backing in advanced minds, and banishes the haunts of men blues from the boom again. So we welcome this new year with no panic fear; things are going to improve, trade will have a better groove, there'll be no call to toast and quaff in the poorman's dinner pail, looms weaving in the mill where looms were standing still, will work and draw their pay and the cow will have its hay and the roosters of the farm may crow to beat the alarm.

RECEIVER AIDED BY DEFAULTER

Beesemyer Explains Funds Disposal to Kemp

Conference Aims to Save Guaranty Assets

Hollywood Bank Will Be Open to Claimants

Gilbert H. Beesemyer yesterday commenced a detailed story of the disposition of the $8,000,000 he stole from the Guaranty Building and Loan Association. Taken from his cell in the County Jail to the District Attorney's office the convicted embezzler poured his story of frenzied oil operations, gold mine promotions, side-line railroad developments and others places where he tied up huge sums of money, into the ears of receivers for the defunct company, who hope to recover as much of it as possible.

The tale of loose-flung millions was told to A. N. Kemp, receiver; Walter K. Tuller and Louis W. Myers, attorneys for Kemp, and Chief Deputy District-Attorney Stewart, Attorney Le Compte Davis, representing Beesemyer, and Attorneys David Faries and Caddy Works, associated with Tuller and Myers, also were present.

"Beesemyer gives every evidence apparently of telling the truth and evinces a willingness to help in every way he can," declared Tuller when late in the afternoon the first day's conference had ended. "He answered all of our questions without hesitation."

INTERESTS RECEIVER

While the details of Beesemyer's revelations were not made public, they were apparently of considerable interest to Receiver Kemp, as it was announced that the conference with the defaulter will be continued again this afternoon. It was learned, also, that Beesemyer, scheduled to start for San Quentin prison Friday morning to commence a term of from 10 to 100 years, may be brought back to Los Angeles later to give further aid to the receivers.

"Many of the deals Beesemyer engaged in were involved and he could give us valuable information in unraveling them and thus salvaging as much of the money as possible," said Tuller.

While the receiver and the District Attorney were busy figuring how to save as much as possible from the wreck of the Guaranty company, the grand jury spent yesterday rounding out a report on the Beesemyer case which is known to contain suggestions for future legislation that the jurors believe, if followed, would avert further defalcations of the kind. The report, it was rumored, will probably be made public Friday.

BANK LIQUIDATION

A third agency was busy yesterday, also, trying to save money for investors in another institution controlled by Beesemyer. M. M. Ewing, appointed receiver for the Bank of Hollywood, which Beesemyer founded, said yesterday that he expected to place in the mails today claim blanks to the many depositors, and that the doors of the bank probably will be opened from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday, and each successive business day, for the filing of the blanks. Ewing is now engaged in liquidation of the bank's assets.

While the bank was in the process of liquidation yesterday an involuntary petition in bankruptcy, directed against Beesemyer personally, was filed by Attorney Hiram Casey, acting in behalf of a number of persons whom Casey said were personal creditors of the embezzler. United States District Judge Cosgrave set a hearing on the petition for January 3, but Attorney Casey said that no effort will be made to detain Beesemyer from going to San Quentin as he believes it will be unnecessary for the defendant to appear at the bankruptcy proceeding.

EMBEZZLEMENT BLIGHT WIDENS

Beesemyer Thefts Result in New Receivership

United States Building and Loan May Avoid Loss

Walter Comstock Chosen to Handle Affairs

er Beesemyer association. The remaining officers announced that neither embezzlement nor defalcation has been found in the United States organization and that depositors will lose nothing, or at worst but a small amount.

The application for receivership says that of the thousands of depositors in the association who had put in a total of $7,379,704, depositors of almost $4,000,000 have filed immediate claims for their money and so put it face to face with a perilous condition. Then followed, necessarily, it was explained by the attorneys, the receivership move to conserve its assets. Semiannual interest payments totaling $165,000 are due today, the complaint sets forth.

DOORS TO STAY OPEN

The doors of the main institution, 735 West Seventh street, are not to close, it was announced, but under the receiver the association will continue to do business and carry out plans intended to prevent any losses. This applies also, of course, to the branch offices at 607 South Spring street, 6651 Hollywood Boulevard, Wilshire Boulevard and La Brea avenue, and to those in San Francisco, Oakland, San Diego, Bakersfield and Pasadena, or in all, nine offices in six cities.

At the time that Beesemyer threw terror into those financially interested in his several ventures by confessing to looting the Guaranty association of $8,000,000, officers of the United States Association were Orville L. Routt, president; Beesemyer, executive vice-president; Harry E. Blythe, Walter P. Story, W. R. Kilgore, Charles L. Swanton, vice-presidents; Frank M. Wise, secretary; R. A. Brant, treasurer; G. R. Dexter, E. B. Gilmore, R. N. Stevenson, Dr. Paul B. Roen, Albert E. Colburn, Frank Muller, C. C. Albright, Charles R. Stuart, Jerry P. Shields, Harry E. Jones, George Haberfelde, A. Z. Taft, Jr.; Frederick G. Leonard, and Joseph Redlick, directors.

Of that list Routt, Story, Kilgore, Wise, Brant, Gilmore, Stevenson, Colburn, Blythe, Albright and Swanton remain, the others having resigned. The latter had the misfortune to have been officers also with Beesemyer in the Guaranty association.

Taking cognizance of the receivership move, the officers of the association explained that they interposed no objection "because of the large number of notices of intention to withdraw (deposits) which were occasioned by Beesemyer's connection with this association and further because it is felt that it would be for the best interests of the investors."

STATEMENT MADE

"The association," their statement continues, "began business in April, 1927, having been organized by Beesemyer in February, 1925. Ninety per cent of the stock of the association has been and still is owned by a holding company, which was to underwrite operations of the association for a period of years. The holding company was controlled by Beesemyer and is in no position to continue its financial support as in the past, which is essential to carry on the business of the association.

"Immediately upon Beesemyer's admission of defalcation of funds of the Guaranty Building and Loan Association, the officers of the United States Building and Loan Association of Los Angeles employed George M. Thompson and Associates, certified public accountants, to audit the books of the association, and also employed Elvon Musick for legal advice. After a two weeks' investigation, the accountants state that they have found no evidence of embezzlement or defalcation.

"Every effort is being made to reorganize the association, in which case the receivership should be of comparatively short duration and no loss will be suffered by any of the depositors. If this should not prove feasible and the receiver should decide to liquidate, there may be a small loss to depositors."

The "holding company" referred to is the United States Guaranty Corporation, officered by Beesemyer, Routt, Taft, Stuart, Dexter, Jones and Leonard.

State Building and Loan Commissioner Whitmore, when he learned of the action in Federal Court which took the association out from under State control, issued a statement in which he said the Federal move will not be contested by the State. He stated that the audit is uncovering some impairment in the paid-in capital of the association.

Referring to the action for Federal receiver control, Whitmore said:

"This action will under the circumstances be accepted as tending at this time to conserve the assets of the association and to insure a proper distribution to creditors in the event the association is not able to perfect plans which it is engaged upon to reorganize and continue in business.

"The association is faced with a large volume of thirty-day withdrawal notices which it was having trouble securing the cash to meet on account of the impossibility under present financial conditions to dispose of loans in large enough blocks to meet such an unusual withdrawal demand. Furthermore, an examination of the association now in progress by representatives of the division of building and loan supervision, and also an audit being carried on by a firm of certified public accountants, was developing with certainty the fact that an impairment in paid-in capital exists. These two conditions have moved both the association's directors and the Building and Loan Commissioner to acquiesce in the application for a Federal receiver above referred to.

"Nothing revealed by the examinations in progress has indicated any transactions of a criminal nature. The association, however, was affiliated with the Beesemyer group through capital stock ownership and it was, therefore, adversely affected by the conditions discovered in the Guaranty Building and Loan Association.

RAPID EXPANSION

"The United States Building and Loan Association had adopted a plan of rapid expansion by mergers with other associations and by the independent establishment of branches. Control of the association was vested in the United States Guaranty Corporation, which owned most of the leaseholds occupied by the association and which was organized to underwrite any operating losses sustained by the association during its expansion period.

"The association in its September 30 quarterly statement reported assets of $8,225,085.33 and an investment certificate liability of $7,440,320.31. Its paid-in guarantee capital amounted to $500,000. On this date also the association reported cash on hand in bonds and certificates of $1,074,115.12, and a current liability in loan commitments of only $248,742.34. The association reported no note liability or bank overdrafts.

"It is impossible to determine until after a complete appraisal of the loans and other assets what return may be anticipated by the investment certificate holders, but on the face of the figures no large loss need be anticipated. However, this office is informed that for some time the directors of the association have been working on plans to reorganize, and are still hopeful of final success, in which case it is anticipated that there would be no loss.

"The association has a strong board of directors."

Banker Files in Bankruptcy

J. N. Robinson, a banker of Huntington Park, yesterday filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. The petitioner recites liabilities of $618,262.13, but no assets. Most of the creditors are residents of Globe and Phoenix, Ariz., and Big Pines, Tex.

The petition was filed by Thomas V. Cassidy and Wallace T. Mills, attorneys for the petitioner.

MOTHER SEEKS SONS HERE

Aid in finding the whereabouts of her former husband and two sons is asked by Mrs. Mollie Jones of Doldinville, Okla., formerly of San Antonio, Tex. Her ex-husband, Harry K. Oliver, is described as being 6 feet 2 inches in height, weighing approximately 240 pounds, and of light complexion. The boys are Richard, 11 years of age, blue eyes, light hair, and Harry, 15, blue eyes, brown hair, and wearing glasses. Mrs. Jones believes the trio is either in Los Angeles or Pasadena.

EX-EDITOR OF "JUDGE" SUCCUMBS

William J. Arkell Dies After Short Illness; Body Will Be Sent East

William J. Arkell, one-time editor of Judge and of Leslie's Weekly and prominent during the nineties as a newspaper publisher, died yesterday at 74 years of age at the Good Samaritan Hospital after a short illness. Mr. Arkell had been a resident of Los Angeles for ten years and until recently was actively engaged in the direction of a number of large eastern companies.

He was born in Canajoharie, N. Y., the son of the late Senator James Arkell, who was known as a leader in New York State politics. Both he and his father were interested in newspaper enterprises in their home State and for a number of years after 1883 were the owners of the Albany Journal. Senator James Arkell was credited with the invention of the paper bag and controlled several companies which manufactured that product.

William J. Arkell became editor of Judge in the early nineties and later of Leslie's Weekly. He was associated on both papers with his brother-in-law, Bernard Gillam, cartoonist, during the time of the weekly's greatest popularity during the Spanish-American War.

With the sale of his magazines early in the present century, Mr. Arkell became interested in the manufacture of tropical products. He was one of the founders of the American Chicle Company and was associated with his brother, Bartlett Arkell, in the Beechnut Packing Company. Mr. Arkell in addition, was the inventor and manufacturer of a patented coffee beverage.

In addition to the widow, Mrs. Minnie C. Arkell, he leaves a son and daughter. They are James Arkell and Mrs. Arthur L. D. Warner.

Funeral services will be conducted on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Breese Brothers' chapel, 855 South Figueroa street. The body will be sent to Mr. Arkell's birthplace in Canajoharie, N. Y., on January 6, next.

CONTROL URGED

While the smoke continued to boil up from the smudge pots, the Pomona City Council—in accord with a resolution passed two weeks ago—made arrangements with the agricultural committee of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce to arrange meetings to attempt better control of the smudging, and eliminate as much as possible of the smoke.

The committee of the chamber is urged by the Pomona Councilmen to call a meeting of all city officials, city attorneys and Chamber of Commerce directors and secretaries from the citrus region south of the Tehachapi Mountains with a view toward controlling the wholesale smudging.

RAIN AND SNOW FORECAST IN NORTH

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30. (Exclusive)—The back of the record cold wave in Northern and Central California is breaking tonight and the Weather Bureau predicts rising temperatures with rain in the lowlands and snow in the mountains to usher in the new year. Rain and snow will arrive tomorrow, Forecaster Bowie said, and undoubtedly will reach the north coast and the Siskiyous and Cascades during the night.

An idea of the widespread welcome awaiting the rain and snow is evident in the stations reporting subfreezing temperatures again last night. They included Soda Springs, with its minimum of 1 deg. above zero; Oakland Airport, Red Bluff, Sacramento, San Jose, Chico, Colusa, Del Monte, Independence, Lindsay, Merced, Orland, Oroville, Paso Robles, Porterville, Rocklin, Santa Rosa and Stockton.

SOUTHERN FLORIDA SEES JACK FROST

MIAMI (Fla.) Dec. 30. (AP)—Frost as far south as Moorehaven, on the shores of Lake Okeechobee, was reported to the United States Weather Bureau here today.

That area is the South Florida trucking belt, but no mention was made regarding the extent to which crops suffered.

More frost and continued cold were forecast for tonight in the Everglades region west and southwest of Miami.

JUDGE, YOU SURE SAID SOMETHING

Man Wed Thrice in Five Years Should be Examined Rules Jurist

When a man marries three women during a period of five years it is only reasonable that he should be examined mentally, Superior Judge Walton Wood declared yesterday as he issued an order confining Donald Hartman, 31 years of age, to the psychopathic ward of the General Hospital for observation.

Hartman originally pleaded guilty to one count of bigamy and asked for probation but yesterday he was granted permission to change this plea to not guilty by reason of insanity.

The probation report states that Hartman married Rachel Lumford on September 30, 1925; Winifred de Rosa on February 19, last; and Blanche Ellen of San Diego on September 10, last.

ARRESTS ECHO GAIN IN CRIME

Year's Robbery and Burglary Total Up Nearly 1000

Police Jail 1592 More on Charges of Felonies

Traffic Deaths for 1930 to Show Decrease

While the crimes of burglary and robbery increased to nearly 1000 more in 1930 than in 1929, police made 1592 more felony arrests in the last twelve months' period than in the year before, according to a brief report released yesterday by Police Statistician Rhoda Cross.

The report includes criminal and police activities up to and including the 29th inst.

Robberies totaled 2053 in 1930 and 1277 in 1929. Burglaries increased to 6428 as compared with 5652 in 1929.

Automobile thefts showed a slight decrease, 9799 being reported this year and 9987 last year.

ARREST 76,933

Felony bookings this year were 10,482. In 1929 they totaled 9260. A grand total of all crime bookings, including felonies, was given as 76,933 in 1930 and 74,567 in 1929. These bookings do not include, however, the thousands of traffic citations issued.

Murders increased to 62 as compared with 58 reported in 1929.

Deaths and injuries in traffic and in number of traffic accidents all showed a decline. A total of 407 deaths this year showed a decrease of 25 as compared with 432 in 1929. Persons injured this year totaled 12,268, as compared with 12,510 last year. The number of accidents was given as 15,747 this year and 16,081 in 1929.

TWO HOTELS ROBBED

Daylight robbery of two hotels yesterday morning culminated a series of sixteen hold-ups which started at 8 p.m. Monday and swelled this month's record-breaking total to 365, an increase of 96 as compared with 267 reported for the same period last month, and an increase of 212 when compared with the total of 153 reported in the first twenty-nine days of December last year.

Hold-ups in the hotels were perpetrated by the same pair of bandits, police believe. In the Del Mar Hotel at 1026 West Third street they robbed A. S. Teck, night clerk, of $27, and in the Kipling Hotel at 4077 West Third street they obtained $60 from S. Spurk after threatening him with pistols.

DRUGGIST BOUND

Shortly before the hotel robberies E. M. Dahlquist, followed by two bandits from his pharmacy at Sixth street and Union Drive to his home at 1417 Acacia street, was dragged into the basement, bound, gagged and threatened with death.

"Where's the bag?" one of the pair demanded. When the druggist declared he had brought no money home with him the bandits again threatened to "plug" him and then left empty-handed.

FIGHT OVER CHILD WILL GO TO COURT

Wife and Friends Rout Barefoot Husband and Brother in Battle

Details of a "barefoot battle" over the custody of Mrs. Violet Gordon's 8-month-old child will be heard in the Belleflower justice court Friday when Mrs. Gordon and her relatives face charges of her husband, Jason Gordon, that she and her mother, Mrs. Bertha Williams, started a fight.

Further action by Mrs. Gordon, 18 years of age, to recover custody of her child is expected in Superior Court, according to A. Brigham Rose, Mrs. Gordon's attorney.

Mrs. Gordon went to the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Dolly Gordon, with three friends and demanded the child. The sister-in-law instead produced a pistol and threatened to shoot, according to the young mother. Thereupon someone grabbed the gun and just then Gordon, with his brother, both barefoot, appeared on the scene.

In the resultant fracas the warriors with shoes routed the barefoot forces by stepping on their toes, but the child was not produced. Assault charges followed and Mrs. Gordon declared she will ask a writ to produce her child in court.

Wallace Smith Sails on Sojourn

For once Wallace Smith, novelist, cartoonist, film writer and former reporter, will have no "deadline" for copy. He and Mrs. Smith sailed on the Panama Mail liner Ecuador Monday for a protracted period of play. They will visit Mexico, of which Smith wrote two books once, and may wind up in New York, but Hollywood is home.

"Framed," for which he wrote the scenario and dialogue for R.-K.-O., is his favorite; other outstanding efforts of his are "The Dove," "The Gaucho," "Two Arabian Knights," and his latest, "Children of the Streets."

Dance Creator Seeks Divorce

Dancing the "Charleston" isn't work, according to Mrs. Dena Tyor, wife of Leo Tyor, whose real name is Gene La Verne, and who first developed the once popular dance step during his career on the vaudeville stage.

Mrs. Tyor continually objected to her husband's profession, he testified, advising him to engage in some other activity where it might be said he was "working." She continually urged, he said, that he "settle down" and run a store or something else for which he was not fitted, he said. The couple were married April 27, 1921, and separated December 19, 1929.

LASKY WILL STAR PAUL LUKAS

Joan Blondell Will Enact Lead in "The Public Enemy;" William Haines to Play in Story Laid in India; Radio Purchases "It Would All Depend"

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

An oddly lucky career has been that of Paul Lukas, Hungarian actor. Not that anybody is denying his superlative talent, too, but simply it isn't every talented foreign player who has had his 100% fortune. And his well-deserved good fortune is mounting, for Paramount is preparing to star him, we learned yesterday.

PAUL LUKAS

In the meantime the actor is being signed by that organization on a new long-term contract. His next assignment will be a featured role of an underworld king with Clara Bow in her next starring vehicle.

Lukas came here from his native Hungary while Pola Negri was a reigning star with Paramount. He appeared in a picture with her, making an instant success. When talking pictures came in, and as he spoke with an accent, it looked for a while as though his star was setting. However, he was assigned a role in one of the talkers, and achieved success even among English-speaking players. It is said to have been his excellent work in "The Right to Love," which determined Paramount officials to groom him for stardom.

JOAN BLONDELL HAS LEAD FOR WARNERS

That pleasing young actress, Joan Blondell, who has been appearing on the stage and registering success, has just been signed by Warner Brothers to play the leading role in "The Public Enemy" it was announced yesterday by Darryl Zanuck. Eddie Woods has the juvenile lead.

Archie Mayo will direct the picture, the story of which is adapted from an original tale by John Bright and Cubie Glass.

Another important member of the cast will be James Cagney who scored in "The Doorway to Hell."

BILL HAINES STARS IN INDIAN STORY

It looks as though Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer means to make a dramatic star of William Haines.

WILLIAM HAINES

At any rate his next starring vehicle sounds like a serious one. It is being written by the Indian writer, Lal Chand Mehra, and Alice Duer Miller, and its locale is India. It is so far untitled.

Haines has long been considered a comedian, but certain phases of his recent work have shown him to be possessed of dramatic possibilities.

Radio Buys New Yarn

Radio, we learned yesterday, has just bought a story written by Daisy Wolfe and Albert Payson Terhune.

It is entitled "It Would All Depend," and may serve as a starring vehicle for Richard Dix, although this is not yet decided upon.

Dix's next picture is "Big Brother." His latest success is in "Cimarron."

Bebe Daniels's New One

Bebe Daniels is to star in Warner Brothers' "The Maltese Falcon," we learned yesterday. The picture story is adapted from the popular yarn of Dashiell Hammet. The tentative name of the picture is "Bad Women." The story was supposed to have been purchased as a starring vehicle for John Barrymore, but apparently, the woman's role is paramount, and, therefore, the story was transferred to a woman star.

BEBE DANIELS

Dudley Murphy Writes Them

Dudley Murphy, the clever writer who has been distinguishing himself in the picture world during the past four or five years, has lately been signed by Metro - Goldwyn-Mayer.

DUDLEY MURPHY

Murphy is engaged at present in writing a series of sports stories, the first of which is "Fore," a golf story, as you will have guessed from the title. He will also direct the picture.

Leo Diegel, professional golfer; John Mack Brown, Dorothy Jordon and Cliff Edwards make up the excellent cast.

Wynne Gibson in It

Wynne Gibson, newest member of Paramount's family of contract players, yesterday was assigned to

THE PERFECT SIN
THAT they had sinned there was no denying... but their sin was one committed in love; so true, so great, so perfect... that The Examiner Himself couldn't judge them.

"LIGHTNIN'" WILL START TOMORROW

Will Rogers's New Film Vehicle Slated to Prove Fine New Year Fare

Local theater-goers are planning to start the new year right, according to the management of the Carthay Circle Theater, which announces that advance reservations for "Lightnin'," starring Will Rogers, are the heaviest in many months.

The noted humorist's new screen vehicle, which opens tomorrow, proved successful on the stage and will continue to do so in film form, it is indicated. "Lightnin'" presents Rogers in the title role as Lightnin' Bill Jones. The talented character actress, Louise Dresser, plays opposite, and the cast also includes Helen Cohan, Joel McCrea, Joyce Compton, Rex Bell, Jason Robards, Sharon Lynn, Ruth Warren, Frank Campeau and Goodee Montgomery.

In conjunction with the showing of "Lightnin'" the Carthay Circle announces a surrounding program replete with entertainment. Benny Rubin plays the leading role in a short subject, "The Snappy Caballero." Abe Lyman and his orchestra will continue their popular engagement also.

"Min and Bill," the current offering, closes with a gala New Year's Eve midnight matinee tonight.

Orchestra of Girls Booked as Chief Act

Composed of twenty-one talented girl musicians, "The Ingenues" heads the vaudeville unit opening tomorrow at the R.-K.-O. Theater. Last showings of Evelyn Brent in "Madonna of the Streets," and the vaudeville unit headed by Peter Higgins will be today.

"The Ingenues" organization is considered one of the most unique orchestras of the stage. Its members were selected from musical conservatories and colleges over the country, Mims Smith is featured.

The incoming screen feature is "The Cohens and Kellys in Africa," the latest misadventures of the two film partners, George Sidney and Charles Murray. In the Universal comedy, the team is supported by Vera Gordon and Kate Price.

Colored Troupe to Entertain at Chinese Theater

A noted colored vaudeville troupe, the Norman Thomas Quintet, has been added to the list of performers who will appear at the midnight show of the Chinese Theater tonight.

The quintet will share headline honors tonight with Joyzelle, exotic interpretive dancer. Other additional acts will include Lee Wilmot, dancer, and the Ham and Egg Twins.

Added film fare at the midnight show will include a fifteen-year-old feature picture starring Mary Pickford. Modern dialogue has been added.

The first evening show at the Chinese tonight will be devoted to an Alabama University football rally.

Western Stars Will Announce Midnight Show

A cavalcade of western motion-picture players will parade down Broadway today announcing the New Year's Eve midnight revel which the Hollywood "49" Club is sponsoring at the Million Dollar Theater tonight.

The Arizona Horsethieves, noted cowboy band, will play for the procession, consisting of more than twenty cars, in which will be members of the club.

Princess Wyhnemah, from Claremore, Okla., will also appear. This Indian princess from the Cherokee tribe is an accomplished singer and dancer.

District Houses Plan Late Bills

Theatergoers may ring out the old year right in their own community, according to announcements from the managers of the Fox district show houses.

Gene Morgan will act as master of ceremonies at the Boulevard Theater midnight show, and will greet his many friends from that community. "Remote Control," is the screen attraction.

Sol Lowe and his band, heading a special Pantchon and Marco stage show, with George Bancroft on the screen in "The Derelict," is announced for the Manchester Theater. The Golden Gate Theater plans a novel stage show with headline acts. Helen Twelvetrees in "The Cat Creeps," is the screen attraction.

"Big Money" is the feature at the Adams Theater.

The Mesa Theater will show "Up the River," with Spencer Tracy and Warren Hymer. A musical show is also planned to add to the festivities. Conrad Nagel in "Today" has been booked for the late show at the Belmont Theater.

SOPRANO RECORDS AT M.-G.-M. STUDIO

Rose Dirmann, lyric soprano, is engaged in the solo song recording work of "Bachelor Fathers," now being filmed by M.-G.-M. Miss Dirmann recently finished work in "A Lady's Morals," also produced by M.-G.-M. In the latter production she sang the role of the opera star who sang in competition with Grace Moore.

Favorite Plays "Part Time Wife"

Leila Hyams

Has the feminine lead in the new Fox picture which starts tonight at a gala midnight show at Loew's State Theater. Edmund Lowe enacts the chief male role.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

HARRY GREEN, that comical fellow with the Jewish accent and manners, who is best known about these parts for his work in pictures, is coming to town in a new play.

HARRY GREEN

It is "The Shyster," a comedy of Manhattan life, by the Spewacks (Samuel and Bella.). Now at the Geary Theater in San Francisco, where it opened to generally good notices Saturday night, it seems headed for the Belasco Theater here in from three to four weeks. Or, in other words, it probably follows "Up Pops the Devil."

Not only does Harry Green play the title role, but he owns a chunk of the show along with Joseph Schenck, the motion-picture producer. They plan to make it into a picture following the stage run.

Thomas Jackson, who played the slow-spoken detective in the original company of "Broadway," also in the movies, is an important character in the piece. So is Miss Willette Morris, sister of Chester Morris. And so are Al Hill, George Haines, Donald Gallagher and Emmett King. In all, there are thirty-one characters.

I haven't seen "The Shyster," but they do say it is about an energetic, excitable little Jewish lawyer who falls in love with a girl whose thoughts are elsewhere. The various scenes are laid in the lawyer's office, in a gambling resort and in a courtroom.

First Rehearsal Held

The first rehearsal for "Once in a Lifetime," comedy of Hollywood, was held yesterday. And with difficulty.

Not all of the sixty-three speaking parts have been cast yet. And what is worse, one of the principals, Roberta Arnold, had to depart town suddenly yesterday for London where her husband, John Willard, the playwright, has been taken ill. The defection of Miss Arnold has left things in somewhat of a hole.

Moss Hart, 24-year-old author of the play, is helping direct along with Robert B. Sinclair, imported from New York. And Sid Grauman, who owns western stage rights, is very much in evidence.

"Once in a Lifetime" will arrive at the Mayan Theater on January 26.

"Trader Horn" Soon

The latest dope on "Trader Horn" coming to the Chinese Theater is that it will arrive January 20. It may be decided to extend the run of "Morocco," in which case "Trader Horn" will come a little later.

MARLENE DIETRICH

"Morocco" has been a surprise picture. It has held up to excellent business, outstaying a couple of films which it was originally predicted would top it. What is more interesting, although it isn't generally known, is that "Morocco" was not produced originally by Paramount as a "special." The studio didn't know they had a special until the preview and saw the work of that German flame, Miss Marlene Dietrich.

Chicago Opera Coming

One of the town's visitors this week is Chicagoan Homer Saunders, who is here to advance the cause of the Chicago Civic Opera. He is preparing Los Angeles for a week of grand opera to begin February 23, and to be held this year in the large Shrine Auditorium. Muzio and Schipa will head the casts, he says, and the novelty of the season will be Straus's "Rosenkavalier."

Musical Show Previewed

According to advance notices, there will be quite a show at the Play Shop, 1141 North Gower street, this evening, when a special New Year's Eve preview of "The Eleven Fifteen Revue" is held.

The Play Shop, which usually goes in for amateur performances, has mustered a fairly large cast of professionals for this show, including Mildred Harris, Shannon Day, Leonard Gillman, Sanford McCauley, Elaine Eadale, Mlle. June, Frances Logan and others. Music, including twenty song numbers, was composed by Warburton Guilbert, Jack D. Allyn and John Rox. Gillman did the dance routines. Murray Phillips and Phillip P. Berg are the producers.

Lots of Matinees Tomorrow

No theatergoer ought to have any difficulty picking a show tonight and tomorrow. There are lots of them on tap.

RAYMOND HACKETT

El Capitan Theater in Hollywood is doing things up brown. There's a matinee there today, two shows tonight one at 7:30 and one at 10:15) another matinee tomorrow and the regular evening performance tomorrow. This is where Joe E. Brown in "Elmer the Great" may be viewed.

The other Duffy house, Hollywood Playhouse, where May Boley in "Stepping Sisters" holds forth, will be content with two shows tonight and a matinee and regular evening show tomorrow.

The Belasco with "Up Pops the Devil," with Raymond Hackett, has a special midnight performance tonight. And so has "The Apple Cart" at the Music Box. The revised schedule for "Peter Pan" is now as follows: Today, tomorrow and two shows (one in the morning and one in the afternoon) Saturday.

Along the Eastern Front

From New York comes word that "The Gang's All Here" will now open on Broadway in the week of February 2. Spatting again are those two amiable entrepeneurs of the song and dance theater, Mr. Ziegfeld and Mr. Carroll. The former announced he would begin work on a new "Follies" and that it would probably come to the New Amsterdam, where Mr. Carroll's "Vanities" has been ensconced since summer. The pronunciamento provoked an immediate reply from the Carroll camp, their statement being that Mr. Carroll had started negotiations for the removal of "Vanities" to the Ziegfeld Theater in succession to "Smiles."

There are said to be 3300 light cues in "Grand Hotel." At all events it takes seven electricians to operate the show.

Although he is not exactly starving to death Mr. Cohan's road business in "The Tavern" is below expectations. He is tentatively booked up to March but he may close the tour in another month. At present Mr. Cohan is in Chicago and has definitely scheduled to visit Milwaukee. In his moments of leisure on the road he is revising "A Well-Known Woman," tried out under his aegis early in the season.

ACTRESS VACATIONS

Virginia Sale is now in New York City visiting her family for the first day away from Hollywood since deserting the stage for screen acting three years ago.

DIRECTOR ALSO WRITER

Rowland V. Lee, in addition to his note as a director, is the author of numerous sketches and playettes.

MIDNIGHT BILL OFFERED

Final preparations were completed today for the midnight jamboree and stage frolic which will serve to usher in the new year at Pantages Hollywood Theater.

Several added attractions will be included in the stage offering, which will have Eddie Lambert in the role of master of ceremonies. A chorus of forty girls will participate in the entertainment. Slim Martin and the band will supply the music.

A special showing of "Sin Takes a Holiday," with Constance Bennett in the starring role, will be the screen feature for the midnight show.

NOVEL PLAY COMING IN FILM FORM

'Outward Bound' to Open Run at Warner Hollywood Theater Monday

Several critics are agreed that the modern theater has never offered a more unusual climax than that provided at the end of the first act of "Outward Bound." The mystery and uncertainty which surround the strange ship and oddly assorted passengers culminate in the discovery that comes at the closing moments of that first act.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS JR.

In transferring Sutton Vane's play to the screen, Warner Brothers have kept the suspense and charm of the original, while making use of the opportunity for scenic and eerie effects afforded by the motion-picture camera, it is said.

"Outward Bound" has its gala western premiere Monday night at Warner Brothers' Hollywood Theater. Leslie Howard, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Beryl Mercer, Dudley Digges, Helen Chandler and Alec B. Francis head the all-star cast. Robert Milton directed.

Homely Women Aplenty Found in Hollywood

Every person in Hollywood is not a beauty, general belief to the contrary, it was made apparent on the M.-G.-M. lot not so long ago when a call went forth for hundreds of extra women to play bits in a series of prison scenes to be used in Joan Crawford's vehicle, "Paid," now showing at Criterion Theater.

The response was no surprise to Sam Wood, director, but it might have been to those whose occupations and homesteads keep them far from the city of make-believe. Literally thousands of homely women answered the call. Many were looking for just anything that would earn them a few dollars, others for that one chance that would get them into the movies. All declared themselves actresses of the first water and many started to prove it then and there—much to the annoyance of casting directors, property men and others.

Antonio Moreno to Star in New Spanish Picture

"El Hombre Malo," First National's Spanish version of "The Bad Man," will be screened at the International California Theater, starting Friday. Antonio Moreno, well-known film player, stars in the new version. He will be supported by a large cast of Spanish and Mexican players.

"El Hombre Malo" was adapted to the Spanish by B. Fernandez Cue. The original story is by Holbrook Blinn. Moreno plays the fiery role of Pancho Lopez, bandit.

The current Screen feature at the International Theater is "Oriente y Occidente," starring Lupe Velez. The picture is from Universal studios and is enjoying fine patronage, according to the management of the unique foreign-language film house.

On the new program Friday will be a humorous short subject in Spanish and featuring Tiffany's large troupe of monkey actors.

Barthelmess Plays Bandit in 'The Lash'

A silver-handled six-shooter transforms Richard Barthelmess into El Puma, Spanish bandit, in his latest vehicle, "The Lash," now showing at both Warner Brothers' Hollywood and Downtown theaters.

The part is presented as it was written in the original novel, "Adios," by Lanier and Virginia Bartlett. The character derives his nickname from his pet puma, a species of mountain lion.

In addition to the pistol, Barthelmess wears an outfit of black leather trimmed with silver braid, and rides an ebony black horse. "The Lash" was directed by Frank Lloyd. It is a historical romance of early California.

The supporting cast includes Mary Astor, Marion Nixon, Robert Edeson, James Rennie, Fred Kohler, Arthur Stone, Erville Alderson and Mathilde Comont.

United Artists Arranges Extra Shows Tonight

"One Heavenly Night" will be the feature attraction tonight at the New Year's Eve shows at the United Artists' Theater. Favors and souvenirs will be given to those attending.

"One Heavenly Night" is enacted by a cast which includes Evelyn Laye, John Boles, Lilyan Tashman and Leon Errol. It is an adventure romance with comedy and music.

Gaylord Carter, organist, has arranged a concert, with community singing, that will be symbolic of the New Year celebration. There will be three complete shows tonight.

FILM WORK WEARING

Mae Clarke considers motion-picture acting a type of work more wearing on the individual than vaudeville trouping with its weekly or semiweekly moves from city to city.

BORN IN AUSTRALIA

Leon Errol, former Follies star now being featured by Paramount with Mitzi Green and Zasu Pitts in "Finn and Hattie Abroad," was born in Australia.

BOST TO FIGHT FOR FREEDOM

Reimprisoned ex-Policeman Makes Plea Saturday

Liberty on Probation Held Illegal by State

San Quentin Gates Again Close Behind Him

Efforts to obtain the release from San Quentin prison of William J. Bost, Los Angeles police officer convicted of manslaughter, will be made in San Rafael Saturday by William T. Kendrick, Jr., Bost's attorney, it was disclosed yesterday.

Bost, who was released on the 2nd inst. on probation approved by Superior Judge Wood, was rearrested by U. A. Smith, a deputy warden from San Quentin, and returned to the penitentiary, State officials contending that the probation was illegal. He was arrested while on his way to work and whisked away without being given permission to bid his family goodby.

The former officer was convicted of manslaughter for the fatal shooting of Christobal Silvas Sierra on July 4, 1929. It was charged that the officer was overzealous in trying to quell a slight street disturbance.

After his conviction Bost was taken to prison, but was returned to Los Angeles to testify in another trial. While here, he applied for and obtained probation upon the condition that he pay to the heirs of the dead youth the sum of $2000 during the next five years.

State officials, however, contend that the probation was irregular and that Judge Wood had no jurisdiction. In the action to be brought by Attorney Kendrick in the north this point will be decided.

FORMER POLICEMAN BOST BACK IN SAN QUENTIN

SAN QUENTIN, Dec. 30. (AP)—William J. Bost, 43 years of age, former Los Angeles policeman, was returned to San Quentin prison today to finish serving a one to ten-year term for manslaughter. He went to Los Angeles some time ago as a witness in another case and was paroled by a Los Angeles Superior judge. Warden Holohan ordered Bost picked up, holding his parole was illegal. The Attorney-General sustained the warden in a formal opinion.

DIRECTOR WALLACE HONORED FOURTH TIME

Richard Wallace, film director, has been advised that for the fourth time in as many years one of his pictures has been named among the ten best for the year 1930. Various critics who customarily select ten screen productions each year which, in their opinion, rank as the best, have picked one of Wallace's pictures for the past three years. Already three well-known experts, Tachar Lane, Richard Watts, Jr., and Annabelle Lane have nominated "Seven Days' Leave" as among the highest ranking ten for 1930. No other director has placed four of his pictures on the honored list four years in succession, it is asserted.

DEALINGS OF VENICE MAN UNDER QUIZ

Bankruptcy Petition of Creditors Starts Inquiry as to Promoter's Acts

With the disclosure that an involuntary petition in bankruptcy had been filed yesterday in Federal court against the Pacific Loan and Investment Company, the District Attorney's office instituted an investigation into the private affairs of Frederick Grant White, an officer of the firm and wealthy Venice promoter, asserted to be a leader in church affairs in that community.

FREDERICK GRANT WHITE

The investigation was ordered by William McKay, chief of Dist.-Atty. Fitts's complaint department, upon the request of E. G. Schlatter of 1040 Atchison street, Pasadena, who demanded that an inquiry be made into the disposition of $7500 which he had loaned to White.

Three creditors filed the involuntary bankruptcy petition and in their complaint assert that White committed violation of the Bankruptcy Act; that he concealed assets and paid preferred creditors at a time when he is asserted to have been insolvent. The creditors named are Amanda V. Thomas, claiming $365; Mrs. J. F. Hooten, $350, and Fred Knobloch, $1500. The action was brought by Attorney Hiram Case.

Perusal of the District Attorney's office files reveals that an inquiry had been requested before by others who asserted that they had invested in White's enterprise. No evidence was found, however, to warrant prosecution, according to D. H. Clark, who headed the investigation.

According to Schlatter's story, White induced him to invest $7500 in one of his enterprises, promising him a high rate of interest. When White failed to make the first payment on his note for the investment recently, Schlatter said, he made inquiry and found that the man had departed for the East.

He announced to friends that he was going east to obtain finances to rehabilitate his Los Angeles promotions.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. McKay states that thus far he has found nothing of a criminal nature in White's operations.

ATTORNEY ARRESTED IN GRAND THEFT QUIZ

Louis F. Delis, 31 years of age, an attorney, was arrested in his offices at Third and Spring streets yesterday on suspicion of having appropriated for his own use $4050, which, according to Detective Lieutenants McGee and White, he obtained through cashing a check for that amount made out to the administrator of an estate he represented.

Delis was booked on suspicion of grand theft. He gave his home address as 309 South Stanley avenue, Beverly Hills.

SOAP MAKER'S FUTURE SHINES

F. H. Merrill Forecasts White Year for Southland

Address to Salesmen Tells of Continued Prosperity

Enlarged Plant Pointed to as Showing Good Faith

Optimistic concerning the outlook for future business and industrial conditions in Los Angeles and Southern California, generally, F. H. Merrill, president of the Los Angeles Soap Company, in an address given last night before fifty sales representatives of that company, said this section of the country has been one of the industrial white spots of America during the last year and predicted even better conditions for 1931.

"Sales of the products of our company were greater last year than in 1929 and the fact that we recently added a five-story wing to our plant to increase facilities for output is an indication of our faith in the prospects for the coming year," said Mr. Merrill.

"Products of our company, and the number of employees, who participate in the profits, have constantly increased since the company was founded in 1880 until today we are providing employment to more than 500 men and women. Our laborers are independent workers and we never have known, from experience, the meaning of 'labor troubles.'"

Other speakers at the banquet included Vice-Presidents A. F. Slaught and A. C. Brode, E. M. Finehout, sales manager, and E. H. Cooper, assistant sales manager of the company.

The fifth annual regional conference of the company's salesmen, representing Northern and Southern California and Arizona, will be concluded today with sessions to be conducted from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from 2 to 5 p.m.

A recent innovation of the company was the adoption of the eight-hour day and forty-eight-hour week and the guaranteeing to the employees of a fifty-two week year of work.

Mexican Freed at Trial for Slaying in 1923

Roque M. Gallegos, Mexican, was not guilty of murder when he shot Raymundo Reyes, a countryman, to death on February 11, 1923, Municipal Judge Haas declared yesterday in ordering the 7-year-old murder charge against Gallegos dismissed.

Reyes was shot. Mrs. Margaret Borch testified, following a quarrel between the two men over her affections.

Gallegos was arrested several weeks ago in Salinas, where he had been living for several years. An asserted confession, in which he said that he was afraid of Reyes, who had previously killed two men, was put into evidence. Judge Haas held the shooting was done in self-defense.

DESERT WANDERERS HOME

Trojan Librarians Relate Thrilling Account of Adventures When Lost in Death Valley

With no more than a few muscular kinks and twinges to remind them that their recent enforced twenty-five-mile hike through the desert wastes of Death Valley was an actuality and not a dream, Miss Nelle Bate and Miss Hilda Marsh, librarians of the University of Southern California, yesterday had returned to their library posts none the worse for the experience, declaring that they would be willing to start right out again on a motor trip to the valley but they had no desire to give a second performance of the lost-in-the-wilderness act.

On a motor trip to Death Valley the two women left Death Valley Scotty's desert castle on Monday afternoon before Christmas intending to return to Los Angeles by way of Stove Pipe Wells. But a forked road with no sign posts led them astray and when night enveloped them they were thirty miles away from Scotty's, at the end of the road and without the vaguest notion as to their whereabouts.

RADIATOR FREEZES

Following a night spent in the car and the discovery in the morning that the radiator was frozen, came the realization that a desert trek loomed as an immediate necessity. Hiking, however, had been totally unpremeditated in their vacation plans, so preparations consisted only in taking a steamer rug apiece and a few apples. Regardless of light-soled shoes and the lack of fitting attire, they set forth upon a quest for some human habitation.

"I have lived in Montana," said Miss Marsh, "so I had some idea of wild country and I knew that there was just one thing for us to do—and that was to get ourselves out before hunger and thirst overtook us, for the section we were in, the Lost Burro country, is an abandoned mining section and we could have been there indefinitely without the possibility of meeting a passer-by."

Miss Bate explained that the road was like a river wash, covered with stone and with two ruts where they were able to get a footing. If they deviated from this course, she said, they floundered about in knee-deep sand.

NIGHT'S BIVOUAC

When night came and they could go no farther, the librarians dug a hole about six inches deep in the sand, they said, rolled up in their blankets and prepared to shiver through the night. It was about the blackest night in their lives, they declared, but in spite of their plight they were still able to note the brilliance of the stars. At length, in spite of the numbing cold and the unconforming sand, sheer exhaustion brought them relief in sleep.

The following morning they were just about at the end of their rope when they spied a party of surveyors approaching.

"Not another step dic we take after seeing them," said Miss Marsh, "and when they drove up it was several moments before we could utter a syllable. When finally we were able to explain the situation they lost no time in getting us to their camp, where they fed us hot chocolate and made us comfortable, while they went out to repair and bring our car.

BACK TO SCOTTY'S

"Later they took us back to Scotty's, where we spent Christmas Eve and had Christmas breakfast before we started for home by way of Las Vegas. The surveyors 'kidded' us a bit about getting lost, but some of the old-timers at Scotty's assured us it was no laughing matter and after they finished telling us of what might have been our fate had we not chanced to meet the surveying party for the first time we allowed ourselves a few chills of terror.

"In two respects we were particularly fortunate—first that there was no snow, for in this same region there was two feet of it last year; and, second, that there wasn't a sandstorm, for we were told that in twenty minutes a storm would have obliterated the road completely. At any rate, now that it's all over, it was a marvelous experience and certainly a Christmas we will never forget."

W. D. DARK DEATH QUIZ CONTINUES

Coroner's Inquiry Will Be Sought Due to Mystery in Apparent Suicide

In an effort to clear up details surrounding the death of W. D. Dark, Lynwood building contractor, whose body with a bullet wound in the head was found early yesterday morning, Sheriff's investigators yesterday announced they will submit their findings to a Coroner's jury.

Lying beside his automobile and with a sawed-off .22-caliber rifle near by, the body of Dark, who lived at 3144 Louise street, Lynwood, was discovered near the intersection of Derby street and Century Boulevard, Lynwood. He had been shot through the head from the single bullet contained in the altered rifle, from which the stock had been removed and about which pieces of cloth had been wrapped in an apparent attempt to prevent fingerprints, officers reported.

While expressing the belief of suicide because of financial difficulties, Deputy Sheriffs Weybright, Contreras and Brewster stated that because of the finding near the body inside out and containing a package inside out and containig a package of cigarettes and because of other details in the investigation, a Coroner's inquiry will be sought. When found the body was clothed in a coat, and Dark was not known to smoke, according to the officers.

SNEAK THIEF PREYS ON FATTY ARBUCKLE

Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, former motion-picture comedian, yesterday was minus two spare wheels and tires from his automobile, it was revealed in a Sheriff's office report. Theft of the automobile equipment from the car, which was parked in front of Arbuckle's residence at 1310 North Sweetzer avenue, occurred Monday evening. Investigating officers reported that Otis Whizzar, chauffeur, saw a man standing near by who on being questioned wielded a clamp he had taken from the Arbuckle machine and leaped into a car and fled.

GAMBLING SHIPS ON LEGAL ROCKS

Twenty Men Charged With Conspiring to Evade Law

Seven More Complaints Will Be Asked by Fitts

Prosecutors Map Vessels in County Jurisdiction

Complaints against twenty men, including owners, dealers and other employees of the gambling barge Johanna Smith, were issued yesterday in Municipal Court charging conspiracy to evade the State gambling laws by the conduct of games of chance aboard the vessel, and seven more complaints against operators of the Rose Isle, another ship of chance, will be sought today, Dist.-Atty. Fitts announced last night.

Those named in the complaints are: M. Gastleman, F. M. Tibbetts, F. S. Hubert, Harvey Walker, R. M. Voss, Earl Tullis, H. Phelps, C. Martin, Frank Haskell, William H. Oelke, John Francis Sullivan, Vernon Starling, F. M. Hicks, Charles Curtis, C. Williams, Henry Wilts, Sam Damen, John Doe Turner, John Doe Bloxier and John Doe Allen. The latter three are asserted to be the principal operators of the Johanna Smith.

Following the issuance of the complaints by Municipal Judge Baird, Haskell, Oelke, Sullivan and Starling appeared before him for arraignment. The case was set for January 6 at 2 p.m., and bail for each of the quartet set at $500. Warrants for the arrest of the others have been delivered to the Sheriff's office.

Dep. Dist.-Attys. O'Brien and Van Cott have satisfied themselves that the jurisdiction in the gambling-barge cases rests with Los Angeles county and they announced they will proceed with the prosecution on that theory.

O'Brien and Van Cott have prepared diagrams on maps of the United States Hydrographic Survey, which they assert will show the vessels in the county's jurisdiction. O'Brien says the three-mile-limit quandary is settled by the fact that measurements are taken in limit matters by direct lines from the principal headlands. In this case the line is drawn from Point Firmin to Point Loma, near San Diego.

In the case under consideration, O'Brien says, the Johanna Smith is inshore from the line—3.56 miles offshore from Seal Beach, lacking 7.54 miles to place her seaward from the line. The Rose Isle, he asserts is inshore from the line 8.35 miles and 2.92 miles offshore. Depth of the water beyond the limit-line, the deputy says, is approximately 350 fathoms, making safe anchorage impossible.

The two barges were closed Monday night, and remained closed to patrons last night. It is understood that they will remain closed pending the outcome of the cases before the court, and definite placing of jurisdiction.

They were reported making plans to move to anchorage off Orange county, but such move, O'Brien says, will not affect the present cases, for he declares the asserted conspiracy to gamble already has been in effect in Los Angeles county.

While the ships are dark—except for riding lights—Chief Investigator Matthews, nevertheless, held a crew of raiders in waiting last night at Long Beach to resume further action on the water front should the operation of the games again be started.

Runaway Wife Cites Kiss Law in Court Fight

Kisses annul causes for divorce, according to California law. If a party to a separation condones the offense by a display of affection, the cause of action is void.

Mrs. Susie Chiarodit, some thirty years younger than George Chiarodit, 70 years of age, is asking to have set aside an annulment granted to her husband on the ground that she refused to live with him after the wedding. She says that Chiarodit kissed her and made love to her after she ran away, thereby forgiving the offense.

And now Superior Judge Gates has until January 5 to ponder argument of attorneys in the case. Attorney Earl D. Killion, for Chiarodit argued that his client was so old that his kisses would make no difference to the contract.

Fire Wrecks Gloves That Spilled Firpo

NEWARK (N. J.) Dec. 30. (AP)—The boxing gloves with which Jack Dempsey flattened Luis Firpo in their spectacular bout a few years back couldn't hurt a baby now. The gloves, stored in a Belleville (N. J.) leather factory, were shriveled to the size of an infant's mittens by fire yesterday.

BRUIN FIVE VANQUISHES GRIZZLIES

U.C.L.A. Quintet Piles Up 59-27 Victory; Gilbert Star of Struggle

BY BOB RAY

With Billy Gilbert, a little squirt who was subbing at forward for Capt. Carl Knowles, showing the rest of the Bruins how easy it was to drop the casaba through the hoop, Coach Caddy Works's University of California at Los Angeles cagers went on a scoring spree at the Olympic last night to hand the Montana basketballers an emphatic 50-to-27 trouncing.

DICK VON HAGEN

Inasmuch as the Bruins had a tough time trimming the same Grizzlies, 29 to 28, Monday night, the score of last night's game was quite a surprise, but the reason for it was young Mr. Gilbert. All Gilbert did was to ring up ten field goals and a couple of free throws to personally account for 22 Bruin points, which, as the saying goes, is quite some accounting.

Gilbert just had one of those nights that sometimes befall basketball athletes, and he simply couldn't miss the basket. In the parlance of the casaba critics, Billy was hotter than a firecracker and nearly every time he let go of the ball the scorer automatically started to credit him with a basket.

Of course, Mr. Gilbert received

Joe Jacobs Receives Word From Commission

Possibility of Schmeling, Stribling Clashing

BY EDWARD J. DEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)—The blast that may blow Max Schmeling right out from under the heavyweight championship crown was touched off today in the offices of the New York State Athletic Commission.

MAX SCHMELING

Like a spark drifting into a curtain of black damp in some coal mine Joe Jacobs, spokesman for the Teuton clouter, strolled into the den of solons and the charged atmosphere flashed lightning. "Mister Yokums," wandered out dizzily a few minutes later, faced with the problem of accepting within seven days the ultimatum of the commission that Schmeling must fight Jack Sharkey here in June or find himself bereft of recognition in this State as heavyweight king.

James A. Farley, chairman of the commission, told Jacobs Schmeling must keep the promise he made the commission shortly after he won recognition as the title-holder by the simple process of claiming foul in his match with Sharkey here last June. That promise for an immediate return bout with the Boston sailor, was not kept and later was amended to read "next June."

The commission let Jacobs know it was rather eager to take Schmeling's title away and on second thought had come to the conclusion Der Moxie could have risen with little effort and continued after Sharkey struck him low in the fourth round in the Yankee Stadium.

INTIMATE NEW YEAR'S DAY GLIMPSES

HOLLINGBERY HAS "IT," LACKS COLLEGE DEGREE BUT WINS ON GRIDIRON

BY PAUL LOWRY

Babe Hollingbery is one of the most interesting personalities connected with the New Year's Day game.

This is his fifth year as head football coach at Washington State and he is known up and down the Coast as a fire-eater.

He is the only coach in the Pacific Coast Conference without a college pedigree and, for that matter, one of the few in the country who never graduated from college halls.

PEP ARTIST

But that doesn't hold him back a bit. He is one of the Coast's best football teachers and he has the faculty of keying a team higher than a kite.

On the side lines during an important game he is as decisive as Knute K. Rockne, but rages along in front of the players' bench like a lion.

He fights the game through from beginning to end and if plays slow up tomorrow just take time out to watch Babe in action. He's a whole show all by himself.

He gets extremely close to his players, perhaps closer than any other mentor on the Coast.

He leads like a Teddy Roosevelt and the boys all fight for him, hook, line and sinker.

Hollingbery is in his fifth year as coach at Washington State and this is the first championship team he has molded.

But year after year you can always count on Washington State being tough and hard to take.

Hollingbery went to Washington State in the fall of 1926, largely as the result of his success with the Olympic Club teams of San Francisco.

Hollingbery imbued the former stars who played for the Olympic Club with such spirit that they ended California's long string of "Wonder Team" victories with a 15-to-0 defeat in 1925.

California hadn't lost a game in five years and Hollingbery's feat was a real one.

The following fall Hollingbery went north, and has been at Pullman ever since.

ONE GAME

In his first year Washington State lost only to Southern California, 16 to 7.

In 1927 games were dropped to Washington, Oregon Aggies and Southern California.

California, Southern California and Washington were victorious over the Cougars in 1928. These were close games and tough games, and marked the formation of the team which tomorrow will represent the Cougars in the Rose Bowl against Alabama.

That was a sophomore team, and it came even stronger last year, Washington State winning nine straight games before losing the final battle of the season to the Trojans, 27 to 7.

Had Washington State won that game it would have been chosen to represent the West, as Southern California, which

Alabama's Previous Pasadena Tilts Spectacular; Washington State, Trojan Battles Exciting

BY BRAVEN DYER

Fans who have not made plans to see the Washington State-Alabama gigantic at the Rose Bowl tomorrow afternoon will probably miss one of the most thrilling games in Tournament of Roses history. As the rival elevens wound up their training activities yesterday afternoon a crowd of approximately 65,000 seemed assured with seating accommodations for an additional 20,000.

Washington State and Alabama have gilt-edge reputations for providing a maximum number of those spine - tickling thrills so enjoyed by football fans.

WALLACE WADE

The Cougars, though defeated in four out of five appearances against Southern California at the Coliseum, have, nevertheless, drawn huge crowds and always provided ace-high entertainment.

That 1925 game, when A. A. Exendine slipped over a 17-to-12 score on Howard Jones, won't soon be forgotten by those who saw the contest. Everybody thought the Trojans were a lead-pipe cinch to win and less than 20,000 persons saw the game, which still sticks in my memory as one of the most thrilling of Coliseum history. "Butch" Meeker poisoned the Trojans that day and came back again in 1926. Southern California was gunning for "Butch" this time, but even then had a devil of a time winning, the score being 16 to 7.

THRILLER IN 1928

In 1927 Washington State had a sophomore team and the Trojans scored a 27-to-0 victory. The 1928 game, which saw many of the present stars performing, had 50,000 spectators in a constant furore of excitement from start to finish. Southern California led 13 to 6 at half time, but Ted Rohwer dashed off a tremendous run in the third quarter and tied the count. Troy's superior reserve strength finally wore down the Cougars and Jones's team went on to win, 27 to 12, in the final quarter.

It was much the same a year ago when at half-time the score was 7 to 7. Elmer Schwartz

Johnny Mack Brown Says Cougars Are Tough Lot of Athletes

All-American Back for Alabama, 1925; Now Featured Player for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

I had a look at those Washington State boys yesterday and I think it's just as well that I am now in the movies and don't have to face them Thursday. They sure are a bunch of meat-eaters. Still more than ever I don't see where all this two-to-one stuff is coming from. If I know anything about football players on the hoof, those boys from up north are tough customers. They look just as tough, man for man, as the 'Bama squad.

JOHN MACK BROWN

This man Edwards has all the looks of an All-American. I am thoroughly convinced that it's going to be very, very tough for Alabama Thursday if the slightest mistake is made. Those Washington State boys look fast as well as heavy.

Coach Wallace Wade is worried, very worried, and so is his entire coaching staff. I have seen the preparation for all three Rose Tournament games, including this one, and for none of them were the practices so

Gov. Hartley sent greetings to the team and to the Alabamans, and expressed the belief that he was "unfortunately missing a great football game."

Dan McGugin Blames College Presidents for Criticisms Directed Against Footba

RECRUITING IS ROOT OF EVIL

Vanderbilt Coach Indicates Reform Methods

BY DAN McGUGIN
Football Coach, Vanderbilt University.

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

NASHVILLE (Tenn.) Dec. 30.—At present the game of football, which means so much to the ideals of the youth of America, is under criticism. Voices of reformers are heard, and often reformers are either enemies or strangers.

DAN McGUGIN.

It is said there is a menace in the immense crowds which attend, though the president of the university of Wisconsin tells us that football adds colors to American life—a thing greatly needed. Some critics say that athletes have an exaggerated opinion of their importance, whereas the great athlete is ordinarily the most modest of men. For he has learned a most important lesson of life—to play the game according to the code.

Great income from contests is charged as an evil, although these receipts are used by colleges for fields and facilities that every student under supervision may develop a sound body and have the benefit of organized games.

WORK OVERDONE

But conditions have crept into the game which to my mind are serious. I think there is too much of a tendency toward all-year practice, tending to make the game a grind rather than a sport. There are still a few institutions where entrance standards are too low and where for some reason no player is ever ineligible because of scholastic deficiency.

All of us permit our men to labor under the strain of trying to win a championship whereas we should play as many men as possible and make it a day of sport, forgetting victory or defeat and remembering only the lessons of the day. It seems to me that we who are coaches and who love the game are the people to meet reasons for criticism face to face and suggest remedies. If we don't meet these things squarely, the public can charge us with lack of courage. But to my mind the serious thing which threatens the game is the matter of recruiting.

Mainly since the war, obscure colleges with limited enrollment have suddenly brought forward great teams out of proportion to the number of students enrolled, and, too often have obtained places on schedules of old-time colleges. Then institutions more or less local have brought forward great teams. With these developments we have all noticed the growth of recruiting. By recruiting, I mean seeking out and soliciting promising athletes in preparatory schools. Young men are persuaded to leave preparatory schools before they are ready for college to the detriment of the youth and to the disgust of his school. This sort of thing gives a boy a totally wrong perspective and does him injury.

I do not mean that athletes are hired for a salary, because this is rarely done. The older institutions in the East—in fact most colleges in all sections—have stuck squarely to the best traditions of the sport. The Western Conference has done outstanding work and other organizations have done as well. But recruiting is prevalent in all sections and this tends to promote a race among those who at heart oppose it. The influence of recruiting tends to lower the morale of teams and to cheapen the sport with student bodies. If the practice is not discontinued, the existence of the game will be seriously threatened.

Many say that the coach is responsible for recruiting. There never was a greater mistake. All the coach hopes for or wants is equality in competitive condition and a degree of permanence in employment. He would far rather build his team from the men who freely and voluntarily come to his field. There are aspects of recruiting which must be embarrassing to the coach and his efficiency. Where the coach is active in recruiting it is because he is expected to be—because it is the wish of the athletic board or faculty committee which employs him. And because if he is not effective he will lose his place.

ALUMNI BLAMELESS

Some will say that you can't stamp out recruiting because of the alumni, but this is also a mistake. Here and there some alumnus might send a lad through college. But alumni generally will not actively recruit unless stimulated and encouraged by some agency about the college.

The responsibility for recruiting rests squarely upon the shoulders of the heads of American colleges. If they were to say to athletic departments and to their alumni there shall be no seeking out of athletes in preparatory schools, no solicitation directly or under cover, no promises of employment, and no game scheduled with those who do these things, recruiting will cease.

Athletics directors and coaches know the difference between the spirit of a rule and its violation.

And as coaches are teachers, primarily, they should be given permanence in place and faculty rank. And should be judged by industry, knowledge, ability to teach, character and influence rather than by the record of games won and lost.

WOMEN SCORE AT $10,000 OPEN

Mrs. Midgley to Organize Southern California's Fair Golf Enthusiasts for Important Posts During Big Event; Loos Scores 67 Over Wilshire Links

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Mrs. George M. Midgley, president of the women's auxiliary of the Southern California Golf Association, announced last night that local women golfers would once more be drafted to act as scorers during the Los Angeles $10,000 open tournament at the Wilshire Country Club, January 9-11.

Women who would like to act in this capacity are requested to call Mrs. Midgley at WAshington 6837.

The women volunteers performed heroically in the rain and slush at Riviera last year, going about their duties without a murmur. This year they are looking forward to a more pleasant task with fair weather in prospect for the tournament.

In the meantime, local and visiting professionals are wasting no time in getting acquainted with the tricky Wilshire course. Eddie Loos of Pasadena, who led the qualifiers at Agua Caliente a few days ago, played Wilshire yesterday with Al Espinosa of Chicago, and turned in a fine 67, despite a 7 on his card. Eddie has apparently discovered the correct putting stroke for the new big hall, as his putting has been remarkable.

W. H. (Whiffy) Cox of Brooklyn is another who has conquered the overstuffed pill on the greens. Cox cut seven strokes off par in a recent round over the Oakmont Country Club course, going around in 33-31—64. "Whiffy" required only twenty putts for the round, bagging an eagle and eight birdies en route. He holed a pitch shot for an eagle 3 on the 485-yard first green and got a birdie 2 at the short second hole to start off a brilliant round.

Cox was hotter than a firecracker as the following card shows:

BABE HERMAN SHINES IN GOLFING ROLE

Babe Herman, star outfielder of the Brooklyn Robins, is everything the well-dressed golfer should be these days as he rounds his golf game into shape out at the Oakmont Country Club. The hard-hitting southpaw was pounding out home runs all over the lot yesterday in a match with Fred Morrison, former Southern California open champion; Jack Mackey, Sr., and Jack Mackey, Jr., of the Los Angeles Country Club, and Miner Fishel, Oakmont pro.

Babe is planning a baseball tournament at Oakmont in the next few weeks and hopes to get a large entry of golfing baseball players.

A number of leading professionals have already entered the tournament, according to Bob Harlow, director of the P.G.A. tournament bureau.

M'CARTHY GETS BERTH OFFER

Los Angeles, State Director of Military and Veterans' Affairs Gov. Young has decided to name an entirely new commission. The term of William H. Hanlon of Sacramento expired last December; James Woods of San Francisco submitted his resignation to Young several months ago, and the term of Charles F. Traung, San Francisco, will expire tomorrow.

The fight committee recommended that ex-service men be named to replace Hanlon and Woods. Dr. Martin is an ex-service man. Young is expected to name the new commission before the end of the week.

EDGREN WOULD WELCOME JOB

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30. (AP)—Robert Edgren, noted sports authority and writer, "would welcome a chance to clean up the boxing game in California" in the role of "State Boxing Czar." Edgren was mentioned in the recent report of the special commission which investigated boxing conditions in this State, for the position of chief boxing inspector, who would rule with an iron hand.

Edgren, who makes his home on the Monterey peninsula, said if such a position would not interfere with his syndicate writing he "would seriously consider its acceptance for the pleasure of cleaning up the racket and cleaning out the racketeers."

some assistance, notably from Dick Von Hagen and Dick Linthicum, who perceived Billy's hotness early in the evening and kept feeding him the ball whenever the situation demanded.

Completely outclassed, the Grizzlies found themselves out of the ball game early in the proceedings and were trailing, 27-13, at halftime. But for the fact that they converted eleven out of their fifteen attempted free throws, the Montanans would have wound up even farther in the rear.

Capt. Billy Rohlfs, Montana forward, led the Grizzly scorers with 9 points to his credit. Von Hagen tallied 13 points for the Bruins, while Linthicum, who still seems off form in his shooting, followed with 9.

Frank Lubin, acting as captain while Knowles sat on the side lines nursing a cold and wondering whether or not he'd lost his forward job to Gilbert, played a nice game at guard for the Bruins, as did George Brotemarkle. In fact, the Bruin defense was so good that the Grizzlies got very few easy shots and could register but eight field goals during the evening's proceedings.

Montana remains here for two more games, facing the Trojans Friday and Saturday nights. The Friday game will be a preliminary to the Olympic Club-L.A.A.C. clash at the Olympic Auditorium.

FAREWELL AND HAIL!
1930—1931

Here the old way closes out, and here the new begins;
Here the old trail disappears, and here the new road spins;
And never mind the fading road, and never fear the new,
Though fog and mist and shadow wait to shut away the view,
As long as there's a dream ahead and there's a job to do.

We face another start today, and none of us may know
Just what the new road holds for us and what the end may show;
But there has been no midnight yet that found no dawn in sight,
And there has been no crashing storm that did not lead to light,
And there has been no fate to stop a red heart full of fight.

So here's to anything we've learned from roads of rocks and thorn;
And here's to what may wait ahead where other dreams are born;
For some will reach the pinnacle, and some must know the deep,
And some must find the gentler way that lead to dreamless sleep,
But here is little time to loaf and less to cringe and weep.

Spring Practice

THERE are two sharp divisions among football coaches about spring practice. One group not only favors it, but also feels that a certain percentage of the student body wants it for one of the spring diversions.

The other group believes that few students want football in the spring and most of them come out under pressure.

The fact is that different conditions exist at different universities. In the East there is a big chance that spring football in an organized way will soon pass out. It will be dropped by many leading eastern teams, but in the West, the Far West and the South there will be no such movement this spring, although it may come in time.

In this respect the change will come from the student bodies. They have taken a more direct interest in their own affairs through the last year or two and they will take still more interest later on.

Alabama's Chance

Alabama is shooting at a new record tomorrow—which happens to be a third visit to the west coast without a defeat. This doesn't mean that Alabama has already won, although the odds lean in that direction. Any team good enough to step through a schedule without a defeat always has a good chance, but on this occasion it looks to be a team of power meeting even more power.

When it comes to power Alabama can match any team of modern times. It is seldom that as big a line has as much speed and it is largely through the line that Alabama hopes to win, even though Washington State has one of the best lines in the country, with Hein, Edwards, Ahlskog and other big men on duty.

The South's record on the west coast has been one of the features of football, considering the fact that outside of Notre Dame most of the other sectional invaders have met with little except disaster. And the South has sent no better team into action than Alabama's power delegation, now ready for the next test.

Royal Giants, Shell Oils in Holiday Game

Bill Piestner's Shell Oilers, one of the Winter League's strongest squads, make their second appearance of the season at Wrigley Field tomorrow when they clash with the Royal Giants in a New Year's Day game that should provide plenty of excitement.

Erickson will be on the mound for the Shells tomorrow, while Britt, star Giant right-hander, will pitch for the colored club.

The same teams are also scheduled for three more games this week at Wrigley Field, meeting Saturday and in a double-header Sunday. Larry French and Ted Pillette are the other Shell twirlers. Charleston, Cooper, Foster and Brewer are the other Giant slabsters.

On the Shell squad are such Coast League favorites as Dud Lee, Johnny Kerr, Ray Jacobs, Hal Rhyne, Jess Hill, Hank Severeid, Fred Hofmann and Comedian "Seacap" Christensen. Tomorrow's game starts at 2:15 o'clock and ladies will be admitted free.

eventually gained the bid to meet Pittsburgh, had been beaten by California and Notre Dame.

DREAM FULFILLED

This year Hollingberry saw his cherished dream of an undefeated team come true. Washington State won nine straight games without a setback, captured the Coast championship, and won the right to play the New Year's game.

So if you see the Babe raging on the sidelines tomorrow, remember he worked hard to reach the top.

And he did it without a college pedigree. He has a right to foam.

Upsets Mark Junior Tennis Championship

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)—Two upsets featured the fourth day's play in the national junior and boys' indoor tennis championships today, as a result of which William Jacobs, defending junior champion of Baltimore, and Richard Downing of New York, the two top seeded favorites, were both eliminated before the semifinals.

Jacobs, representing the University of Pittsburgh, met his conqueror today in E. Ramey Donovan of the Fordham Prep School, New York, and suffered a 6-3, 6-4 defeat.

Downing of Jamaica High School, showed insufficient stamina in a three-set battle and bowed to Robert O. Bacon, Jr., of the New Prep School, Cambridge, Mass. The score was 2-6, 6-4, 6-3.

In the other two matches, Marco Hecht of Dewitt Clinton High School, 1929 national boys' champ and seeded No. 3, entered the semifinal by eliminating Ray Palmer of Mercersburg Academy, top ranking eastern junior, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3, and Bernard Friedman of West Philadelphia High School, seeded No. 4, conquered Kendall H. Cram, Jr., of Nashville, Tenn., fifth seeded star, in a close two-set match, 6-4, 6-4.

As a result, the semifinal round tomorrow will bring together Hecht and Donovan in the upper half and Friedman and Bacon in the lower half.

In the boys' semifinals, Joseph Abrams of Dewitt Clinton High School, New York, second national ranking boy in the East, will meet A. Shapiro of Far Rockaway High School, New York, and Sidney Weinstein, also of Dewitt Clinton, will oppose Philip Osborne of Tenafly (N. J.) High School.

SONNENBERG TO EMPLOY TACKLE

Former Champion Prepares for De Glane Bout

The flying tackle attack "Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg, former world's champion, used to beat Henri De Glane in a title match in Boston, March 20, last, was a mild one in comparison to the one Sonnenberg intends to unleash against the powerful French mat star when they clash in the finish feature event of Lou Daro's mat show at the Olympic next Wednesday night.

Sonnenberg devoted half of yesterday's training session polishing up on his football tackles for this battle. It was the first time since his match with Don George here the 10th inst. that he has practiced this hold because of the injury he received the night he lost his title.

The injury to Sonnenberg's left shoulder was bad enough to keep him from doing any tackling in the light workouts he had been doing for the past week. He does not expect the injury to bother him when he starts smashing into De Glane's mid-section.

Sonnenberg's best bout here was at 217 pounds. It was at this weight that he crushed Everett Marshall's second attempt to win the world's title, and in doing so used an aggressive style of wrestling that had been foreign to his previous matches in defense of his title. He declared yesterday that he would wage the same kind of a match against De Glane that he had against Marshall, and expected to win just as impressively. Promoter Lou Daro expects to complete the supporting card today.

The big Olympic is still in dry dock at San Pedro being overhauled. Other catches brought ashore by barge fishermen include sand dabs, bonito and smelt. Andersen expects to bring the Olympic back from San Pedro soon after New Year's.

THRILLER FOR FANS EXPECTED

went out of the game midway in the third quarter and the Trojans, with Russ Saunders running wild, rolled up four touchdowns.

What happened at Pullman two months ago is pretty fresh in the minds of local fans. The Cougars went out and scored a touchdown in the first five minutes of play, missed two others by narrow squeaks and copped a 7-to-6 game that was packed with drama.

Anybody who suspects the present eleven can't supply thrills is incapable of knowing good football. The superior reserve strength of Trojan teams has worn down the Cougars in other years, but this time Troy didn't have that to fall back on and Washington State won. Babe Hollingbery's present team is an iron-man squad and you need not feel sorry for the Cougars.

Alabama has appeared here only twice, but on each of these occasions the soft-spoken southerners stole the show with their spectacular football.

The Tide-Washington game still stands out in bold relief as the most sensational of all Rose Bowl contests. It was a wow. Trailing, 12 to 0, at half-time, Wallace Wade's charges came back and scored three touchdowns in seven minutes. The passing of Grant Gillis and Pooley Hubert and the spectacular receiving and running of Johnny Mack Brown provided fans with more fireworks than they generally see in a solid season of football.

In 1927 Stanford played Alabama and, although the game lacked spectacular play until late in the fourth quarter, Alabama's dogged goal-line defense gave the spectators plenty to chatter about. Behind, 7 to 0, the Tide rushed in and blocked Wilton's punt with but four minutes left to play. Bang, and a couple more bangs and Jimmy Johnston was over for the touchdown. Caldwell kicked goal and the game ended in a tie.

The two teams, therefore, have never failed, on their appearances in Southern California, to provide spectacular entertainment for those who demand their football hot off the gridiron.

BOTH SQUADS WORK OUT

Both squads worked out yesterday afternoon in the Rose Bowl, this being the first time either team had been allowed to practice on the actual playing field Washington State used the gridiron from 1 to 3 o'clock and the Crimson Tide followed for the next two hours. Some of the Alabama officials were said to be somewhat disturbed when it was discovered that several Washington State players, after dressing following practice, stayed in the bowl and watched the Tide run through some plays. No official protest was registered, however, and the Cougars left after a few minutes.

GOTHAM BOARD HITS SCHMELING

rival here three years ago, the German heavyweight has been embroiled at the commission in either managerial or personal difficulties and the fathers seem determined to bring him to heel now once and for all.

The stand of the commission, opposed by promoters who would have to stage the match without popular support and by critics who believe Young Stribling, the sensational southerner, deserves consideration as the challenger, may wipe out definitely all plans for an elimination tournament with the winner fighting Schmeling in the spring.

Bill Carey, president of Madison Square Garden, sought approval for a bout between Stribling and Sharkey for Miami, Fla., this winter, but this was frowned down.

The developments of the day increased the probability that Sharkey will not get another title chance at all. Schmeling has a $500,000 offer for a championship defense against Stribling in Chicago next June and his refusal to kneel to the dictates of the local commission probably would be accompanied by acceptance of the bid from the Midwest. Stribling already has agreed to terms for the Chicago match.

Commissioner Farley, talking the matter over after the meeting, left no doubt the commission, right or wrong in its conception of the situation, was determined to force Schmeling to battle Sharkey or lose his title standing here.

"We've been very kind to Schmeling," Farley said. "Although he was under suspension here last June, we permitted him to fight Sharkey for the championship because the bout was for charity.

"At Schmeling's request we removed the clause calling for payment on a round basis in a case of a foul from the contracts made for that match. We promised the winner would be recognized by us as the heavyweight champion and even though the bout ended in a foul, we were good sports and kept our promise."

A BIOLOGICAL ERROR

THIS is written to correct a terrible error in biology.

"Butch" Meeker, celebrated mascot of the Washington State football team, is not a girl cougar.

"Butch" is a boy cougar.

My authority for the statement is Mr. Earl V. Foster, graduate manager of Washington State, who has been in close communion with "Butch" ever since he became a mascot four years ago.

It was my impression right along that "Butch" was a boy, it being my contention that no girl cougar should be named for the greatest quarterback Washington State ever had.

Football is a boys' game; not a girls' game.

Acting on such information the conductor of this column wrote a few words for last Sunday's journal relative to "Butch's" masculine activities as an eater.

Came Mr. Bill Henry, famous sports sleuth, with the positive information that "Butch" was a girl.

As corroborative evidence Mr. Henry displayed a column written by Mr. Jack James, a great dog expert, but in the light of recent evidence no Solomon on cougars.

Mr. James referred in no uncertain terms to "Butch" as a girl.

It didn't seem right, but with Mr. Henry and Mr. James wielding the preponderance of votes, ye column was edited and "Butch" was made over from a boy into a girl cougar.

A BOY COUGAR

HOWEVER, evidence has now come to hand which undoubtedly will cause the Messrs. Henry and James to hide their heads in shame or forever hold their peace.

Mr. Foster, who qualifies as a real sage on such matters, says "Butch" is a boy cougar, and that settles it.

Incidentally, Mr. Foster disproves Knute K. Rockne's famous story that nobody could possibly be interested except another cougar.

Mr. Foster has the following to say:

"A horrible mistake has been made. Far be it from me to question your authority on biological matters, but 'Butch' Meeker, Cougar mascot, has a bone to pick with you. One of your Rabbit Punches of Sunday caught 'Butch' below the belt. He's in a fearful huff because you called him a lady.

'Now 'Butch' is NOT a lady. He is a great big two-fisted he-man cougar, and resents being called a member of the weaker sex. Not that 'Butch' has anything against lady cougars, you understand, but he believes he should be given credit for the masculinity endowed on him by nature.

"Wishing to be fair in this matter, 'Butch' herewith cordially invites you—if proof be needed—to visit his cage-home at the Hotel Huntington for an extended tour of inspection."

NEW YEAR'S TALENT

IN ADDITION to an array of high-class coaches who will attend the New Year's Day struggle tomorrow there will be a noble gathering of Notre Dame heroes.

Twenty-one of them are staying over to see the game as the guests of the committee which sponsored Saturday's all-star game at the Coliseum.

The list includes Marty Brill, Joe Bach, Fred Collins, Jack Elder, Larry Mullins, Bert Metzger, Johnny O'Brien, Al Howard, Jim Bray, Joe Thornton, Art Parisien, John Frederick, Manifred Vesic, Joe Savoldi, Ted Twomey, A. W. Keszovics, Tony Schreiner, John Gram and Glenn Harmeson. The latter, however, is a former Purdue star who came west with the Irish all-stars.

Incidentally, the No. 21 who took Brill's place in the Notre Dame line-up Saturday was not Larry Mullins. It was Bray. Mullins did not play. No. 21 was Mullins in the programs only.

INTERCOLLEGIATE GAMES ON SOUND BASIS, REPORT

BY ROSTER B. HALEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)—Leaders of thought in intercollegiate athletics, many of them grown grey in the service of sportsmanship, reported to the National Collegiate Athletic Association today that they found little wrong during 1930 either with the games as they are played or the rules that govern them.

There were a few dissenting voices but in the main the faculty representatives, the physical directors, the graduate managers found less to criticize in football and other intercollegiate athletic endeavor than did the football coaches themselves, who gave recognition in their convention yesterday to the cry of overemphasis and adopted resolutions tending to answer such criticism.

Faculty representatives from the eight districts of the N.C.A.A. were almost unanimous in praising the conduct of athletics in their territories.

Several of the district leaders reported an increase in interest in intramural sports in their localities.

"One institution reported there was much more interest in intramural baseball games than in intercollegiate baseball games," Prof. A. D. Penick of the University of Texas reported. Then he added: "If it were not for the large financial investment which we now have in our intercollegiate athletics, many schools would even now be easily persuaded to have only intramural activities. How our problems would disappear."

E. K. Hall, chairman of the football rules committee, sounded the keynote of the rule makers in his report, in which he said: "It is their (the committee's) belief the period of real changes in the rules—and by that I mean changes that materially affect the style or nature of the play—is for the time being, at least, at an end."

The baseball rules committee, the swimming rules committee, the track rules committee, all adopted practically the same attitude. The hockey rules committee said further study and observation would be needed to give a decision on the benefit of the changes, although believing the off-side pass had proved successful.

There were meetings all over the Hotel Astor today of physical education directors, of student health societies, and three N.C.A.A. sport forums were held while various rules committees polished up their report in a number of private sessions. Tonight the N.C.A.A. executive council received the reports of the various district leaders and rules committees.

These reports will be formally presented to the full meeting of the N.C.A.A. tomorrow.

March 27-28 were set as the dates for the N.C.A.A. swimming championships, which probably will be held either at Ohio State or at the Lake Shore Athletic Club in Chicago, under the auspices of Northwestern University. The University of Texas wanted the meet and it was decided Austin was a little too far away to attract a representative gathering.

TOBY IRWIN REINSTATED BY BOXING COMMISSION

Toby Irwin, San Francisco boxing referee suspended last fall after the death of Frankie Campbell, San Francisco heavyweight, in a bout with Max Baer, was reinstated by the California State Athletic Commission, meeting here.

Bob Johnson, boxing referee, and Dolph Thomas, fight manager, both of San Francisco, also were reinstated.

Johnson was suspended a year and a half ago after the fight in San Francisco between Ace Hudkins and Charles Bellinger. The purse in the fight was held up on the allegation that the bout was fixed. Thomas was suspended for participation in an alleged questionable bout at Stockton, several months ago.

A plea for reinstatement from Ace Hudkins, who has been on the blacklist ever since his fight with Jack McVey, was tabled. The case is expected to be heard by the new commission, which, it is said, will be announced in a few days.

Grid Coaches Meet Today

Football coaches of the Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain States west of Denver will assemble this morning at 9:30 o'clock at the Biltmore Hotel to discuss the present game of football and to recommend rule changes to the national rules committee.

Eddie Keinholz, Occidental College grid coach, is president of the coaches' association and will preside today, while the program is under the direction of Bill Spaulding, varsity football mentor at U.C.L.A.

intense and thorough as the present. Wade knows that Hollngbery will be in the position of just about playing a twelve-man team, if overconfidence really gets hold of the 'Bama squad.

This over-rating stuff has put all the advantage on the Washington State side and made the going very hard indeed for Wade.

Several of the so-called "stars" of the team have been hearing a lot of home truths about themselves the last few days. Men whose minor mistakes on the field went by with an indulgent smile all season, are being watched with hawk's eyes. Men on the 'Bama team who thought they were going to have a lot of leisure for picking oranges off the trees are finding themselves with their noses in dear old California dirt.

This game means more to Coach Wade than any game he has ever had. It is his last for Alabama, and he wants to win it.

And the team wants to win it for him. They are taking the hard driving of these last days like real men. They know and appreciate what Wallace Wade has done in eight years to take Alabama from an unknown position and put it on the athletic map of the world. They admire him as both a coach and a gentleman. They are taking his detailed criticism of their work in wonderful spirit, and I think they'll come through for Wade Thursday.

But I know Wallace Wade won't draw a deep breath until the game is over.

"You can fight anything in the world in football with a little determination," he told me last night, "except overconfidence. There is nothing in the world that saps men's strength and makes bums out of stars. My whole effort this last week has been to keep the boys constantly informed that despite friendly newspaper writers, they are still just run of the mill football players, and that against this tough Washington State gang they are apt to look mighty bad unless they forget publicity and the prophecies of so-called 'experts.' They're a fine team, but I'm not at all certain that they're better than Washington State. I won't mind if we are beaten after a tough, hard fight, but it will be tough if all this overrating catches our team off guard. Washington State is too good to give them even the slightest advantage."

KELLY SOUGHT BY ANGEL NINE

it that the Cubs are adequately protected at the initial sack should injuries befall Grimm, who has been forced out of the line-up the past two seasons.

If Kelly is landed by the Seraphs, Lelivelt's squad will again boast the best infield in the Coast League. However, even though Kelly is not obtained the Angels can lay claim to the best infield quartet in Ray Jacobs, who led the first-sackers in fielding last year; Doc Farrell, obtained from the Cubs in the Ed Baecht deal; Carl Dittmar and Fred Haney.

Kelly, however, will add color, and, more important, punch to the Cherubs. He has always been a better than .300 hitter, is the driving type of clouter and should slug a lot of home runs over the left-field wall at Wrigley Field. Long George also is a very good fielder, with his size making it practically impossible for the infielders to heave the ball over his head or out of his reach.

Kelly's acquisition will enable Lelivelt to use Jacobs as a utility infielder and pinch-hitter. Jake can play any position on the infield creditably and will be a handy man to have around for a good many years.

The Angels expect shortly an answering wire from Kelly and the deal, if it is to be made, should be concluded shortly. Kelly is a California product and it is known that if he is to play ball in the minors, to have around for a good many he would prefer winding up his career in the Coast League.

St. Prisca in Turf Victory

AGUA CALIENTE (Mex.) Dec. 30. St. Prisca, a trailer in his two earlier starts here, gave the powerful Branncastle Farms Stable its first victory of the meeting this afternoon when he got down in front in the Cuyamaca, an allowance at six furlongs.

St. Prisca followed Hey Diddle Diddle and Norab in the early running, went extremely wide entering the stretch, but came with a rush in the middle of the track to just nip Hey Diddle Diddle at the wire. The time of 1:11.21 was exceptionally good.

Results:

First race, five and one-half furlongs, claiming—Golden Glory, first (110, W. Johns.); Charming Lady, second (110, H. Robie); Country Belle, third (106, Ellsworth.) Time, 1:06.78.

plying, he withdrew from the university on the 17th inst.

Clay's case is very similar to that of Spencer Purvis, nee George Kirkwood, who burglared his way into Southern California on forged credits. The visit of Alabama to Los Angeles at this time only served to hurry Clay's departure from Southern California, as it is reported his identity became definitely established one night last week when he engaged in some impromptu fisticuffs with another ex-Alabama player. In Clay's case, however, he had never attained varsity rating as a player, performing only on the Spartan squad for part of the season.

Of Interest to Women

Society

by JUANA NEAL LEVY

At a charmingly appointed tea yesterday afternoon Mrs. Herbert R. Macmillan of 75 Fremont Place announced the engagement of her attractive young daughter, Miss Alice Ann Macmillan, to George A. Dockweiler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isidore Bernard Dockweiler of 2321 South Figueroa street. No date, however, is set as yet for the wedding. The house was lovely in its decorations of early spring flowers, Talisman roses being used in profusion with maidenhair ferns in the dining room, the table being adorned by lighted tapers in the same shades, while in the living-room snapdragons, delphinium and larkspur predominated, the same color tones being used throughout the house in decorations and appointments.

The news was told by small parchment scrolls tied with white satin ribbons, with the names of the betrothed inclosed.

Mrs. Macmillan received her guests in a gown of midnight blue chiffon and lace while the attractive young bride-elect wore aquamarine chiffon and lace with corsage of orchids and Mrs. Dockweiler was in black with touches of white.

Assisting the hostess and bride-elect were Mrs. Milton H. Booth of Colorado, sister of the latter; Miss Beth Moreno, Miss Jane Foster and Miss Barbara Hardacre, classmates of Miss Macmillan; Mrs. Paul N. Boggs, Mrs. Isidore Bernard Dockweiler, Mrs. George M. Lewis, Miss Margaret Martin, Miss Evelyn Martin and Mrs. Robert McConaughy of Salt Lake City.

Miss Macmillan was graduated from Westlake School for Girls and later from the Finch School in New York City, while Mr. Dockweiler was graduated from Loyola College and is an active member of The Bachelors.

Betrothal

Announcement is made by Mrs. Sophie Hurwitz of Los Angeles and Covina of the engagement of her son, Charles Hurwitz, to Miss Sara Lois Carll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Carll. The bride-elect attended the University of California at Los Angeles, while Mr. Hurwitz received his doctor of philosophy degree in 1922 at the University of Southern California. The wedding date has not been set.

Sunday afternoon at the tea hour the playing of Miss Margot Hepedus, concert violinist, was a special feature. In the evening the Huntington Hotel Ensemble presented a varied program.

Miss Blackmore attended University of California at Berkeley and is a member of Sigma Kappa Sorority while Mr. Phelps is affiliated with Kappa Sigma Fraternity, having graduated from the same university. No date has been set for the wedding, which probably will be an event of the late spring or early summer.

At Hotel Del Coronado

The new year will be ushered in at Hotel del Coronado by a merry supper party to be given in the Casino and the Silver Grill, beginning at 11 o'clock with dancing and special entertainment features as well as appropriate favors for all. Sound pictures will be shown earlier in the evening in the ballroom and the evening's festivities will be complimentary to guests remaining a minimum of two days. Racing at Agua Caliente will be a big attraction for New Year's Day and in the evening there will be a special New Year's dinner followed by a concert by Hotel del Coronado Concert Orchestra and assisting artists.

A preholiday attraction for guests of the hotel was the special performance by Serge Oukrainsky, world-famous dancer, given last Saturday evening in the ballroom of the hotel before the regular dance. Five hundred persons attended the performance, many dinner parties were given earlier in the evening, both in the hotel and the cottage colony, hosts bringing their guests later to the hotel.

Among the dinner hosts were Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Babson, who entertained in the Crown Room. Their table was decorated with purple and yellow autumn flowers and maidenhair ferns and lighted by tall yellow tapers in silver candelabra. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank V. Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Herriman, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Byrne, Mr. and Mrs. Mat Dowell, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Blodgett, Mr. and Mrs. Gilman Gift, Mr. and Mrs. Walter N. Among the Angelenos who have been at Hotel del Coronado the past week are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Frost and their son, Lawrence Frost, who motored down particularly for the vacation of Lawrence, who is a student at the University of Southern California.

Mrs. Ida E. Perringer of Hollywood passed several days there during the week and after the holidays is returning to join friends for a longer visit.

L. B. Peeples of Pasadena motored down for a several days' stay the past week and Mr. and Mrs. John B. Bunting of Los Angeles, Mrs. and Mrs. William Ely Nelson of Beverly Hills and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. O'Neill of Hollywood have also been among the sojourners.

Mrs. Hastings Smith of Grove Lodge, Bath, Eng., and her nephew, R. V. P. Rogers of Sycamore Park, Plymouth, are visitors at the hotel who will remain until after the holidays. They came over on their first trip to this country for the ocean voyage and were five weeks at sea, visiting Bermuda, Havana and several of the South American ports en route. After passing a short time at their homes they will go to Italy and the south of France for the remainder of the winter.

Mrs. Charles Hotchkiss of Tacoma, who spent a week in Los Angeles on her way down, arrived to join Mr. Hotchkiss at Hotel del Coronado, where they will remain throughout the winter, as has been their custom for some years. They will be joined by a number of friends after the holidays.

GRAND JURY WINDING UP ITS REPORT

Inquisitors Vote for Recess Until Friday as Work Nears Close

After reviewing its investigations into municipal affairs and charges of wastage in preliminary construction work on the abandoned San Gabriel Dam, the county grand jury adjourned yesterday until Friday, when it expects virtually to conclude its work for the year.

According to Frederic I. Morris, foreman, with the exception of emergencies that may arise within the next few days, the grand jury expects to devote its entire remaining time to preparation of its annual report.

This report will cover in detail the investigations into city and county affairs where criminal charges were frequently made by private investigators, but were unsubstantiated in the inquiry. It is believed that in these cases the grand jury will offer criticism of certain former public officials.

The report also is expected to make various suggestions relative to amendments in State laws, particularly referring to the duties of the State Building and Loan Commission as a result of the Beesemyer case.

MEXICANS HUNTED FOR STABBING SAILOR

Sheriff's office investigators yesterday were searching for two Mexicans who late Monday night stabbed Earl Brickley, 19 years of age, sailor on the U.S.S. Oklahoma, when he refused to accompany them and three other men in an automobile. Brickley was treated for wounds on the arm which he received when he was accosted by the men in the 1800-block on East Florence avenue, according to a Sheriff's report. The attack followed Brickley's refusal to aid them to obtain liquor or to accompany them, he said.

THREATENING MOTHER MAKES CHILD UNFIT FOR SOCIETY

An article some weeks ago about threatening mothers seems to have hit a responsive chord. The following letter points out a typical example of an older child, the result of just such a lack of discipline.

"Your story of the eighteen-months-old Barbara who was treated to yards of threats without one act to punctuate them is typical of about 90 per cent of the mothers of young children," begins Mrs. C. B. "We have a seven-year-old 'Barbara' in the neighborhood, and a more disliked child it would be hard to find. No one has ever been able to honestly say a favorable thing about him and the neighbors breathe a sigh of relief when he leaves the house, and actually dislike going to see his parents because of him.

INEFFECTUAL THREATS

"His parents substitute threats and bribes for the discipline he so badly needs. They beg him to be good and offer pennies if he'll be a nice boy and not make Mama 'feel badly.'

"At the table she begins, 'Now you eat something beside meat!' Then he calls again and again for meat and she pretends not to notice that he is defying her. After the third or fourth piece his mother threatens to 'whip hard,' and puts the meat plate out of reach. At this he jumps down and runs around the table, grabs a piece and comes back to his place. Then she remarks to all present, 'I can't do a thing with Donnie,' and an observer can see the child expand in self-importance.

"When there are visitors, Donnie will let no one else talk. He must be talked to and he'll keep up his yells to be noticed until someone suggests cards. Then he sits on his mother's lap and she coaxes every few minutes, 'Now please go to bed.' We all know that he never goes to bed until his parents do, and finally we leave in disgust.

BAD START

"What pleasure is such a child to his parents? My husband, who sold his father an insurance policy with him as beneficiary, said, 'He could give Donnie a better start in life with a whole lot less cash expenditure. But if Donnie keeps on as his folks have started him, he may need it for bail.'

"The child is the chief sufferer from such threatening, never-acting parents."

The child alone is to be pitied. He would be far happier if his life were regulated and he had consistent, intelligent treatment from his parents. He has to learn the lessons of living in his own home and at present his only lesson is that he may do as he pleases without punishment. That teaches him a supreme contempt for all kinds of authority, and turns him into an antisocial individual. His mother has failed him just as truly as if she had starved him of the proper food.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Winter Caution

Don't wash the face in cold water just before going out.

Don't fail to dry the hands thoroughly and rub into them a lotion every time they are washed.

Don't wear tight shoes. They are uncomfortable at any time but in winter they impede circulation and make the feet cold.

Don't get into the habit of having to have some extra sweater or shawl around you each time you sit down in the house. Systematic physical exercises will do away with this poor circulation and very bad habit.

Lighting the Fireplace

A simple way of avoiding smoke or gas coming into the room when the fireplace is lighted on a damp day is to put in the wood as usual but before lighting it, ignite a handful of paper or shavings placed on top of the pile. This produces a current of air in the chimney which draws up the smoke and gas at once.

About the House

A few cloves sprinkled on top of the warm stove will kill cooking odors.

Rubbing with hot bran will remove a great deal of the soil from tapestry furniture.

Pour a little household ammonia into the discolored vase or cruet and let stand for a while. Shake well and all sediment will be loosened. Rinse with warm water.

Distributes Energy

When feeling all tired out after a strenuous day working or shopping, try eating one or two pieces of candy as pick-me-ups. The sugar in the candy is the quickest acting of all energy foods and its beneficial effect on that tired feeling is felt almost immediately.

The Successful Way

If your kitchen wall is painted, never have it painted again without first removing all grease and dirt with soap, water and ammonia. Otherwise the paint will not adhere and in a very short time the peeling process will begin.

Country Buying

The country housewife who is able to get meat only when the butcher drives to her home will tell you to wipe the joint of meat with diluted vinegar if it is on the verge of going bad.

Curling Rugs

If a triangular piece of heavy cardboard or rubber is sewed securely to each of the four corners of the small rugs it will keep them from curling up and causing a nasty fall.

Health and Diet Advice

Author of "The Sun Way to Health"

ASSIMILATION AND ELIMINATION

The processes of assimilation and elimination are going on in the body at all times during life. All of the material out of which your body is composed enters through your mouth. Food and water passing into your system through your mouth are converted into cell structure or eliminated. Some of this material is burned up through the process of oxidation, and various fluids and ashes from the processes of metabolism must be thrown out of the body. Cells are constantly being born and as many are dying. Those broken-down cells must be eliminated. If retained in the body they act as poisons and disease develops. Excesses of foods which the body cannot use must also be eliminated.

Nature has provided the mouth as the only place for taking food materials into the body, but has adequately provided four times as many exits for elimination. All of the waste products in the body must be thrown out either through the bowels, the kidneys, lungs or skin. When any of these organs of elimination become stuffed up it is then that disease readily develops. If the bowels do not perform their work properly an additional burden is placed upon the kidneys, lungs and skin. These organs being thus overworked may break down, and kidney disorders, lung troubles or skin diseases develop. It is found that the patient with any kind of kidney disorder is one who has for a long time had insufficient bowel elimination. The tubercular and asthmatic are always constipated. Skin rashes, psoriasis, eczema and acne are never found except with those who do not have the normal three bowel movements daily. Many who do not think themselves as being constipated really only have one bowel movement a day which is only one-third of the normal. If these poisons are not promptly thrown out through the bowels they must be retained in the body or eliminated through some of the other eliminative functions.

It is difficult to find a disease which is not indirectly and generally directly caused by faulty elimination and this means principally poor bowel elimination.

In every acute or chronic disorder it is well to remember that the body will recover more quickly to normal if the treatments or aids used are those which will induce complete elimination through the bowels, kidneys, lungs and skin. The bowels may be stimulated through laxatives or enemas, the skin through frequent sponge or shower baths, the kidneys aided by the use of large quantities of water, and the poisonous gases of the body eliminated more freely through additional deep-breathing exercises.

Those who are behind with their elimination, whether now acutely sick or only suffering from some chronic complaint, should keep constantly the idea of elimination before their minds.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORTON W. BURGESS

ABOVE AND BELOW

The worst you have is not so bad
As some one else has surely had.
—Old Mother Nature.

For a time Stumpy, the crippled young Muskrat lived in constant fear of the return of Little Joe Otter or Billy Mink. Only when he was curled up with his father and mother in the snug crowded bedroom in the bank of the Smiling Pool did he feel quite free from fear. You see two things had happened to make him fearful: he had seen his sister caught by Little Joe Otter and he had been chased right to the door of that very bedroom by Billy Mink. The Smiling Pool which, with its roof of ice, had seemed such a safe and wonderful place, the finest place in all the Great World, no longer seemed this at all. With that roof of ice over it he felt trapped. He said as much to Jerry Muskrat.

"That is because you have had two frights down here," said Jerry. "It might have been just the same had there been no roof. Your sister might have been just as foolish and probably would have been. Billy Mink might have seen you and chased you straight home just the same. You have learned something of two possible enemies to watch out for and with your experience you will be better prepared for them another time. You don't know what a bad winter storm is yet. When you do you will be thankful for the roof on the Smiling Pool."

Stumpy doubted this but wisely didn't say so. Afterward he was glad of this for it was only two days later that he swam to the open water in the Laughing Brook just above the Smiling Pool and as he put his head out of the water it seemed as if his breath was fairly snatched away from him. Rough Brother North Wind was howling and roaring and blowing such a cloud of icy particles before him that Stumpy was forced to close his eyes. They stung his face. He crawled out on his favorite tussock. The icy particles were blown into his fur and he was glad to dive into the water again.

Twice afterward that day he tried it and twice was driven back. And such a contrast as there was. Above that roof of ice the storm raged so that no living thing could face it. All through the Green Forest the little people in feathers and fur sought shelter where they could find it and shivered and went hungry and were utterly miserable. Over in the dear Old Briar-patch Peter Rabbit and little Mrs. Peter retreated down in the old house that had been dug by Johnny Chuck's father years before and were glad of that shelter.

Below the ice was serene and quiet. No more peaceful place could have been found in all the Great World. Of the shrieking and howling of Rough Brother North Wind nothing, not so much as a murmur was to be heard. Water plants on the bottom swayed in the gentle current in the Smiling Pool just as in midsummer. Trout and minnows darted about or lay motionless. They didn't know that up above it was storming and many little folk were in for hard times, much of their food buried in the snow and ice making getting about a matter of difficulty.

"I guess you were right," said Stumpy to Jerry Muskrat. "The Smiling Pool isn't such a bad place, even with a roof over it."

"Of course I am right," replied Jerry. "You are lucky to be living in the Smiling Pool. A chance visit from Little Joe Otter or Billy Mink is all we have to fear and if we keep wath we needn't fear this much. I wouldn't change places with Reddy Fox or Peter Rabbit or any of the other folks who live on land in winter. Phew! It makes me shiver to think of just trying to keep warm in such a storm as is raging up above this very minute."

NEW DEMOCRACY SEEN IN HUMANIZED INDUSTRY

WILLIAM P. HAPGOOD

"If democracy has any meaning, it is a way of life and not a form of government," said William P. Hapgood, president of the Columbia Conserve Company in an address given yesterday at the City Club.

After telling the story of his company's adventure in the realm of co-operative industry, which he said has been a decided success, Mr. Hapgood told his audience that the great need of today is not more soap-box oratory nor platform discussions but more experiments similar to those which are being carried on by his own company and by scores of other industrial plants of America.

"The chief function of industry should be not the development of things but a people," said the speaker. "I hope one day to see established a foundation fund for the support of those institutions which are seeking to solve the problems of human relationship. I believe that within a few years, it could be proved that the maintenance of co-operative enterprises is the key to our industrial problems."

Mr. Hapgood told his audience that social and industrial problems finally will be solved in the same way modern society has achieved mastery over the forces of nature, by careful, intensive study and experiment.

"In the last analysis, it is not machinery nor overproduction but human maladjustment that is responsible for the present depression," said Mr. Hapgood. "When we shall come to realize that the most important issue in life is the welfare of human beings we shall have made one step toward the solution of the problems of our complex civilization."

RETRIAL OF FILM UNION CASE FIXED

Armentrout Again to Face Court on Picket Charges With Four Other Men

Retrial of Thomas W. Armentrout, assistant manager of the Motion Picture Projectionists' Union, Local 150, and two other men on picketing charges was set by Municipal Judge Bogue yesterday for January 13 next. The jury which tried the three men was unable to reach an agreement after several hours' deliberation and was discharged by Municipal Judge Hagan late Monday.

Armentrout, with Joseph Dufrane and James Doyle, was arrested outside of a downtown theater, evidence at the trial disclosed. They were offering for sale copies of a paper marked "Los Angeles Citizen—Extra," which displayed prominently an attack on the theater as "unfair to union labor."

Cases against Ernest Apec and Joseph Hough, arrested at the same place on similar charges, was consolidated with the Armentrout case yesterday by Judge Bogue and all five will be tried together.

Nine Captured in Lottery Raid Plead Guilty

Pleading guilty to charges of lottery possession, nine men said to be connected with a Chicago gambling ring yesterday pleaded guilty and paid fines of $25 each imposed by Municipal Judge Willis.

The defendants, Roy Specht, Sidney Horn, Herbert Massey, Paul Reynolds, Tyler Sprague, Edward Stephen, Lee H. Emmert, George Sterling and Hobart Murphy, were arrested two weeks ago by police in a Main-street building. The officers reported seizing bank clearing sheets and race horse lottery tickets. Several of the defendants, the police said, admitted their connection with the so-called "Canadian race track racket" operated from Chicago.

Sprague also pleaded guilty to possession of several bottles of gin seized in the raid and paid a $100 fine.

Negro Jailed as Bandit Suspect

Detective Lieutenants Ayres and McDuff found the man in the Central-avenue district. Mr. and Mrs. Jedlick identified him as the bandit.

STATE LINES UP FOR GAS RATE FIGHT

Bulky Files Sent for Use at Hearing to Combat Plea to Block Order for Cut

Seventeen volumes of records of the California State Railroad Commission and nine reporters' transcripts of investigations regarding the value of the investments and the earnings of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation were placed yesterday on the desk of the clerk of the United States District Court.

The documents, which also contained affidavits of various experts, relate to the suit of the gas company in seeking an interlocutory injunction against the Railroad Commission and various State officials to prohibit the State and the officials from enforcing a recent order of the commission in reducing the rates 9 per cent or $1,300,000 annually to consumers of gas and electricity on the ground that the order is in violation of the United States Constitution.

Hearing before a statutory court, comprised of one United States Circuit judges and two District judges, is to be held in Los Angeles to determine if an injunction shall be granted. The rates were to have gone in effect January 1, but are temporarily stayed pending the hearing.

The major points raised are in defense of the commission's valuation of the company's properties at a sum considerably less than the company's valuation, the commission's determination of rates and fair return on invested capital and an attack on company arguments in support of the injunction.

Quoting at length figures indicating original cost of the company sums indicating physical and functional deterioration and depreciation of the service, the State asserts $87,000,000 to be the fair value of the business on an established, functioning basis for rate-making purposes on an average through 1930.

The $87,000,000 conflicts with $66,767,351 as set forth by the company as a fair value, and is attacked by the State as "based upon a theoretical and hypothetical program of construction" over a six-year period beginning January 1, last. Attorney Arthur T. George of San Francisco prepared the case for the commission.

PLANS FOR VIADUCTS ABANDONED

City Council Undecided Whether to Use Cuts and Fills on Third Street

The use of viaducts in the construction of the newly acquired Third street between Figueroa street and Vermont avenue has been abandoned, according to statement yesterday afternoon of Councilman Randall, chairman of the Public Works Committee of the City Council, during a hearing of the matter.

The committee took under advisement the remainder of the program, and will determine later whether to make cuts and fills or follow the present grade.

City Engineer Jessup recently filed a report with the committee, outlining two viaducts, at Union avenue and Rampart Boulevard. His estimate for this treatment is $1,321,307. By using fills, Jessup figures a saving of $155,000 can be made, but at a loss of efficiency in traffic control.

The opening and widening proceedings recently have been completed at a cost of $2,428,197.

CHERRINGTON RITES ARRANGED FOR TODAY

Subject to the approval of the Mayor, the City Council yesterday appropriated $3638.52 for the construction of buildings in Elysian Park to house the central police radio transmitting equipment, recently purchased.

STATE HURDLES CONFESSION BAR

Ells's Murder Pact as Told Reporter Reviewed

Defense Attorney Blocked Official Recital

Desire to Gain Child Asserted Slaying Motive

Although the official confession of Emory Ells to his asserted part in the murder of his estranged wife was barred from the records of Superior Judge Schauer's court where the man is on trial, Bonner Richardson, deputy District Attorney, yesterday succeeded in introducing another confession through the testimony of George White, newspaper man.

The confession, asserted to have been made to officers, was blocked time after time by William T. Kendrick, Jr., defense attorney, by the questioning of officers and other witnesses which elicited testimony indicating the confession may not have been given freely and involuntarily.

REPORTER'S STORY

According to White's testimony, he asked Ells why he had plotted the murder of his wife, Merle Ells, and the man declared that he believed that this was the only manner in which he could get the custody of his 18-month-old son.

White declared that Ells freely and willingly told of how he had employed Benjamin Franklin Brown to perform the execution because he was hard up and because he had boasted of killing other persons in the past.

CONFESSIONS ASSERTED

Police assert that both Brown and Ells confessed their respective parts in the shooting. Mrs. Ells was shot to death in her home at 323 East Ninety-ninth street on the night of November 2, last. According to investigators Ells promised Brown $2000 for the execution but only paid him $10 in dimes.

Brown is to be tried separately on the murder charge on January 12 next, in Superior Judge McComb's court. His defense will be based on the contention that he is insane.

MAN FIRES ON WIFE AND KILLS SELF

Reconciliation Attempts Prove Vain and Result in Sudden Fatal Shooting

Death yesterday morning ended the attempt of Oren Dancey, 41-year-old mechanic, to effect a reconciliation with his wife, Mrs. Rachel Dancey, after a temporary separation. Dancey died at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital several hours after he had shot himself with a pistol.

The husband's effort to patch up his marital difficulties also nearly ended fatally for the wife. He had called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Watson at 1181½ West Ninetieth street, according to Officers Sims and Duffey, where his wife was residing. Failing to reach an amicable settlement he suddenly whipped out a revolver from his coat pocket and fired point blank at Mrs. Dancey. The bullet struck her a glancing blow on the head and knocked her unconscious to the floor.

Dancey then ran out of the house and turned the weapon on himself.

Filipinos Honor Anniversary of Patriot's Death

Confirmation by unanimous vote of resolutions demanding independence and opposing the proposed two-year exclusion of Filipinos from continental United States marked the celebration here yesterday of the anniversary of the death of Dr. Jose Rizal, Philippine martyr, executed by the Spanish in 1896, commemorated as a part of the activities of the fourth annual national convention of the Filipino Federation of America. The convention closes today with an assembly at the Coliseum.

The delegates, with Caucasian guests, assembled at a banquet last night at the Alexandria. Frederic P. Woellner, associate professor of education at the University of California at Los Angeles, delivered the memorial address and Dr. Hilario O. Moncado presided as toastmaster.

AUTO PURCHASE STUDIED

The request of the Police Commission for an appropriation of $28,500 to purchase nineteen automobiles, already approved by the police and fire committee, was referred to the Finance Committee for funds by the City Council yesterday.

TESTIMONY OF BROTHER HURTS DYE

Murder Suspect's Return as Told by Kin Links in With State's Charges

Testimony of the brother of a defendant on trial for murder yesterday was introduced by the prosecution in Superior Judge Fricke's court to strengthen the case against Lloyd Dye, who with Gordon Gauss is on trial for the murder of Wade Albert Horton, Mint Canyon rancher.

The brother who testified was Wayne Dye. He declared that Lloyd Dye, his brother, returned home about 4 a.m. the morning after Horton's murder and turned over to him his automobile so that he might use it to go to his place of employment at a dairy. A dark complexioned stranger, whom the prosecution contends was Tony Martinez, a fugitive, also charged with complicity in the murder, accompanied Wayne Dye for a short distance, he testified.

Gene Blalock and T. P. Menzies, Deputy District Attorneys prosecuting the case, contend that Dye and Gauss went to Horton's Mint Canyon home to rob him and his brother George, 92 years of age, believing that they had a large sum of money concealed there. Martinez is accused of engineering the plot, having once worked for the ranchers. During the robbery Wade Horton was shot to death.

Bandit Trade Too Brisk for Ice Cream Man

Gerald De Arman, 843½ North Westmont Drive, an attendant at a Chapman ice cream station at 5307 Beverly Boulevard, was held up twice last night within an hour, first by a man and then a woman.

The man appeared shortly after 9 o'clock and shoved a gun against De Arman's ribs. He took $10 in bills but refused the pennies.

Twenty minutes later a woman, wearing a yellow sweater and attired in a sports suit, alighted from a Lincoln phaeton with aluminum body and again De Arman experienced the old familiar sensation of a gun barrel nosing along his ribs. "Gimme the big bills," rasped the lady.

"I have just been held up—honest I have," said the ice-cream attendant. He convinced her.

She took the pennies—all that was left—about $4.

World-wide news, 12:30, 4:45 and 10 p.m.

Orpheus four and times tower siren, KHJ, 11:55 to 12:05 midnight.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Poor old Father Time is going to trip on his beard and go tumbling when radio chases him halfway around the world today. As you take your last deep breath and memorize your resolutions—greet the New Year in London, New York, Chicago, Denver, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

You can journey to old London town by KHJ at 3:58 this afternoon—its midnight hour—to hear the booming of Big Ben in the tower at Westminster Bridge, and to receive the New Year's blessings to the world delivered by the Archbishop of Canterbury, primate of the Anglican Church. This will be the first time the voice of the archbishop has been heard in America.

Speeding with Father Time across the Atlantic, KHJ and KFI at approximately 8:45 tonight catch up with him at New York, where KHJ takes you to the Hotel Roosevelt to hear Guy Lombardo and his orchestra, or you can visit Times Square with KFI to hear the chimes of Trinity Church and the clamor of the holiday crowds.

At 9:30, KHJ sweeps you from New York to Toronto, Can., where Romanelli's orchestra will salute you with greetings from the Lady of the Snows. Leaving there you can speed to Chicago with KFI to listen in on a riot of the best dance music in the land, with Paul Whiteman, Spitalny and Johnnie Hamp at their respective batons.

Still clinging to the dial you can dash to Denver at 10:55, where the chimes of Immaculate Conception Church welcome in Master January 1. And so back home to your own Cocoanut Grove and Gus Arnheim at the Ambassador until 11:58, when we clasp hands with San Francisco while the bells of its old Mission Dolores precede a fanfare of music by the St. Francis and Palace Hotel orchestras.

Then Father Time will fold up his whiskers and snuggle down with his scythe and pass out.

WITNESS GETS JAIL TERM FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT

A jail sentence of two days yesterday was meted out to Emil B. Spitzer for contempt of court when he was haled before Superior Judge Bowron.

Spitzer had been called as a witness in the suit of Edna B. Harker against Charles F. Stamps, Harry L. Cook and others over a note, and appeared in Judge Bowron's courtroom on the morning of October 27, last, when the case was to be called. He was a witness for the plaintiff. When noon recess was announced Judge Bowron instructed all the witnesses to return at 2 p.m. for the afternoon session of the trial.

When that hour arrived it was discovered that Spitzer had not returned. A body attachment was issued for him. Two months elapsed before the missing witness was located and taken to court. Judge Bowron was notified and he resumed the hearing in order to take Spitzer's testimony.

"There is something else which demands attention," Judge Bowron announced. "This witness is in contempt of court.

"This will be a warning that instructions of this court are to be obeyed," said the judge after passing sentence.

They tell us that—

While KFI is hesitating in Denver, De La Verne's Denver Athletic Club orchestra and Jimmie Joy's orchestra will whip the air with music and while visiting Chicago you may hear the crowd on Michigan Boulevard say hello to the New Year.

Ramon Navarro's starring vehicle, "Devil May Care," is the operetta on KHJ at 7 tonight. Lindsay MacHarrie and Frederick Stark. This is the musical high spot of the evening.

Prof. Einstein is nearing Los Angeles. KECA at 12:30 p.m. A luncheon will be tendered him at San Diego. Prof. Einstein will be the principal speaker. Carmelita Verdugo, Spanish singer, and the Belgenland concert orchestra.

KTM at 9:30 tonight. "If it's a night of whoopee you want," here it is. Radio Revels.

Sandra Ravel, M.-G.-M. singing star, and Babe Hollingbery, Washington State coach, will be the guests of KHJ's Demi-Tasse Revue at 8 p.m. Miss Ravel will sing some songs from her picture, "Those Three French Girls."

Don Julio and his muchachos and muchachas, KTM from 11:30 tonight until 1 a.m., guarantee a wild Spanish New Year's Eve frolic.

"A little comedy dialogue sprinkled between tuneful offerings" is the way Jack and Ethel invite you to Romancia, a mythical west coast city. The Three Coquettes will appear in songs as well as dialogue parts. Early western history, KFI at 8:15 tonight.

Jack Joy, Romancing Racketeer, spins a story of "Little Italy" tonight. The scene is an Italian section of an American metropolis, a drama of youth. KFWB at 9:30 p.m.

For the early afternoon no two more delightful programs than KHJ's Columbia Little Symphony and the Columbia artists' recital, from New York, 11:15 a.m. until 12 noon.

Happy New Year with no static is our wish to all.

DIRIGIBLE TO LEND COLOR TO SHAM NAVY BATTLE

...Participation of the navy dirigible Los Angeles in the war problem ...of the combined United States fleet ...of the Panama Canal in February ...is expected to add a spectacular ...touch to the exercises involving an ...attack against and defense of the ...canal, in which 184 surface ships ...and 386 aircraft will be engaged ...simultaneously.

...The Los Angeles will operate with ...the attacking fleet, from the Atlantic ...being commanded by Vice-Admiral ...Henry A. Willard, which has been ...assigned the task of defending the ...waterway against the battle fleet, ...under Admiral Frank H. Schofield. ...The battle fleet, minus the aircraft ...carriers Lexington and Saratoga, ...will sail from Los Angeles Harbor for Panama February 4 and the first phase of the great theoretical battle for possession, or destruction, of the Canal is expected to take place somewhere off the Central American coast about February 17.

The maneuvers will mark the first time that the Los Angeles will have been used as a military craft, such use having been expressly prohibited under the agreement by which she was obtained from Germany. Through efforts of David S. Ingalls, Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Aeronautics, permission has been procured from foreign powers to put her to this experimental use. Valuable information as to actual value of a dirigible for strategical scouting, as well as an indication of the effectiveness under war conditions of the new navy dirigible, Akron, is expected to be obtained from the Los Angeles' operations at Panama.

The Saratoga and Lexington, with their hundreds of fighting planes, have been assigned to the scouting fleet to aid that force in repulsing the battle fleet's attack on the Canal. They will sail from this port February 4 and are scheduled to join the flag of Admiral Willard at Panama February 12. They will be accompanied south by the four destroyers Pruitt, Broome, Alden and Sicard.

BROTHERS FIGHT COURT BATTLE

After Ten Years of Practice R. W. and H. M. Bruce on Opposite Sides

For the first time in their ten years' practice in Los Angeles, R. W. and H. M. Bruce, brothers, battled each other in court yesterday when R. W. Bruce gained a decision for his client, Levi W. Driesback, from Municipal Judge Pope.

Driesback sought a month's rent from Joseph Rumele, who, he asserted, moved from a home he had rented without giving a month's notice.

H. M. Bruce, for Rumele, contended that his client was not liable, as he rented for only one month. Judge Pope decided in the plaintiff's favor, however, and ordered Rumele to pay $30.
